Jordan Claims End Put To Guerrilla Movement

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jordan announced today that King Hussein's army had virtually wiped out Palestinian guerrilla bases in Jordan. Scores of guerrillas fled to the Israeli-occupied West Bank and surrendered to Israeli authorities.

Iraq closed its border with Jordan and asked the Jordanian ambassador in Baghdad to leave. The Jordanians accused the guerrillas of firing on Jordanian positions from villages in Syria.

King Hussein's veteran prime minister, the brusque and hard-bitten Wasfi Tel, told a news conference today, "There are no longer any independent guerrilla bases in Jordan."

Giving official casualty figures for the first time, Tel said the Jordanian army lost 31 killed 90 wounded. He said he believed about 60 guerrillas died in the fighting. Tel said the leftist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine had been banned in Jordan.

He said that during last week's five days of fighting, the army arrested 2,300 guerrillas. It had been estimated before the battle that there were 3,000 guerrillas in Jordan.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban confirmed a much-published report that U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco is on his way to Israel to try to get the Arab-Israeli peace talks moving again. Eban said Sisco wtuld arrive some time this week.

A guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said the Jordanian army waged a virtual massacre on the terrorists and forced some of the survivors to Israeli-held territory where they preferred "to die at the hands of Israelis than be slaughtered by their Arab brothers."

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said 71 guerrillas had surrendered since Saturday, 16 of them today, and had told their interrogators more would follow. Israeli commentators said it was the end of the guerrilla movement in Jordan.

The Israeli Military command in Tel Aviv said 72 guerrillas had surrendered since Saturday, 17 of them today, and had told their interrogators more would follow. Israeli commentators said it was the end of the guerrilla movement in Jordan.

But today the guerrillas were lobbing mortar shells on Jordanian positions and villages "from inside Syrian territory," a Jordanian military spokesman said. He said two Jordanian civilians were wounded at the border town of Ramtha.

In Cairo, the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) said the fighting was still going on in north Jordan between the guerrillas and the Jordanian army. But it said "the guerrillas are surrounded by (Jordanian) government troops."

A Jordanian military spokesman said Sunday the guerrillas who fled to the West Bank were Israeli spies.

Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla organization, denounced Hussein over its Cairo-based Voice of Assifa Radio today and called for the expulsion of Jordan from the Arab League and the imposition of an economic and diplomatic boycott.

A guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said the Jordanian army waged a virtual massacre on the terrorists and forced some of the survivors to Israeli-occupied territory where they preferred "to die at the hands of Israelis than be slaughtered by their Arab brothers."

Political sources in Beirut said Hussein may pay a heavy price in Arab enmity for his forces defeat of the guerrillas in their latest fighting between which flared in north Jordan terrorist sanctuaries Tuesday.

Palestinians planned street demonstrations against Hussein in Beirut. An explosion near the Jordanian Embassy in the Lebanese capital injured three persons late Sunday and prompted a police investigation into the possibility of an attempt to bomb the embassy.

In apparent retaliation for Hussein's victory over the guerrillas who had used Jordan as a staging area for attacks on Israeli territory, Iraq closed its borders and airspace to traffic to and from Jordan at midday and asked Jordan to withdraw its ambassador from Baghdad. But the Iraqis did not say they were cutting diplomatic relations with Jordan.

Nixon: 'Restraint' Asked On Overture

Congress Whips Urged To Hold Up Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon met for an hour and a half with congressional leaders today, urging restraint on their part in discussing policy matters concerning China so as not to upset the delicate nature of his planned trip to Peking.

After the huddle with top Democrats and Republicans from Capitol Hill, Nixon and his advisers conferred with his Cabinet — the China trip was also the chief topic, together with a report by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird on his Far East trip.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott told reporters that the President asked the lawmakers to refrain from unnecessary speculation or legislative action pertaining to China in the months ahead.

Rep. Leslie C. Arends, House Republican whip, said the President's trip was pictured as a search for world peace but that it was not conditioned on an end to the fighting in Vietnam.

"The President is just exploring all approaches to peace," Arends said. "He is trying to seek agreement on conditions that will bring about a stabilized peace."

Mansfield observed that there was "a lot of preparatory groundwork still to be laid" before Nixon goes to Peking, possibly shortly after the first of the year.

"The President will have to walk very carefully and Congress very responsibly so there will be no slip in any way that could hinder the (summit) meeting and the possibility of realizing the hope of the President for peace," Mansfield said.

Scott said of Nixon's request for restraint: "I don't think the President is trying to muzzle anybody at all. He was simply stressing the momentous nature of the announcement and the need for restraint."

"Long voyage upstream not helped by man who rocks boat," Scott said, claiming he was "paraphrasing" Confucius.

Scott said the President also cautioned Congress not to pass any legislation telling him what he should or should not do with respect to China. "I think if you're going to cross the Yellow River you do it best with an absence of unnecessary luggage," Scott said.

Mansfield said it was "safe to state that there were no secrets entered into, no promises made" in advance of the visit.

However, he said there had been a "marked shift" in U.S. policy toward Peking, with "recognition that China is a great power and must be considered along with other countries" in future negotiations on nuclear weapons and other subjects.

The President returned from a 12-day visit to the Western White House Sunday night. He had a busy first day schedule starting with a breakfast session with House and Senate leaders, immediately followed by the Cabinet session and probably other, unannounced conferences.

It was believed the President might hold a news conference later in the week.

Most leaders of Congress were enthusiastic or at least noncritical of Nixon's planned visit to China. The guest list for today's meeting included:

House Speaker Carl Albert, House Republican leader Ford, Senate Democratic Leader Mansfield, Republican Leader Scott, and the chairmen of the

Point Reyes Seashore Master Plan To Get First Public Airing

A proposed master plan for the Point Reyes National Seashore will get its first public discussion tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the faculty lounge at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

The Sierra Club, which will sponsor the meeting, has invited officials of the National Park Service to explain the federal plan and answer questions. Mrs. William McDougal Eastman, spokesman for the Sierra Club, said the chairman will be Judge Ray Sherwin, president of the Sierra Club.

The plan has been in circulation among various county officials for about three months, but the park service has been reluctant to discuss it in public until two hearings cheduled for September are held.

The first hearing will be in the Marin Civic Center on Sept. 22, according to Joseph C. Rumburg Jr., park service regional director.

The following day a separate hearing will be held in the same place on proposals that 10 square miles of the seashore holdings be declared a wilderness area. Roads would be banned and camping limited to primitive conditions, in the wilderness area.

Both hearings will begin at 9 a.m. in the combined board of supervisors and planning commission hearing rooms at the Civic Center.

Mrs. Eastman said that tomorrow night conservationists will seek answers to these questions:

How much of the seashore will be protected by the Wilderness Act, which means no roads, harbors, or other urban facilities?

Will a parkway cut through the heart of the seashore, across Muddy Hollow and near the heads of Limantour and Drake Esteros?

Will automobile traffic be allowed to build up year by year until the seashore becomes another Yosemite Valley? Or will a shuttle bus or elephant train system be set up to keep private automobile traffic to a minimum?

Will research areas be set aside for scientific study and wildlife observation, and will offshore activities like drilling be prohibited?

The public may obtain copies of the master plan and the wilderness study from the Point Reyes National Seashore headquarters, or from the National Park Service regional office at 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, according to Rumburg.

The master plan for the 64,000-acre seashore predicts "the predominant single use will continue to be beach-oriented recreation" rather than use by lovers of the area's natural or historic features.

In this light, the plan's draftsmen call for careful management of the seashore's features, to protect them and to educate the public about the natural treasurers to be shared.

The plan proposes a skein of roads from Olema to heavy-use areas at Point Reyes Beach and Drakes Beach, as well as to visitor attractions at the lighthouse, Tomales Point, Limantour Spit, and to boat launching ramps and a possible ferryboat terminal at Point Reyes Cove. Other points reached by road would be the oyster farm area in Drake's Estero, the controversial Mount Vision Overlook, the sea lion overlook near the lighthouse and a canoe launching facility on the western arm of Drake's Estero.

Each of the tourist-centered attractions and some of the longer-use areas would have "interpretive facilities," the plan proposes.

The seashore master plan "so far as it goes, is sympathetic" to the desires of Marin County residents, Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, said Saturday.

Joske said the county parks and recreation commission plans to tour the seashore, tentatively on Aug. 4. It then will make formal recommendations to the county supervisors, Joske said.

Neither the master plan nor the wilderness study contain any tourist volume or other statistical date on which park experts made their recommendations.

Settlement Reported In Telephone Strike Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Negotiators for the Bell system and a half million telephone workers have reached a settlement to end a six-day long nationwide phone strike, inside sources said today.

There were indications, the sources said, that phone workers might return to work before a complicated two-week long ratification process is completed by the Communications Workers of America.

contract for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. repairmen, installers and operators were not disclosed.

The main issue in the dispute had been wage increase and how they would be spent. In going on strike, the union argued the company's proposals would widen differences in pay between men and women employes and perpetuate regional and job pay differentials.

Meantime, negotiators for postal unions and the new Postal service also were reported near agreement on a contract for 750,000 U.S. mailmen after a marathon bargaining session that lasted beyond 24 hours.

But a snag developed in negotiations aimed at halting a United Transportation Union (UTU) strike against the Southern Railway and the Union Pacific Railroad.

Postal negotiators met almost continuously starting at 9 a.m. EDT Sunday, with only a brief lunch break Sunday and an hour and a half breakfast break at midmorning today. They went back to the negotiating table before midday.

Sources close to the negotiations reported an agreement was near on a contract for 750,000 workers, but a government spokesman said it was doubtful it could be completed today.

According to the law setting up the postal service, the contract had been scheduled to go to arbitration at 12:01 a.m. EDT today, but negotiators "stopped the clock" and agreed to continue bargaining.

When finally reached, it will be the first contrac' negotiated by collective bargaining for postal workers.

Some postal workers in New York have authorized their leaders to call a strike Tuesday in absence of a contract. A wildcat walkout there in the spring of 1970 spread to many parts of the country. Negotiators for rail management and the UTU arranged another meeting for this afternoon in Washington to continue their efforts to resolve a long dispute over work rules. The two-line strike began last Friday and the UTU has threatened to strike three more carriers this Friday.

Most World Leaders Hail Nixon Planned Visit To China Capital

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In Britain, Prime Minister Edward Heath called Nixon's diplomatic move toward Mainland China an important initiative on the part of the West in learning how to live with the Communist world.

The Soviet ambassador to Indonesia called the visit "good."

Nationalist China again reacted sharply. In Taipei, the Yuan (Parliament) urged Nixon not to visit Peking. In the interests of a "true lasting peace in the world," it said Taipei must "advise President Nixon to rein his horse to a halt before the cliff, and suspend his decision to visit the Chinese mainland."

The Thai foreign minister, interviewed on his return to Bangkok from the Asian and Pacific Council ministerial conference in Manila, said of the Nixon visit

"This change means that all nations in Asia, including Thailand, are at a historical turning point.

"Thailand is in a hazardous position. We must be very cautious. We must think about the subjects Nixon will discuss with Premier Chou En-lai. We must

Peking Envoy Off To Canada

HONG KONG (UPI)—Huang Hua, first ambassador of the People's Republic of China to Canada, left Peking by air today to take up his post in Ottawa, the New China News Agency reported.

Huang, a veteran diplomat, was one of the few senior Chinese officials who met Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's national security affairs adviser, in Peking on July 9-11.

Dockers Told Of Market Danger

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Chairman Helen Delich Bentley of the Federal Martime Commission told longshoremen today they were in danger of pricing the United States out of the world market through numerous labor work disputes and agreements.

Mrs. Bentley addressing the 42nd international convention of the 129,000-member International Lonshoremen's Association, said that although the container shop was invented in the United States, only foreign countries were enjoying the benefits of containerized shipping because of longshoreman rules.

She said the Prudential-Grace Steamship Co., owner of a new $25 million ship, was badly hurt by having to cancel the vessel's first three voyages because of a labor dispute. The firm is now "on a financial precipice which threatens to give away to disaster with only the slightest push."

"Whenever a would be buyer of American goods is forced to resort to a foreign country and finds out that he is able to get that same product without interruption by work stoppages and at a better price, the U. S. loses a market permanently," she told the committee.

"You could put the final skids under several financially strained American flag companies with a strike this fall because, almost without exception not a single one can withstand a termination of the vital cargo-cash flow for any more days than you can count on the fingers of one hand."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also addressing the convention, accused the Nixon administration of issuing misleading reports on unemployment and the economy.

"Phony White House press releases on the nation's economy are causing a new credibility gap with the American people," said Jackson on a six-day political swing apparently to test his popularity as a possible presidential candidate.

The real rate of unemployment is "at least 8 per cent, not around 6, as the administration claims," Jackson said. He added that statistics issued by the administration are "so inadequate" that no one really knows how many unemployed there are.

Jackson said he did not think the administration wanted high unemployment or uncontrolled inflation. "I believe this administration is just incompetent to do anything about it" he said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Drug Users

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than a third of the high school students in New York City's school system "have experimented with or abused soft or hard drugs, according to a study released Sunday.

The 94-page report blamed "many authorities from the board of education, including administrators for the problem as it affects the vast majority of students in the school system." It estimated that 100,000 of the city's 285,161 high school students have experimented with "hard and-or soft drugs."

School officials "have minimized the numbers of students involved with drug abuse and have not disclosed to the public the degree to which drug abuse affects the discipline, attendance and learning in almost every high school located in the city of New York," the study said.

Sees Scapegoat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., says Treasury Secretary John B. Connally should quit before President Nixon makes him the scapegoat for the poor state of the economy.

"My own personal feeling is that I hate to see a Democrat in the position he's in," Mills said Sunday, "where all the criticism that will come if this game plan continues to fail."

When asked, "are you advising him to get out?" Mills responded:

"If he asked me, I'd certainly tell him to."

Mills also said a moderate Democrat can defeat Nixon next year because of the economic issues.

'Coup Possible'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Retired Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh, who led the 1963 coup that toppled the Diem regime in South Vietnam, said Sunday another coup was possible if President Nguyen Van Thieu is re-elected, according to Time magazine.

Minh, a probable opponent of Thieu in the October election, said that if Thieu were elected "we cannot rule out the possibility of a coup. After all, it happened to me once. Especially if the elections are not free and honest, we should expect trouble."

Minh lasted only three months in power and was exiled to Bangkok for four years.

McCloskey View

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., said only 24 hours after formally opening his drive to oppose President Nixon for the GOP nomination that he would withdraw as a candidate within the next month if U.S. policy in Vietnam is altered sharpy.

"Nothing would please me more" than for Nixon to announce that "we had ended the war, that we were withdrawing our troops and ending the bombing," McCloskey said Sunday.

The Marine veteran Saturday opened his drive for votes in the New Hampshire presidential primary next March.

Hippies Jailed

PALMA DE MALLORCA, Spain (UPI)—Police have jailed 57 hippies in the latest raids as part of Spain's growing campaign against drugs and sexual permissiveness. Court sources said many were Americans.

The youths were arrested over the weekend in a crackdown on the island of Ibiza, long a haven for longhaired young people. Police moved in on complaints of villagers of drugs and sex parties on beaches, public nudity, disorderly conduct and theft of fruit.

The latest crackdown followed raids on what authorities said were centers of immorality at the mainland resort of Torremolinos where 139 persons were temporarily detained and where a dozen bars and nightspots shut down earlier this month.

Probe On Priest

CHICAGO (UPI)—A Roman Catholic priest has been named the executive director of the Illinois Division of the American Civil Liberties Union, ut the Chicago archdiocese has ordered an investigation into the appointment.

An ACLU spokesman announced the appointment of the Rev. Carl Lezak during the weekend and said Lezak was the first Catholic clergyman in the organization's history to head a state chapter.

However, the archdiocese's chancery office issued a statement expressing "amazement" at the appointment and said:

"The personnel board of the archdiocese has been directed to seek a clarification of Father Lezak's status."

"It is incompatable for a priest, assigned full time to a parish, as is Father Lezak, to take on simultaneously such a fulltime secular position," the statement added.

Silent On Nixon

MADRID (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, critical of the ping-pong diplomacy that eased tensions between the United States and Mainland China in April, has ben silent about President Nixon's announced visit to Peking.

Nearing the end of his three-day trip to Spain, one of the 11 stops on his 32-day round-the-world diplomatic mission, the vice president was holding talks today with Prince Juan Carlos, heir apparent to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The highest ranking American to celebrate the 1936 revolution through which Franco rose to power, Agnew attended a National Day observance in the Spanish countryside Sunday hosted by the aging leader of this nation of 33 million.

The vice president has refused to comment on the Communist Chinese invitation to Nixon for a visit before next May, and the President's announced acceptance on Thursday.

Chicano Unrest Seen In Riot, Bombings

OXNARD, Calif (UPI) — Firebombs destroyed a pharmacy and damaged a bank branch and elementary school as rioting erupted among nearly 150 Chicanos Sunday night in a Mexican-American section of this coastal city.

Police arrested 25 persons and secured the four-square mile Colonia suburb after nearly two hours of skirmishes and hit-and-run attacks on small business along a four-block stretch.

Acheson: Kennedy Indecisive

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dean Acheson, Secretary of State under President Harry S Truman, considered John F. Kennedy an indecisive man who was "really out of his depth" as the nation's chief executive.

In an interview published today in Life magazine, Acheson als opined that Kennedy's reputation "is greater because of the tragedy of his death than it would have been if he had lived out two terms."

The 78-year-old Acheson was interviewed for British Broadcasting Corp. television by Kenneth Harris, a British journalist, and Life published a portion of the interview.

Asked his assessment of Kennedy, Acheson said:

"He was a most attractive person. He had real charm. He did not seem to me to be in any sense a great man. I did not think he knew a great deal about any of the matters which it's desirable that a chief of state or a President of the United States should know about. He was not decisive."

Acheson said he talked with Kennedy about the Cuban Missile crisis and other matters at other times and their conversations had led him to a single conclusion:

"That he did not have incisiveness and he was really out of his depth where he was."

Nadar Raid On Details Of 'USDA'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader, reporting on a two-year investigation, claims the Agriculture Department (USDA) is promoting meat, poultry and chemical interests at the consumer's expense.

The study, made by a team of seven "Nader's Raiders," concluded that it is a mistaken public belief that pesticides, food additives and animal drugs are regulated carefully and that the stamp of USDA inspection means meat and poultry are pure and unadulterated.

In fact, according to the booklength report released during the weekend, lax regulations by USDA allows the widespread sale of tainted meat and poultry, and subjects the consumer to a game of "Russian Roulette" with pesticides and other chemicals.

The Agriculture Department replied that many of the practices cited by Nader have been corrected. The department also said the report was misleading because it "purposely deals in certain specific problem areas which are not typical, either of the conditions that exist in the department ... or the food industry."

Department officials have been saying privately for years that there were not enough inspectors to maintain adequate supervision of all meats sold to consumers.

But Nader in a news conference on the study said Saturday, "the consumer has no way of knowing the quality of his meat and poultry or the extent to which harmful pesticides have intruded into his environment. The responsibility rests on government."

Kissinger Lifts Veil A Bit On China Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Henry Kissinger's trip to China was so secret that even one of the two Secret Service agents who went with him didn't know the destination.

Kissinger revealed that and other details of his Peking trip during a chat Sunday aboard Air Force One as President Nixon and his party returned from California. Nixon called meetings of his cabinet and congressional leaders of both parties today to continue discussions of his upcoming China journey.

Kissinger declined to discuss what type of aircraft was used on his clandestine trip, or even what route he traveled. But he said one of the two Secret Service agents with him was kept in the dark —until he spotted a Chinese navigator, presumably on the flight into China.

The agent, Kissinger added, nearly dropped his teeth.

On arrival in Peking the Chinese kept their promise of strict secrecy, even to the point of whisking him away from the airport in a limousine with its rear windows hidden by thick silk curtains.

He also brought back memories —as the U.S. table tennis team did before him —of the Chinese food. Kissinger said his party was served 12 courses at every meal, but he did not use the ivory chopsticks, fearful of his technique.

Once he began his 20 hours of talks with Premier Chou En-lai, he said, the Chinese leader proved to be better informed about some of Nixon's more recent statements than he was. He said Chou immediately started peppering him with intelligent questions about an off-the-cuff briefing Nixon held for newsmen in Kansas City July 6.

Kissinger said he had to admit he had been traveling and was out of touch, save for press accounts of Nixon's comments.

The following morning Chou sent him a copy of Nixon's remarks, in English, with his personal notations on the margin and a note reading "please return, our only copy."

Kissinger said he has no illusions about an immediate friendship forming between Nixon and Chou; but he said there seems to be mutual respect already.

Although no date for Nixon's visit has been announced, Kissinger said diplomatic negotiations were underway to make sure the groundwork will be well laid. White House officials said Nixon will probably go late this year or early in 1972.

As for security, he said, the agents who accompanied him went along more to protect the papers he was carrying then for his personal safety.

About the only touring he was able to do, Kissinger said, was a three-hour visit to the forbidden city, once the home of Chinese emperors.

The impact of Nixon's China move on official Washington was obvious Sunday evening when his plane arrived at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. A number of officials turned out to give the President a warm greeting, backed up by about 300 spectators, mostly Air Force personnel and their wives.

Nixon spent about 20 minutes chatting with Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the other service chiefs, Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and others.

Peace Corps Has Volunteer Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Peace Corps expects 26,000 volunteers this year, a gain of 7,000 over 1970.

Director Joseph H. Blatchford said Friday the increase marks the first upturn in requests, applications and volunteers in five years.

Repeal Of Marijuana Laws Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — While deploring the use of any mind-altering drugs, the San Francisco Committee on Crime today recommended repeal of laws prohibiting use of marijuana by adults, but retention of laws making the sale of heroin illegal.

In its 11th and final report, the 27-member committee split in its recommendations. About one-third of the members were against the marijuana recommendations and filed minority reports.

The committee's recommendations for repealing laws prohibiting marijuana use were based, the report emphasized, on the belief that the criminal process is not the best way to control use of the drug.

"We do not propose that society discontinue efforts to deter people from using marijuana," the report said.

"Its use is probably not as deleterious as its most earnest detractors say, but certainly people would be better off without it. In an age when human wits are most needed, they should not be subjected to manipulation or alteration by drugs.

"We simply conclude that the criminal process is not the way to go about achieving the goal given the present state of evidence.

"Indeed, removing the stigma of criminality may remove the attraction of the illicit and eliminate the impetus to use that comes from bravado.

"Criminalization has failed; we suggest that society now try non-criminalization."

The committee members, in an introduction to the report, emphasized that they were not condoning or endorsing marijuana use.

"We realize that previous portions of our report on non-victim crime, such as those dealing with prostitution and pornography, have been carelessly read by portions of the public, including those who should know better.

"The committee thoroughly deplores prostitution and has the utmost detestation for pornography. Yet our reports have been carelessly interpreted as an endorsement of these vices.

"We resign ourselves to a like misinterpretation that the committee approves the use of marijuana, despite our reiteration that we disapprove the use of marijuana and encourage all non-criminal processes to prevent it."

Regarding marijuana, the committee recommended:

—Repeal of laws prohibiting the use and possession of marijuana by adults.

—Repeal of laws prohibiting sale of marijuana to adults and regulate sale to them by laws on the order of those regulating alcholic beverages.

—Continue to prohibit sale to minors and possession by minors.

—Prohibit any advertising of marijuana.

—Devise and expand a vigorous education campaign about marijuana.

The committee said in the case of heroin "a wholly different set of considerations is apparent.

"The use of heroin is unmitigatably bad. It is destructive to the user, and it is destructive to society. No one is more contemptible than the vendor or pusher who 'hooks' another into use for the sake of profit.

"If society is ever justified in punishing anyone for the sake of revenge and detestation rather than for determent or rehabilitation, it would be justified in doing so to the vendor of heroin."

Base Attacked; Pullout Hits 50%

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist attacked the big American base at Phu Loi 13 miles north of Saigon today even as President Nixon's current program to withdraw 100,000 more U.S. troops out of Vietnam by Dec. 1 passed the halfway mark a month ahead of schedule.

The U.S. command announced today that 233,300 American servicemen were in Vietnam as of last Thursday. Withdrawals averaged 4,000 a week all year until mid-June when they were cut back to 2,760 a week because they are so far ahead of schedule.

Communist 107-millimeter rockets hit Phu Loi today in the second such attack in two days.

A Communist force advancing under 107MM rocket fire assaulted the Phu Loi base today but was driven off. One American and three Communists were reported wounded.

Along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing the two Vietnams, U.S. B52 bombers today pounded North Vietnamese rocket installations to the north of Fire Base Fuller a few hours after the Communists bombarded the reconstructed outpost with mortars.

The B52s hit the sites, used to fire 122mm rockets that finally forced evacuation of Fuller a month ago, after striking at suspected Communist storage areas near the A Shau Valley.

The North Vietnamese barrage of 82mm mortar rounds did not damage the mountaintop Fuller base which forms the northwest corner of a defense line along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), military spokesmen said.

Saigon Looks North; China Link Is Denied

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government appealed today to North Vietnam to discuss reunification of the country and the holding of free elections under a total ceasefire.

In a communique issued by the foreign ministry on National Grief Day commemorating the division of North and South Vietnam under the 1954 Geneva Accords, the government recalled it asked two years ago that North Vietnam consider reunification.

U.S. sources said the statement contained on its face nothing new and could in no way be interpreted as any sort of startling peace bid linked either to recent Viet Cong proposals at the Paris talks or to President Nixon's announcement of his impending visit to Mainland China.

President Nguyen Van Theiu himself had endorsed a standstill cease-fire in October after one was proposed by Nixon, the American sources said.

"Two years ago on July 20, 1969, the government of the Republic of Vietnam solemnly requested the authorities of North Vietnam to discuss directly and seriously with her the problem of reunification of the two zones, by means of general elections in both North and South Vietnam under international supervision," the South Vietnamese foreign ministry said.

"While waiting for reunification the two sides can meet to explore the the developments between the two zones."

"In a more serene atmosphere, when the guns stop firing, the two sides will discuss the modalities of general elections under international supervision in both zones in order to realize the reunification of the coutry," the statement said.

Heath: Important Move Toward Demarche Seen

LONDON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Edward Heath today welcomed President Nixon's diplomatic moves toward mainland China as an "important initiative" to learning how to live with the Communist world.

Heath told the final plenary session of the Aherican Bar Association's London conference that "the basic differences between the Western way of life and the Communist world remain, and Communist ambitions have notchanged."

"It is the means by which we in the West handle them and endeavor to live with them that has undergone change," Heath said.

"The important initiative of your president towards China is the most recent evidence of that," the deeply suntanned prime minister told the 1,500 Americans packed into "The Great Room" of the Grosvenor House Hotel. Another group watched the session on closed circuit television in the ballroom of the London Hilton.

The prime minister said there was no justification for fears Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market would damage American economic interests. He cited the doubling of American exports to the six Common Market countries in the past 10 years.

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAY

Britons Handed Bag Tax Cut

LONDON (UPI) — The Conservative government Monday handed Britons a $2.64 billion tax cut bonanza coupled with boosts for industry in a package it said was designed to make "a decisive breakthrough" against inflation.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber, in announcing the measures to Parliament, said "we now have a unique opportunity to make a decisive breakthrough in the fight against inflation."

Purpose of the package, he said, was to give a shot in the arm to Britain's stagnant economy, encourage industrial production, slash unemployment and halt inflation.

The boost was substantially more than the $240-720 million that had been widely predicted.

Political sources said it may partly have been designed to please Parliament and public opinion at a time when the government faces a critical fight to win approval for British entry into the European Common Market.

Chief among the measures announced by Barber were:

—An 18.18 er cent cut in purchase (sales) taxes which range from 13 3-4 per cent on many household goods, clothing and furniture, to 36 2-3 per cent on automobiles, television sets and household appliances, and 55 per cent on luxury goods such as furs and cosmetics.

—Lifting of all restrictions on instalment buying.

—Encouragement to industry by increasing from 60 to 80 per cent the tax allowance in the first year for investment in new machinery and plant.

—Tax-free depreciation for immobile plant and machinery used in service industries in economically depressed areas of Britain.

Barber said the purchase tax cuts, along with other cuts already announced in the annual budget last April, will total about $2.64 billion this year and more than $3.36 billion in 1972.

He said it was the first time the purchase tax has been cut since 1963 and was the biggest slash since 1953.

Barber estimated the aids to industry would be worth $96 million in 1972-73 and about $360 million the following year.

Barber announced that Britain's international payments surplus, now running at a level of $1.44 billion yearly, now is so good the government is repaying next month another $614.4 million of the $7.2 billion Britain borrowed from the International Monetary Fund in 1967.

Girl, 18, Ordered To Hospital Drug Abuse Program

Pamela Alice Jones, 18, of no known address, has been ordered committed for 90 days to a drug abuse program at Napa State Hospital.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed her on probation for one year.

She pleaded guilty last month to fraudulently possessing checks.

McGuire ordered the 90-day commitment after reports from two doctors disagreed on whether she was a narcotics addict who should be committed to the California Rehabilitation Center.

Miss Jones was arrested June 11 when she attempted to cash a check at a San Rafael department store at which she had passed a check May 26 that turned out to have been stolen and forged.

Arnaz Daughter Weds Producer

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother and her current husband, comedian Gary Morton.

Publication Budget On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo School District board tomorrow will consider adoption of a publication budget for fiscal 1971-72 totaling about $1,945,000.

Adoption of the budget was carried over Friday after trustees spent five and a half hours reviewing the document.

According to Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry, the board's marathon session resulted in adding about $29,000 to his "trimmed, bare-bones budget,"

Lowry earlier had presented the board with a proposed budget totaling about $1,916,000. It was a stripped version of his first proposal which was drafted in anticipation of a successful vote on a tax rate increase. The increase failed at the polls on Tuesday.

Lowry said the new proposed budget carries the same tax rate — $3.445 per $100 assessed valuation — as last year's budget.

He said the additions made Friday by the board are for a conservation education class for seventh and eighth grade students, eight-hour operation of the district library and about $5,000 in personnel contingency funds.

The board will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School.

11 Policemen Died In May Assaults

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Eleven policemen were killed and 17 injured in criminal assaults in the nation during May, the International Association of Police Chiefs said Monday.

Association president John R. Shryock said in a statement that since the organization's National Police Weapons Center began operations July 1, 1970, criminal assaults with weapons had killed 101 police officers and injured 1,668.

Shryock said handguns were involved in nine of the 11 police deaths during May.

The association set up the weapons center because of the steady increase in assaults on police. The problem also prompted FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to offer assistance on request in local investigations of police deaths and injuries.

Shryock said the Middle Atlantic states reported the most attacks on police, followed in order by the Pacific coast, the East-North-Central states and the South Atlantic area.

Shryock also released a report showing a total of 129 incidents involving explosives and incendiary devies during the month of April, causing no deaths but eight injuries. This information was compiled by the association's National Bomb Data Center.

Building With Bomb Evacuated

Police evacuated a San Rafael apartment building at 220 Canal Street Saturday when they found what appeared to be a bomb in the garbage collection room.

An Army bomb disposal unit from the Presidio of San Francisco dismantled what police said appeared to be four sticks of dynamite and a blasting cap wired to an alarm clock. The bomb unit said the dynamite was highway road flares and the blasting cap was a short piece of a red lead pencil.

Police said Clifron Lewis, employee for Marin Sanitary Co., discovered the bomb at 8:15 a.m.

Special Duty Pay To Be Discussed

The Rohnert Park City Council will consider special duty pay for volunteers in the police department at its meeting today at 7 p.m.

The council also will hold a public hearing on the request of Angelica Burgess to care for four women under the state Family Care Program at her home at 310 Bruce Avenue.

Nixon Would Change, Expand FDA Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon proposed Monday that the 64-year-old Food and Drug Administration (FDA) be converted into a new Consumer Safety Administration with authority over household products as well as foods and drugs.

Under Nixon's plan, the new agency, like the present FDA, would be part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The administration proposal differed from a Democratic sponsored bill to regulate hazardous household products under a new Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The President's plan, however, appeared to respond in part to suggestions by Sens. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, that a new agency be created.

The administration proposal was unveiled before Magnuson's Senate Commerce Committee at a hearing on rival administration and Democratic bills. This would empower the government to set safety standards for household products from lawn mowers to window glass, and to ban particularly dangerous items.

HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson presented a letter from Nixon to Magnuson outlining the proposed new agency.

"This unit will build upon the acticities, personnel and facilities of the FDA, which has a long and distinguished history in the field of consumer safety, primarily in the vital regulation of the foods we eat and the drugs we use," the Nixon letter said.

"The Consumer Safety Administration will continue the work of the FDA. At the same time the new unit will be structured so that the regulation of hazardous consumer products authorized in (the administration bill) will have the facilities, the personnel, and the organizational prominence that will insure an effective, efficient and responsive product safety program."

Publication Budget To Be Considered

The Reed School District board will consider adoption of a $2,457,501 publication budget when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Bel Aire School.

The board also will consider renewing its membership in the California School Boards Association.

Hitchhiking Double Amputee To Come Home

OSLO (UPI) —After hitchhiking around the world in a wheelchair for two years, Charlie Brown of San Francisco is going home.

The 35-year-old Californian who has no legs says he set out on his international ride-thumbing tour to prove that a ma can do what he aims to, despite handicaps.

Brown said a back injury and lack of funds forced him to return home. He hurt his back when the wheelchair turned over in the Canary Islands recently.

During the past two years he has visited Latin America, crossed the Sahara, traveled over north Africa, continental Europe, Britain and Norway. Earlier he has hitch-hiked in all North American states and in Canada.

He leaves Oslo's Fornebu Airport for New York this morning.

Publication Budget Due Novato Board

The Novato Unified School District board will adopt a publication budget of approximately $10.3 million when it meets at 8 p.m., tomorrow in the lecture hall at Novato High School.

The exact amount of the budget was still being worked on, said Supt. James G. Bunker.

Bunker predicted that the tax rate for next year would increase approximately 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The current tax rate is $5.35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The increase is due to an increase in health and dental benefits for employees and increase for short term bonds.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

A Public Relations Problem

SAIGON (UPI)—The North Vietnamese Army has a public relations problem and the NVA newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan (People's Army Daily), has taken note of the problem in a recent issue in language which might have originated in the Pentagon.

People's Army said, "Our army has developed fine traditions and has constantly reflected its nature as a people's army. The great majority of our cadres and combatants have not only fought heroically and earned glorious merits, but have also proven to be good disciplinarians by constantly complying with the army's regulations and orders and with state laws and by respecting the people . . .

"However, in certain places at certain moments, there are a small number of instructors and combatants who have relaxed discipline.

"Outside military billets, there still are soldiers who dress outlandishly, speak impolitely to others, behave themselves in an uncivilized manner and violate state law, discipline and public sanitary regulations.

"Not only does this erratic behavior bother the people, but it is something taken advantage of by the bad elements as well."

People's Army said, "Each combatant, when he leaves his camp, must never forget that he is a people's army soldier. Whether his conduct, attitude and deeds are exemplary or not will cause our people to form a good or bad impression of our army as a whole . . .

"Concerning the methods of educating and improving the soldiers' conduct and behavior, many units have. . . had soldiers review the 10 oaths of honor, the 12 rules of relations with the people and the 10 'dos and don'ts' for soldiers when they are out of billets. . .

"To obtain realistic, far-reaching results, the propaganda and educational task must be closely related to the measures for enforcing discipline . . .

"The assignment of military police units to operate in the troop cantonment areas, the constant control and assessment of the situation, and prompt commendation of good men-good deeds examples, and the organization of the masses to criticize and struggle against soldiers' erratic conduct and behavior will be instrumental in simultaneously preventing bad phenomena and accelerating the improvement of soldiers' conduct and behavior."

People's Army said that "intensive education and training of soldiers to observe discipline and improve their conduct is very necessary. . . each of our soldiers . . . must be conceited over the progress made, but must constantly train himself to become a good disciplinarian whose conduct and behavior are exemplary."

General Wins Third Star

Brig. Gen. Russell F. Gustke, commander of the Western Air Force Reserve Region with headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been promoted to major general.

Gustke entered the Air Corps Cadet program in 1941, was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942 and flew 165 combat missions in Europe.

He was discharged from active duty in 1946, but remained in the Air Force Reserve.

Closed Session Set On Salaries

The San Rafael City Council will meet in closed session today at 7 p.m. to instruct its negotiators on city employee salary negotiations.

Following the closed meeting, the council will hold its regular session at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Sewage Plant To Be Studied

The Mill Valley City Council will hear recommendations from a consultant on interim steps the city can take to improve its sewage treatment plant when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The consultant, Yoder, Trotter, Orlob and Associates of Walnut Creek, was hired by the city to design the improvements ordered by the Regional Water Quality Control Board when the board slapped a building ban on Southern Marin last month.

Also on the agenda is a hearing on the massive Miller Avenue landslide. The city has ordered the slide's owner, Melinda Rowebeddoe of England, to show cause why the pile of dirt should not be declared a public nuisance.

Chile's Allende Denies 'Usurping' Firms' Rights

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chile's nationalization of business takes into consideration the interests of those who have invested or worked in Chile, President Salvador Allende said Sunday.

Chile's revolution was not violent, the Marxist president said. "I'm speaking of profound transformations, deep changes in the economic and political fields as well as in the social fields."

Allende spoke on the NBC news program "Comment!"

"When I speak of nationalization, I am not talking of usurping. I am not talking about unduly appropriating the possessions of others. I'm talking of defending the interests of Chile and at the same time considering the interests of those who invested or who worked in our country," he said.

He said courts of appeal have been established for firms which believe they have been treated unfairly in nationalization moves.

Turtles can live on weekly or monthly feedings and by storing water can survive long droughts, says Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Clinics For Rabies Shots Announced

Marin County dog owners who missed last week's rabies vaccination clinics will have five more weeks in which to get their pets vaccinated.

The special evening clinics are sponsored by the Marin County Department of Health Services and the Marin County Veterinary Medical Association. The fee is $2 per dog.

State law requires that all dogs at least 4 months old must be vaccinated against rabies and licensed, said county health officer Carolyn B. Albrecht. Aug. 31 is the deadline for obtaining 1971-72 dog licenses.

As a safety measure, Dr. Albrecht asked that parents not bring children to the clinic area.

The clinics will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays as follows:

Tuesday — Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato.

Thursday — Mill Valley corporation yard, Sycamore Avenue and Camino Alto.

July 27 — Ross School, Laguinitas Road.

July 29 — Woodacre Firehouse, end of Railroad Avenue.

Aug. 3 — San Anselmo corporation yard, end of San Francisco Boulevard.

Aug. 5 — San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, Third and E streets.

Aug. 10 — Point Reyes Station Firehouse, Second and A streets.

Aug. 12 — Marion School, Novato.

Aug. 17 — Mill Valley corporation yard.

Aug. 19 San Rafael City Schools Administration Building.

Stolen Automobile

Joseph Perina, 403 Eighth Street, Petaluma, told police his car was stolen Friday night from outside his home. The 1958 Ford had license number EDA 663.

Wallet Theft

Victor M. Mendosa, 2400 Fallon Road, Petaluma, told police that his wallet containing $65 in cash and an $800 check was stolen from his clothes Friday while he was swimming at the Petaluma Municipal Pool.

Old Box Will Be Feature

A metal box believed to contain gold nuggets and coins dating back to 1872 will be the featured attraction before the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning.

The box, retrieved from the cornerstone at the old county courthouse in San Rafael, is believed to contain valuable gold and silver coins and other century-old mementos. The cornerstone was dedicated on Aug. 3, 1872, by Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons.

Warren H. Williams, secretary of the Marin lodge, will ask the supervisors tomorrow to keep the box sealed and preserved as an historical monument.

Last week, supervisors were divided on the question of opening the box. John F. McInnis wanted it kept sealed, but Chairman Louis H. Baar, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste wanted it opened. Michael Wornum agreed to postpone the opening until this week to hear from the Masonic Lodge.

With Baar away on vacation, the supervisors could split, 2 to 2, on the issue.

The supervisors' meeting tomorrow will start at 9 a.m. with a joint meeting with the family and children's advisory committee. The advisory committee members will describe the work they are doing to help families that need public assistance.

Other items on tomorrow's agenda include:

APPOINTMENTS — Several vacancies exist on the Marin County Youth Commission and one on the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission.

RETIREMENT — Acting County Administrator John F. Barrows will recommend a $500 outlay for a study to see if the cost of county contribution to the employees' retirement fund can be reduced.

CORTE MADERA CREEK — Both Fairfax and San Anselmo will report that they do not want the Army Corps of Engineers to build concrete channels along Corte Madera Creek in their cities.

APARTMENT — Sea-Port Development Co. of Auburn, Wash., is seeking approval of a master plan for 334 townhouse apartments on 24 acres of ridgeland south of Strawberry Shopping Center, between Belvedere Drive and West Strawberry Drive.

TERRA LINDA — Supervisors will decide whether or not it should proceed with an election on proposed merger of the Terra Linda Community Services District and the Terra Linda Recreation-Park District.

REZONING — Charles Parmelee will ask for rezoning of 7.8 acres near Corte Madera from light industrial to apartments. A total of 121 townhouses are planned on the property on Tamal Vista Avenue between Chickasaw Court and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks.

Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Charles Wayne Day, 28, of San Rafael, have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of possessing and being under the influence of marijuana.

A pretrial conference was set for Aug. 18.

Day was arrested July 9 after Sausalito police said they saw him smoking what appeared to be a pot cigarette in the parking lot of the Boat House restaurant.

Injuries Minor In Crash On Freeway

Lucie Van Breen, 22, of 257 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries when her car struck a center divider on Highway 101 at 2:10 a.m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol said she was southbound on Puerto Suello Hill. The woman was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut eyelid and bruised knee.

MOTHER NATURE'S EXPRESS

LABOR

nies near agreement on local and regional issues, negotiators are expected to meet on a national level to formulate a final contract.

The United contract expired last month, but was extended 30 days. The wildcat strikes broke out when employes became disgruntled with the progress of the negotiations.

The United contract has expired last month, but was extended 30 days. The wildcat strikes broke out when employes became disgruntled with the progress of the negotiations.

A United telephone spokesman said the fired strikers might be rehired, but a union spokesmen said "strings" — such as the loss of seniority — would be attached to their rehiring.

On other labor fronts Sunday:

—Magma Copper Co. reached tentative agreement with seven unions in Tucson. Union spokesmen said it could prove a model for the entire industry, which has been struck by 39,000 workers since July 1. The pact was for a three-year contract with an average 92-cent-an-hour wage increase and unlimited cost-of-living raises.

—The Communications Workers of America continued talks at the local level with American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in an effort to settle a four-day-old telephone strike.

In San Francisco, the longshoremen's strike that has virtually shut down 24 WXEST Coast ports entered its 19th day today with no end in sight.

Directly affected are not only the sailors, truckers and warehousemen involved in handling freight, but anybody whose job depends either on receiving or sending cargo.

In San Francisco, for example, about 700 employes in coffee roasting plants may be laid off in a few more weeks when the supply of green beans runs out.

Distributors of Mazda, the new Japanese import, were caught with 1,700 autos tied up in Los Angeles harbor and only a 10-day supply on hand.

Because of the strike, many businessmen have halted placement of orders. They can't risk having a loaded ship off the Pacific Coast and unable to land.

As a result, settlement of the strike doesn't mean affected workers can immediately go back to work. Copra (dried coconut meat) processors, who are running out of copra, won't get new supplies until new orders are shipped from the Philippines.

Dozens of vessels are tied up at a cost to the owners of about $10,000 a day. To ease their burden, the port of Long Beach drastically slashed its dockage and storage fees.

However, some activity is continuing because the longshoremen are willingly handling military cargo and mail. They also announced plans to handle 28,800 tons of wheat and flour for Pakistani refugees.

The striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the employer representative, the Pacific Maritime Association, are far apart on terms for settling the walkout.

No talks have been held since the strike began July 1 at the expiration of a contract.

Several officials of both management and labor said the strike would last at least a month and some flatly predicted it would continue three months.

guess and estimate—what will be the bargain?"

In a Washington-Peking dialogue, he said, his country's main task would be "to maintain Thailand's independence." Asked about possibility of Bangkok-Peking talks, he said: "There have been several countries that have offered to help us contact Peking... diplomats offered without our requesting such help—we have not initiated this."

A newsman asked if he thought the United States planned to abandon Vietnam and he replied: "Don't accuse the United States. They have lost a great deal in Vietnam—the lives of their soldiers and others. The problem of Thailand is, how do we survive?"

In London, Heath told the American Bar Association conference that "the basic differences between the Western way of life and the Communist world remain, and Communist ambitions have not changed. It is the means by which we in the West handle them and endeavor to live with them that has undergone change.

"The important initiative of your President towards China is the most recent evidence of that."

The Yugoslav foreign ministry in a statement praised the "significant" announcement of the Nixon visit, which it said could "contribute to the normalization of relations, relaxation of tension, and peaceful solution of international problems."

And in Jakarta, the Soviet ambassador to Indonesia, Mikhail Volkov, replied when asked by reporters to comment on the announcement: "When two great states are willing to meet, it is good." He said it showed "Nixon sincerely wishes to visit Peking, and perhaps he will."

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan was peppered with questions in the Diet (Parliament) in Tokyo. He said he welcomed the Nixon visit as a move to ease world tension and he hoped it would restore Indochinese peace.

As for Japan, he said, "the government will cautiously study the matter by keeping a close watch on the fluid international situation." Improved Sino-Japanese relations "are a matter to be desired," he said.

Malaysian Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak said in answer to a question in Parliament that he might consider visiting Peking if invited. The Nixon visit augured well for future neutralization of Southeast Asia, he said.

Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew, who has been generally cooler to Peking's new warmth than other Southeast Asian leaders, said "President Nixon has responded to China's friendly overtures by a dramatic gesture."

Forgery Suspect Due In Court

A 19-year-old Nicasio youth has been scheduled to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of forgery.

Police today reported that Henry Iver Seiler of P.O. Box 205, Nicasio, was arrested Friday in Corte Madera after he fled from the Bank of America at 663 Tamalpais Drive.

Officers said he entered the bank at about 10:40 a.m. and attempted to cash a $31 check made out in his mother's name. A routine bank investigation found the check had been stolen.

Seiler was booked into Marin County Jail where he posted $500 bail.

Two Booked As Suspects In Dope Case

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing hashish after he and a companion were observed acting suspiciously at a San Anselmo apartment building.

San Anselmo police said today Robert Wesley Rosson, 18, of 136 Auburn Street was arrested at 4:30 p.m. at the Capri Apartments, 1520 San Anselmo Avenue.

Officers said they were questioning the youths about wandering around the building when a plastic bag containing four cubes of suspected hash fell from Rosson's pocket. A search produced five more cubes.

Rosson was booked into Marin County Jail where he posted $1,000 bail and is scheduled to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

His companion was booked on a $302 reckless driving warrant.

Health Planners Due Aid Program

Two Marin hospitals' plans to create centers for alcoholism — and in one case, drug problems — will be before the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital.

Plans were endorsed by the health facilities review committee of the council last week.

Ross General Hospital proposes installation of the county's first combined drug and alcoholic detoxification and follow-up center by relicensing 18 of its present 36 long-term care beds under state laws.

Novato Manor Convalescent Hospital plans to establish an 18-bed unit exclusively for alcohol treatment.

Two Rob Tavern Near San Rafael

Two men escaped with an undetermined amount of cash yesterday following an armed robbery of a tavern near San Rafael.

Marin County sheriff's deputies said one shot was fired, but no one was injured, in the robbery of the Hound's Tooth Inn, 10 Woodland Avenue, at 4:25 p.m. yesterday.

The men — both described as white, between 20 and 25 years old, and one with dark bushy hair and the other with blond hair — escaped in a maroon colored 1967 or 1968 Oldsmobile, deputies said.

No other details of the robbery were available today.

Fire Razes 20 Acres Near Dam

A fire of unknown origin which sent smoke billowing into the clouds and could be seen for miles destroyed 20 acres of grass, brush and trees near Alpine Dam in 90 minutes yesterday.

The blaze required units of the Marin County Fire Department, Kentfield Office of Emergency Service and the Marin Muncipal Water District, as well as two park rangers and other volunteers, to bring it under control.

According to firemen, about this time last year a similar blaze erupted in the same location.

Foreign Affairs Committee of each chamber, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa. Among others on hand were the chairmen of the Armed Services Committees, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.; the chairmen of the Appropriations Committees, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and George Mahon, D-Tex.

The ranking Republican members of the three key committees also were present.

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security affairs adviser who visited Peking to meet with Premier Chou En-Lai to arrange the presidential visit, participated in the White House meetings.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers called off a trip to London to discuss the journey and its meaning to various foreign ambassadors in Washington, including the highly critical James C. H. Chen of Nationalist China.

Chen was the first appointment on a busy list today for Rogers, starting after the Cabinet meeting. Others included Ambassadors Nobuhiko Ushiba of Japan, Sir James Plimsoll of Australia, Frank Corner of New Zealand, Sunthorn Hongladarom of Thailand, Charles Lucet of France and Rolf Pauls of West Germany.

The resolution urged Nixon "to rein his horse to a halt before the cliff and suspend his decision to visit the Chinese mainland."

Mansfield and Scott have both expressed the view that the new Communist peace plan at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris was influenced at least partly by China. But they did not agree entirely on how Peking might have wielded its influence.

Moran Offers Innocent Plea

Thomas Patrick Moran, a state public utilities commissioner, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor charge of drunken driving.

A pretrial conference was set for Sept. 8.

Moran, 53, of San Rafael, was arrested June 16 when, according to the California Highway Patrol, he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 near San Rafael.

San Quentin Inmate Is Still At Large

San Quentin officials today reported that inmate William Lewis Harrison, 41, was still at large after failing to return to the prison Thursday after leaving a job in Redwood City.

Harrison worked at Randall's Inc. in Redwood City under the prison's work furlough plan and returned to San Quentin each night.

Pipe Bomb Blast Damages Bank: 'Chicano' Tip Call

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (UPI)—Plate glass doors and windows at a Bank of America branch were shattered Sunday night when a pipe bomb exploded at the rear of the building.

An unidentified caller telephoned news agencies eight minutes later, saying the blast was the work of the Chicano Liberation Front. The explosion brought to more than 50 the bombing attacks this year against Bank of America branches in California.

FBI agents joined sheriff's department arson detectives and police in this Los Angeles suburb in an investigation of the 10:22 p.m. blast.

College Paper's Office Burns, Arson Suspected

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Fire Department officials are investigating the possibility of arson in a blaze that caused $10,000 in damages at San Jose City College.

The fire, which broke out late Saturday night, completely gutted the interior and blew out the windows of the building occupied by the student newspaper, City College Times.

"Any natural causes are pretty well eliminated at this time," said Sean Leslie of the San Jose Fire Marshal's office.

Leslie said the fire apparently started at two points in the room, while "if it's an accident, it's usually only one source."

Sausalito Panel To Review Arts Center's Lease

The Sausalito Arts Center's lease on the Old Bayside School property will be discussed at a special meeting of the Sausalito school district board at 7:30 p.m. today in Bayside School.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said Robert A. Ellis, center director, has requested to meet with the board which last week voted to cancel the lease and evict the center in 30 days.

Lindberg said the federal government, which owns the land, has never approved the lease, which was granted by the school district in April of 1969.

The board will also discuss the legal ramifications of abandoning school district sites (since some will revert to governmental or private ownership if the properties cease to be used for educational purposes) at the meeting.

Possession Of Billy Club Arrest

An 18-year-old Novato youth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possession of a billy club, Novato police reported yesterday.

George Michael Turrini of 2055 Mill Road, Novato, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $8,750 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Police reported that they stopped Turrini at 11:26 p.m. in front of 7374 Redwood Highway because his car did not have a license plate. Turrini gave his permission for police to search his car and the billy club was found under the front seat and a paper bag with approximately 10 pounds of change in it was on the floor, according to reports.

Santa Cruz Trip Slated Next Sunday

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department's junior high youth club will sponsor a trip to the Santa Cruz beach and boardwalk on Sunday for seventh and eight grade youths who reside within the city limits.

Reservations and parent permission slips may be obtained at the center office, in the old courthouse annex.

Funeral for Charlotte L. Miller of Sausalito will be tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. She was 92.

Miss Miller died Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness.

She was born in Caliente in Kern County. She moved to San Francisco and San Luis Obispo before going to Sausalito 12 years ago to live with her niece, Maryon Carre, 412 Valley Street.

She was past president of San Luisita Parlor No. 108 of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, San Luis Obispo, and a member of San Luis Obispo Rebekah Lodge No. 210. She worked in the city clerk's office in San Luis Obispo until she retired in 1951.

Burial will be private.

GLADYS FALCONER

Funeral for Gladys Eleanor Falconer, 62, of Sacramento, mother of Mrs. Donald S. Potter of Petaluma , will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Sunset Lawns, Sacramento.

Mrs. Falconer died Thursday after a short illness.

She is also survived by a son, A. J. Falconer of Nevada City; two other daughters, Georgia Hoff and Katherine Wright of Sacramento; a sister, Margaret Funkner; and two brothers, Robert Matthews and Kenneth Matthews, all of Portland, Ore.

Contributions may be made to the City of Hope.

HENRY CADY

A Requiem Mass for Walter Henry Cady, father of Grover Cady of San Rafael, was held today in San Mateo.

Cady, 63, died Friday in a San Mateo hospital after a short illness.

He was born in Stockton and had worked for 25 years for Southern Pacific Railroad. At the time of his death, he was manager of a snack bar. He had lived in San Mateo for 20 years.

He is also survived by his wife, Margaret Cady of San Mateo; three other sons, Robert Cady and Thomas Cady of San Mateo and James Cady of San Luis Obispo; a brother, Ellsworth Cady of San Mateo and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Skylawn Memorial Park in San Mateo.

SARAH BRASHEM

Funeral services have been held for Sarah Brashem of San Rafael at Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco. She was 81.

Mrs. Brashem died Thursday from a heart attack at her home.

She was born in Kiev, Russia. She came to Portland, Ore., in 1906 and moved to Sausalito in 1946. She later moved to Larkspur and San Rafael.

She was a member of Congregation Rodeph Sholom and B'Nai Brith Women, Marin County chapter.

She is survived by her husband, Mendel B. Brashem; two daughters, Francine Mendell of San Rafael and Myrtle Kirklin of Modesto; a sister, Gertrude Bachman of Portland, Ore.; and two grandchildren.

She was buried at Hills of Eternity. .

NORA NEWMAN

Mrs. Newman, a Novato resident for 23 years, died Saturday in a convalescent hospital after a long illness.

She last had made her home with a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Federlin of 1055 Fifth Street, Novato. She was a member of the Novato Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Newman was a native of Knoxville, Tenn.

She is also survived by one granddaughter.

Funeral was to be followed by inurnment at the Chapel of the Chimes, Oakland.

HENRY MANNWIELER

Funeral for Henry Mannwieler, 70, of Cotati, was held today in Petaluma.

He died Friday at his home after a short illness. A native of Russia, he came to the United States in 1909 and to California in 1927.

Mannwieler had been employed as a custodian at Pengrove School for 20 years, retiring six years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Christine; two sons, Frank Mannwieler of Petaluma and Henry Mannwieler of Santa Clara; two daughters, Judith Shennan of Petaluma and Lillian Poerson of Ceres, Stanislaus County; 11 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

AMY CROSLEY

Funeral for Amy G. Crosley, 69, of Petaluma, was held today in Petaluma. Burial was at Sebastopol Cemetery.

Mrs. Crosley died Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness. She was born in Occidental and had lived there and in Santa Rosa until moving to Petaluma 10 years ago. She was the wife of the late Jack Crosley.

She is survived by two brothers, Chester Elliott of Petaluma and Bert Elliott of Occidental.

Arnason Denies Attorney's Plea To Leave Case

Ernest L. Grave, Ruchell Magee's attorney, unsuccessfully tried to remove himself from the Davis-Magee case today on grounds that a federal judge's remarks had made it impossible for him to proceed.

Judge Richard N. Arnason quickly denied the motion in Marin Superior Court, despite an outburst by Magee that "You could walk out of here right now."

This morning's scheduled hearing never actually got started, with attorneys spending two hours in the judge's chambers and defendants Magee and Angela Davis brought into court only after 11 a.m.

After Graves's motions were denied, Magee's continued outbursts caused Judge Arnason to order the San Quentin inmate removed from the court. Miss Davis's attorneys then were granted a recess to this afternoon.

Swim Program At Hamilton AFB

Marin County Red Cross Chapter and Hamilton Air Force Base's "Children Have a Potential" (CHAP) Organization will co-sponsor a weekday swimming program, August 9-20, for mentally and physically handicapped children, at the base.

Alys Durenberger, a Red Cross instructor of handicapped swimmers, will conduct the program assisted by volunteer water safety instructors and aides.

Parents of participants must complete a health certificate and release form which must also be signed by a doctor. Further information may be obtained through the Red Cross office, San Rafael.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

What Place Is Left For Transit Company?

Marin County Transit District directors have decided to put practically all the district's eggs in one basket.

Their choice is the big basket of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District. They had only a nest egg left over for the much smaller basket of Marin Transit Systems, Inc., the Marin City company that is providing some interim bus service in the county.

Marin Transit Systems has a contract with the bridge district to provide subsidized service on its present routes until the end of this year. That will not be renewed, the transit directors decreed last week. Instead, the bridge district itself will operate all buses on routes in its "optimum bus system.

Just what the "optimum bus system" eventually will include is not yet spelled out exactly. but it will include all inter-county commute service, and local service to feed the commute runs. And because the bridge district wants to make maximum use of its buses and drivers, it will include some sort of intra-county service during the non-commute hours.

AT A GLANCE, that doesn't seem to leave much for Marin Transit Systems. As a matter of fact, however, it may leave quite a bit.

The nest egg put in Marin Transit's basket by the directors' vote consists of $75,000 for "demonstration projects." These, said the directors, must not compete or interfere with the service provided by the bridge district.

What might Marin Transit operate, aside from charter service, for which it already is licensed by the California Public Utilities Commission and in which it would not compete with the bridge district?

One obvious possibility is school bus service.

BUS OPERATION is an expensive headache for many Marin school districts. Some of them have found it cheaper and simpler to contract with an outside carrier, who provides buses, maintenance and drivers. Right now, the only outside carrier operating school bus service on a regular basis in the county is Patchett Transportation Co., which has its base far away in the Central Valley.

Patchett Transportation, according to school superintendents in districts that use it, provides school bus service more cheaply than the schools can do it themselves. And presumably it makes money at it.

There would appear, then, to be a large field for a locally based school bus contractor — such as Marin Transit Systems.

THE TROUBLE with school bus contracting is that the buses sit idle much of the day. However, several of Marin's cities need strictly local bus service between shopping districts and residential districts, to ease their traffic congestion.

Such service could be provided during hours buses were not hauling school children. There has as yet been no indication that the bridge district's "optimum bus service" will extend to this type of operation — and with the San Francisco majority on the bridge district board, it seems unlikely that it ever will.

There would thus appear to be possibilities for not only continued operation but also considerable expansion of Marin Transit Systems without conflict with the bridge district.

Perhaps a "demonstration project" might serve the schools and shoppers of — say, San Rafael or Novato?

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

NWP Abandonment Could Hike Eventual Transit Cost

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

One of Marin's greatest assets is in danger. Not its lovely hills or shore, but the key link in its railroad right-of-way.

Northwestern Pacific Railroad is about to apply again to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon its Sausalito branch line, a line long earmarked by the county for transit use.

The move may succeed this time because the railroad's major Sausalito customer, A.G. Schoonmaker, is going out of business in Marin. And both Mill Valley and Corte Madera favor discontinuing the operation through their areas.

The danger is that the cost of acquiring the right-of-way for transit may soar by millions unless it remains in some rail use without interruption.

THOSE PARTS of the right-of-way owned in fee by the railroad would be available to the county or Golden Gate Bridge District for any transit use, whether buses, trains or some other system. But other stretches of the line are subject to reversion to the original owners if no longer used for rail purposes.

Their descedants presumably will find their windfalls extraordinarily valuable, despite the predictable claim by the county and bridge district that such narrow holdings are at almost worthless. Those are bargaining ploys.

The reversionary rights could be voided if a rail transit system were ready to take over the right-of-way, but that is at least a decade away.

To avoid this potential cost of reversionary rights, however, the rails could be left intact even after paving is laid down for bus transit, according to an idea by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. He suggested that an excursion train be run down the line periodically to maintain legally its use for rail purposes, this voiding reversionary rights.

It's an idea worth exploring.

SPEAKING OF reversions, the California Republican Assembly has booted Bagley and three other lawmakers branded with liberal or moderate records. The boot came as the organization abandoned its traditional policy of making all GOP officeholders at-large directors.

Purged with Bagley were state Sen. Milton Marks of San Francisco and Representatives Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of Portola Valley and Alphonzo Bell of Beverly Hills.

"This is a conservative organization and they don't subscribe to our objectives and principles," objected former CRA president Dick Darling of Riverside. He added that including the four as directors "diminishes the honor for the others."

Bagley's response to the dishonor: "There is no organization I'd rather be booted by."

Award Will Honor 'Bridgers Of Gap'

I thank you for the recent coverage of the establishment of the Marin County Industry-Education Council award fund in honor of Edward W. Bullard Jr.

Ed Bullard was an outstanding human being who did much to help his fellow man in a variety of worthwhile activities and causes. We were particularly proud of his efforts as the charter president of our organization. He will be sorely missed by us, as well as by his family, his friends and the entire community of Marin County.

The award fund will be used to appropriately honor individuals who have worked diligently to "bridge the gap" between the community and education in the best tradition of Ed Bullard.

Contributions may be sent to the Marin County Industry-Education Council Edward W. Bullard Jr. Memorial Fund, 235 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94104.

Nixon's China Visit Mere Political Ploy

President Nixon, who has never missed a political bet in his life, is now about to score another one. He is going to China on a two-purpose visit: to hasten the end of the Vietnam war and to strengthen the new communications with the Chinese dragon. The White House, the press simultaneously announces, believes that his visit will hasten an end to the war in Southeast Asia. Not the Congress, not the people of the United States; no — the White House. The administration, in other words. Mr. Nixon, that is. What a vote getter if this can be seen as anything but a clever political move.

The momentum of the war has wound down from sheer fatigue. We no longer want the war, the Communists no longer want it. Billions of dollars and thousands of lives on both sides have not in 10 dreary stalemated years netted either side anything. A great veltschmerz lies over both friend and foe. Sheer exhaustion of words, money, and men makes both sides want to call it quits. Mr. Nixon's visit can scarcely hasten what is already inevitable. But it may get him a few more of the soft votes with which he has been so handsomely feathering his nest these past three years while the domestic scene lies in ruins . . .

. . . It was ping-pong that opened the door to Americans. All Mr. Nixon has to do is walk through it and take the credit. That too may get him some votes.

In the meantime let's give a little credit to the congressmen, the GI's, and the millions of average taxpayers who have faithfully met the challenge of these last years.

They also ran.

Unchristian Denial By Christian Church

A letter on the editorial page last Saturday (July 10) referred to the report of "Loot Taken from Minister's Home" was signed by the pastor of a "Christian" church in San Rafael and disclaimed any connection or knowledge of the man involved. This is a matter of great concern to me and to every practicing Christian believer.

Although the gentleman in question was arrested by San Rafael police and taken to Marin County Jail, as of this writing no charges have been filed against the man, and he has been free all of this time. His innocence or guilt is a question for a court of law, is it not? Trial-by-newspaper-letters goes against my grain as well as being opposite of our democratic ideals.

When so-called "Christian churches" hasten to disassociate themselves with a man before all the facts are in, it certainly is more of a comment on their own insecurities than on his behavior! As a matter of fact, the accused minister preached twice for the very congregation that now condemns him when they were meeting in the VFW building. Why a public denial of him now? . . .

Warning To Boaters In Plight Of Dog

I am writing this in hopes that you can help some person recover a beautiful black French poodle. To understand some of my expressions and some of my concern it must be understood that I spent many years of my life — almost half a century — as a seafarer.

This Sunday morning I was out acting as escort to my cat who sets out on his adventures at 0500 hours. Of course it was still dark. As it began to lighten I saw what I thought was a very large black cat down amongst the slabs of concrete, rocks, iron bars and slime right at the edge of the water at almost low tide. He was about 140 feet away from me . . .

As it lightened up more I became certain it was a dog and wondered why he did not move around until I thought I saw him chewing and pulling at what I thought was a piece of rope. He was at the water's edge in fact his feet were a few inches in the water and the tide was flooding.

I went around the building to investigate. A black French poodle with a collar and a black or dark brown leash with a red loop was anchored to some concrete slabs by his leash, and very badly frightened. I climbed down over the log barricade on the driveway and slid around the slime covered rocks to get to the dog. He growled and snapped just from fright.

I got the leash clear of the rocks and then as I would need both hands to get up, I placed the dog on the barricade and cleared his leash. When I got up he was gone across the empty lot and down Novato Street.

The reason for such detail is this. That dog could only have been in that predicament if he or she was pushed, jumped or fell from a boat going up or down the canal on the late ebb tide last night. Another hour and he would have drowned.

Please warn yachtsmen that taking a dog or a cat on a boat does not automatically qualify him as an able seaman. He needs help and close watching, especially at night. . .

Judge Allowed Jurors To Spin Their Wheels

(Reprinted from Riverside Press)

William Bennett, a member of the State Board of Equalization, was tried in San Rafael on charges of driving while intoxicated.

He received something more than equal justice.

After the jury deliberated six hours and found Mr. Bennett guilty, Municipal Court Judge Robert Smallman declared him innocent:

"I'm convinced there's not only a reasonable doubt as to his guilt, I'm convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of his innocence."

With a totally inappropriate reference to the fact that he and the defendant are of opposite political parties, the judge airily told the jury of its efforts: "This doesn't mean that you went astray. We simply have a difference of opinion."

He was, he said, going to direct the jury to consider a "not guilty" verdict before it went into its deliberations, but decided not to because of possible misinterpretation.

Instead, knowing full well what he meant the outcome to be, with or without jury concurrence, he let the jurors spin their wheels for six hours.

One of the jurors told Judge Smallman: "We are all going home with an extreme sense of frustration." Which is no doubt an understatement, but about all you can say in such circumstances without the certainty of a contempt charge.

Economic Policies Provide True Campaign Issue For 1972

WASHINGTON — Deep differences are developing between Richard Nixon and all of the potential Democartic candidates for President over how to rescue the nation from inflation and unemployment.

Since both sides now agree that the state of the economy will be the controlling issue in the election, such policy differences are a healthy development.

This means that there will be no "me, too" campaign on economic policy, no bland arguments over who can do the same things better.

It means that when it comes to voting next year we will really have a choice, not an echo—a choice between two nearly opposite economic programs.

THIS WILL BE an unusual experience in a presidential election—a fundamental choice between policies, not primarily between personalities, on the central issue of greatest concern to the voters.

From everything the President is now doing and from everything the leading Democratic candidates say they would do, if elected, it is evident that the gap between Nixon economics and Democratic Party economics is growing wider.

The two are moving steadily in opposite directions and here is the evidence on five key points:

1—Nixon rejects tax reductions to further stimulate the economy.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson advocate tax reductions to stimulate the economy.

2—Nixon rejects further increases in government spending.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson favor increased government spending; Muskie advocating putting "an additional $6 million to $8 billion into the economy through this year's budget."

3—NIXON SHUNS a wage and price review board.

The Democratic candidates want the power of the presidency more vigorously used to restrain wage and price increases and Humphrey advocates the creation of a "wage-price-profits board to add extra strength to presidential persuasion."

4—Nixon wants to hold down any greatly accelerated public works to create jobs quickly, although he is signing a Democratically sponsored bill of modest proportions.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson favor a more ambitious program. Jackson speaks of the need to finance "a minimum of 500,000 constructive job opportunities in the public sector."

The Democrats appear open to compulsory controls if inflation is not otherwise controllable. George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who will be supporting the Democratic nominee, strongly advocates such controls.

SEC. OF THE TREASURY John Connally, whom the President has named as his "chief economic spokesman," contends that the steps the administration has already taken need only "time to work" to produce lower inflation and higher employment.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson contend that more of the same is not doing and will not do the job, that basic changes in economic and fiscal policies are imperative. Senator Jackson puts it this way:

"What is lacking is not confidence of the American people in themselves or in the free enterprise system; what is lacking is confidence that the policies of this administration will get the economy moving ahead vigorously and quickly."

Unless Nixon policies produce better results in the coming months, the Democratic nominee will go into the campaign under highly favorable political circumstances.

Early Primary In Florida May Play Major Role

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The legislative one-upmanship by which New Hampshire managed to keep its presidential primary first in the nation insures that the ballots cast there will continue to carry influence far beyond their numbers.

But Florida, by attempting to set its primary date on the same Tuesday as New Hampshire's and thus create a chamber of commerce style sunshine versus snowdrift confrontation, has caused all the potential presidential candidates to give a more realistic turn to their pre-convention strategy. The primary vote in Florida now will be cast a week after that in New Hampshire, but once those ballots are counted, it will be clear that the Florida exercise matters far more than now seems apparent.

THE FACTS ARE that Florida not only has approximately 10 times New Hampshire's population, but the state's makeup is inestimably more varied. It includes the Pork Chop Belt, more akin to neighboring South Georgia and Alabama than to other parts of Florida; important farm interest; a substantial Jewish population centered in Dade County; a heavy concentration of retired persons, even more concerned than the rest of us about dollar stability; a black voter registration exceeding 300,000, and a state economy highly sensitive to national defense and the aerospace industry.

The contradictions built into that diverse electorate assure that no candidate can walk away with Florida's convention delegation by running an oversimplified, one-issue campairn. It is instead going to demand that any serious competitior there offer a reasonable demonstration of his national appeal and campaigning ability.

Among the current Democratic aspirants for the nomination, this fact appears at first to favor those of a moderate-to-conservative stance — Edmund Muskie, Henry Jackson, perhaps Wilbur Mills on their right. It certainly does not seem fertile ground for George McGovern or John Lindsay, for example, unless the number of candidates on the ballot should split the returns so much that anyone winning the solid Miami Jewish vote would have a chance of placing at the top.

The supercautious Muskie is worried, however, for the same reason he is supercautious in the first place: because he is the front-runner. His chances of arriving in Florida in that same position are excellent, since he is nearly certain of carrying New Hampshire as long as Edward Kennedy does not compete with him there. But his prospects of leaving Florida still unscathed are jeopardized by the appeal of men like Jackson and Mills to the voters there. And he feels the other candidates off to his left could hurt him in later primaries by capitalizing on what happens in Florida.

THE SOUTH — the new South — plays a key role in Muskie's essentially centrist nomination strategy. Primaries in Arkansas, Tennessee, West Virginia and North Carolina (plus Alabama, which doesn't count because of George Wallace) follow that in Florida. To talk moderate good sense and win in Florida will strengthen Muskie's already firm chances in both primary and convention states in the South.

That is his aim — not to appeal to the prejudices of the South, nor even to address himself to the South as such. He wants to talk there about national problems, to say outright and to imply by the breadth of his campaign approach that the South is now part of the nation, not a region to be dealt with separately. In doing so, he hopes to join with southern spokesmen for the present and future, rather than the past — men like Governors Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Robert Scott of North Carolina (who has already declared himself a Muskie man), John West of South Carolina, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, and particularly, Reubin Askew and Sen. Lawton Chiles of Florida.

His worry is that his challengers, having less to lose and in any event almost no hope of carrying Florida themselves, may try to whipsaw him there. McGovern or Harold Hughes or Birch Bayh can come in and state in the strongest terms their positions calculated to appeal to Democrats in other primary states where they have better prospects, for example Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon and California. Then, in those states, they can taunt Muskie for hewing to the middle of the road (and trying to win) while they were boldly speaking out (and knowing they would lose).

It is a form of progress in politics that any leading candidate should be sweating these eight months in advance about what he will say in Florida — in the South — as he seeks the presidency. And that kind of early agony is the price one pays for running so far ahead so long before the campaign begins.

Security Proves Less Oppressive In San Francisco Federal Court

The setting in the federal district court in San Francisco where one of the numerous hearings in the Davis-Magee case was held last week provided quite a contrast with the Marin courtroom where they usually take place.

Those wanting to attend the Marin sessions, both visitors and press, must go through a search at the main door of the Hall of Justice and then queue up in lines near the courtroom.

Then a deputy sheriff takes names, asks for identification or press cards, and sends people on to another deputy sheriff or a matron, who does another pat search and again goes through handbags of women and asks men to empty their pockets into plastic containers.

The next step is through a metal detector and finally into the courtroom where the press occupies the first few rows and the visitors the back portion.

THE COURTROOM has about 100 seats but the rows are close together. No one is allowed beyond the railing which separates the spectators' portion from the attorneys, jury box and judge. (Exceptions, of course, are the defendants, their attorneys, a clerk, court reporter and the judge as well as guards and deputies.)

More deputies ring the walls of the courtroom, which is usually crowded, and shortly before the proceedings start, the courtroom door is locked. Anyone leaving is not allowed back in to that session.

As anyone can readily imagine, the atmosphere in the courtroom is highly charged most of the time.

VERY DIFFERENT, however, as the setting in San Francisco, where a hearing was held in a high-ceilinged paneled courtroom on the 17th floor of the Federal Building.

There was a metal detector (borrowed from Marin) right outside the door of the courtroom and everyone had to stand in a line to go through it. However, there was no pat search, just a walk through the metal detector and a look inside the purses and what came out of men's pockets.

Inside, there were marshals, but they were in plain clothes.

The press was allowed to sit in the jury box, with others at a regular press table adjacent to the table where Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee sat with their attorneys.

Magee was unshackled and walked freely into the room.

Those who wished could leave the courtroom and return — they only had to walk through the metal detector again.

THE COURTROOM must be two or three times the size of the one in Marin, although there are only about half again as many seats. The judge sits on a high bench and a crier sets a formal tone by having everyone rise when the judge enters.

Even Magee, who usually dominates the Marin courtroom completely, seemed a bit awed by the surroundings. Although he had a great deal to say, he seemed more subdued than usual, and when he was taken out of the courtroom, it was at his own request.

Although no one can blame Marin County for turning courtrooms into armed camps after last August's shoot-out, the federal court security seemed adequate and the proceedings seemed more judicial to this reporter.

Pope Blesses China Visit Plan

CASTELGANDOLFO, Italy (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, who promised a further statement on President Nixon's announced visit to Communist China, expressed joy at the initiative during his weekly blessing at his summer palace Sunday.

"Something new and great is being accomplished and being prepared which can change not a little the face of the Earth," the Pope said.

"We will have something to say, some hope to express," he added. "But not now, not here."

Sausalito Seminar Topic: Police 'Quota System'

Does Sausalito Police Department have a quota system under which officers are directed to make a minimum number of arrests per month?

This and other questions will be thrashed out at a community seminar to be sponsored by the Marin County Police-Community Relations Program next Saturday in Sausalito.

Bella H. Aaron, director of the police-community relations program, said the seminar will be held at Christ Episcopal Church on Santa Rosa Avenue, Sausalito, at 10 a.m.

A dozen panelists, including Sausalito city officials, citizens, and Police Chief James Wright, will discuss "Problems and Solutions Within Sausalito." Moderator will be Dr. William Scalopino, head of the behavioral sciences department at College of Marin.

When asked whether the alleged "quota system" would be discussed, Mrs. Aaron replied: "Any topic that the people want to bring up will be discussed."

McNamara: Reluctant Doubter On Vietnam

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former Defense Secy. Robert S. McNamara, like many a lesser man, began to doubt the morality of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy only when it became fairly clear that the policy was not going to work.

This emerges with agonizing clarity in a just-published book entitled "McNamara: His Ordeal in the Pentagon" (Harper & Row) which covers the highlights of his tenure under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson until he left the government early in 1968.

Written by Newsweek diplomatic correspondent Henry L. Trewhitt, the book provides some valuable perspective for judging the material contained in the flurry of secret Pentagon documents now being published by various newspapers.

McNAMARA, ACCORDING to Trewhitt, shared the delusion of most top administration officials that the application of sufficient U.S. military power would eventually force Hanoi and the Viet Cong to sue for peace. Many of the most severe present-day critics of the Johnson-Kennedy policy also shared that delusion at one time.

However, Trewhitt's thesis is that the awakening was for McNamara more painful than for many others because of the conflict always present in his nature between "the supremely rational technocrat and the humanist who quoted philosphers and poets."

"He had created a balanced war machine with full acceptance of the need. He had sounded the call to put it to use. But when his system failed him, the nature of the man made the consequences especially painful ...

"There was a kind of desperate courage in him, however, as his disillusionment deepened. Once U.S. military gradualism had failed to produce the programmed results in an acceptable time, the administration in its frustration appeared to be moving toward even greater escalation. To him, this was intolerable. His efforts to prevent it finally made him an anachronism, out of step, out of favor, a tragic figure."

WHEN McNAMARA in late 1967 proposed stopping the bombing of North Vietnam and freezing U.S. troop levels and beginning to shift the burden of fighting to the South Vietnamese, only Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary Nicholas Katzenbach supported him even in part. They called for cutting back the bombing to that area just north of the demilitarized zone.

"Ironically, the reaction of Clark Clifford, who later would reverse his field as he succeeded McNamara, was one of the most uncompromising of all" to whom the President circulated the memorandum, Trewhitt says.

In the beginning, under Kennedy, both McNamara and Rusk tried to make certain that the young President "knew the possible consequences" of his decision to send U.S. military advisers into the field in Vietnam with authority to act as possible emergency relief troops if needed. This policy was proposed by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Walt W. Rostow, a state Department counselor who later became a presidential adviser under Johnson.

AFTER THAT initial warning, McNamara expressed no doubts concerning the policy and in 1962, after his first trip to Saigon, said "every quantitative measurement we have shows we are winning this war."

According to Trewhitt, "the government of the United States was trapped in a web of self-deception. Among those most deceived was the secretary of defense, a critical link in the policy-making chain."

By 1965, McNamara and Taylor at a National Security Council meeting said they believed the "major part of the U.S. military task can be completed by the end of 1965 ..."

McNAMARA, recovering from his despondency after the death of President Kennedy, agreed to stay on under Johnson. He strongly supported the president and, according to Trewhitt, when Sen. Wayne Morse called the Vietnam conflict "McNamara's war," McNamara retorted that he had no objection because "I think it is a very important war and I am pleased to be identified with it and do whatever I can to win it."

McNamara resisted pressure from the Joint Chiefs of Staff for an all-out American assault on North Vietnam, contending that gradual pressure was less dangerous and would achieve the desired objective. But by mid-1967, after agreeing to lift the U.S. troop levels in Vietnam over the 500,000 mark, McNamara was increasingly assailed by doubts, dismay and frustration, according to Trewhitt.

Belted Radial construction reduces tread motion...less tread rubber is "scrubbed" off on the road.

Tread grooves remain open at all times for greater traction...especially on wet pavement.

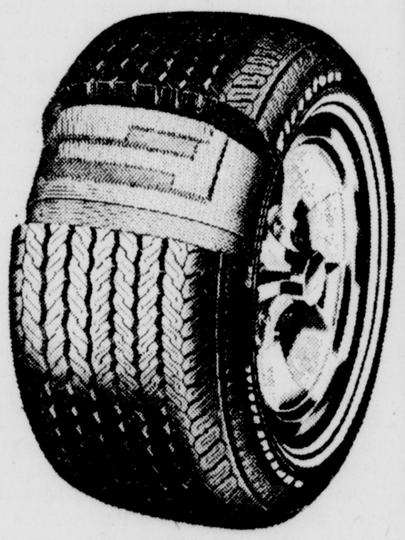

Six strong plies under the tread to provide greater impact and puncture resistance.

Four strong belt plies for greater strength and durability.

Puncture sealing inner liner surrounds puncturing objects to prevent air loss. Gives you extra sealing protection when you need it.

Radial construction, plus wide oval design provide exceptional handling.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KQED (9), 6 p.m. — The "Artists In America" series features vocalist-pianist Roberta Flack from her home base in Washington, D.C., where she became renowned for her jazz styling.

KTVU (2), 7:30 p.m. — Richard Burton, Barbara Rush and Angie Dickinson star in the movie "The Bramble Bush," a chilling story of a doctor who returns to his boyhood home to care for his incurably ill friend who pleads for a mercy-killing.

KGO (7), 8:30 p.m. — The program "A Very Good Year" highlights 1927 with early Oscar presentations; Charles A. Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic; Al Jolson in the first talkie; and the famous fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

KQED (9), 10 p.m. — William Faulkner wrote the script to the movie "The Road To Glory," which focuses on the moral tensions created in group responsibility, and the stress on values of duty and professionalism inherent in wars. Stars are Warner Baxter, Fredric March and Lionel Barrymore.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Noncommercial Outlets To Advertise This Fall

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Here's a switch: the non-commercial television network will use commercials on the outlets of its three major video competitors —ABC, CBS and NBC —to promote its new fall season.

According to the non-commercial network, "This is the first time that public television has ever gone directly to purchase of commercials to seek a wider audience of viewers."

In an announcement, the Public Broadcasting Service, which is the name for the coast-to-coast non-commercial video outlet, said "This is also the first time that one television network has ever advertised its own programs on another netowrk or that such ads have been accepted by the networks."

At any rate, it's about time public television went big league in its promotion. In the video industry, it has been a scandalous fact that, despite the many splendid programs non-commercial television puts on, all too few persons are aware of them, and just plain miss them.

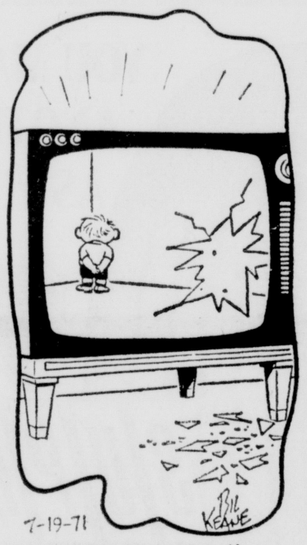

PBS, which will begin its second year as the network for about 205 non-commercial station, starts its new advertising campaign in October with spot announcements on ABC-TV, CBS-TV and NBC-TV, and also with ads in newspapers of 10 of the largest television markets. These markets are New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco, Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, Dallas-Fort Worth, Pittsburgh and Washington, D.C.

The print advertising will coincide with the first two weeks of the new PBS season, which starts on Sunday, Oct. 3. And, says PBS, video commercials have "been purchased for the same two-week period on the news programs and selected other programs of the three commercial networks. Twenty-five spots have been scheduled on NBC, CBS and ABC in a campaign keyed to the most outstanding PBS offerings for each night of the weekly fall schedule."

The announcement from PBS says many of the television spots will be placed in the evening news reports of NBC, CBS and ABC so that the ads will reach viewers of the top anchormen at the commercial networks.

"In addition," says the announcement, "there will be Sunday spots on CBS' 'Face the Nation' and on the highly-rated NBC football adjacent to the World Series game on Oct. 10, the CBS football post-game show on Oct. 10 and the NBC baseball playoff game Oct. 3."

Girl Scout Aide Rescued From Mountain's Face

RED LODGE, Mont. (UPI)—A 22-year-old Girl Scout counselor was rescued Sunday after being stranded 79 hours on the face of a treacherous, 12,160-foot peak in the Beartooth mountain range.

"I've never been so happy to be alive," said Gail Zacary, Boise, Idaho, as she was wheeled into a Red Lodge hospital. Her injuries were not immediately determined. Officials say Miss Zachary carried a sleeping bag and water but no food.

Her rescue was accomplished by 11 expert mountain climbers who lowered Miss Zachary down a 300-foot vertical cliff at the 10,700-foot level of Silver Run Peak, about 50 miles from the northeast corner of Yellowstone National Park.

Miss Zachary and Leslie Appling, of Hillsborough, Calif., became separated from a hiking party Thursday and finally were found by searchers Saturday afternoon. Miss Appling was able to walk to safety.

Frankfurters Have Less Fat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Hot dogs are getting leaner.

Agriculture Department officials said reports on frankfurters and other cooked sausages tested by the department's Meat Inspection Service in the second quarter of 1971 showed a decline in fat content from a year earlier.

Not all of the nearly 4,700 samples tested were examined for specific fat content. Some merely were checked to make sure they fell within the legal 30 per cent fat content ceiling. But the nearly 2,600 subjected to specific content tests showed an average of only 27.7 per cent fat compared with 27.9 per cent in the first quarter.

The report also showed that 98.2 per cent of all samples checked were inside the 30 per cent ceiling compared with 98.8 per cent in the first quarter. Sausages not meeting the fat ceiling test must be reworked before sale.

JOAN CROSSLEY

Ever wonder where the metal comes from in the metallic fibers that decorate many different types of material? Basically, the metallic fiber is a combination of adhesive, plastic, and metal. Aluminum foil is often used in production of this material! The beauty of coated metallic filaments in material is that they never tarnish. They can be used all over the house in drapes, carpets and upholstery with devastating effect. And there is nothing more dramatic than a dress created from this type of material.

BROWNIES AND Junior Girl Scouts went on singing as two international Ranger Guides joined in and taught German, French and Canadian versions of some of the favorite songs at Sky Oaks Girl Scout day camp in Fairfax. . . . WITH GREEN FACES'

Visitors Take Camping Lead

By BARBARA HOSMER

"Here we come with the green faces," quipped Susanne and Sharon as they crunched across the leafy ground at Sky Oaks Girl Scout camp in Fairfax to join a songfest of log-sitters.

Briefly in Marin on a U.S. tour from their homes in Germany and Canada, the two teen-agers had just finished the slow, snaking drive to Muir Woods and back to the Fairfax hills and were feeling a little carsick. But they gamely joined in the songs, although Sharon Scott from Ontario protested she couldn't sing. She then taught the day camper Brownies, junior and Cadette Scouts the Canadian words to "This Land Is Your Land," and started French and English versions of a three-round rendition of "Frere Jacques" while Susanne Romer from Munich handled the German verse and Mill Valley senior scout Debbie Fox strummed her guitar.

THE TWO international scouts are Ranger Guides at home and as a part of an international gathering were in Marin for a two-day tour that included the day camp.

There they went from the tent-making group to the Pixie display to the Braille book gathering, asking questions about each activity and trying their hand at it, joshing one another in German and French as well as English.

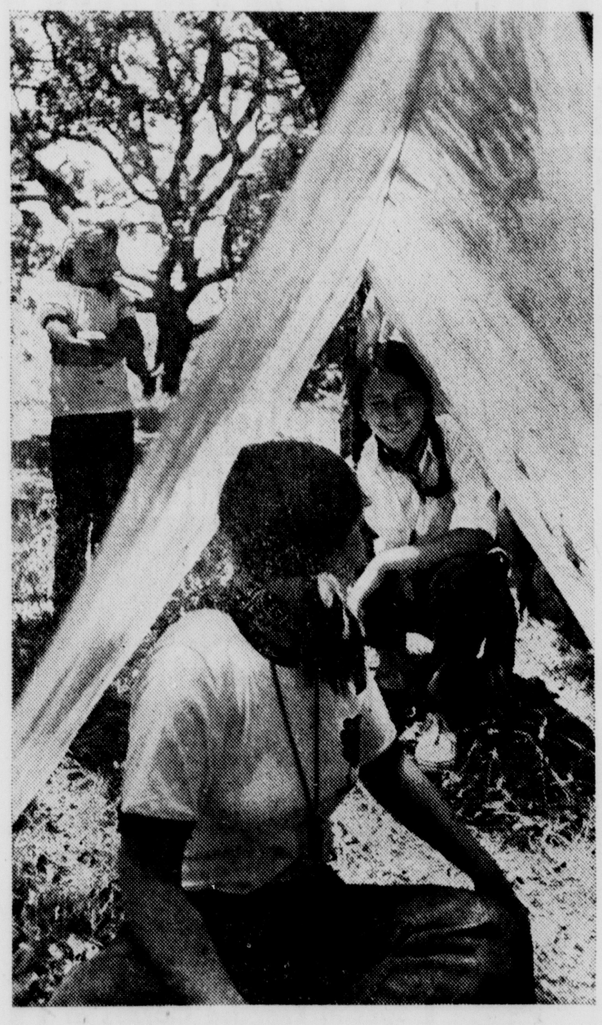

Both were happy that they had the chance to come to the U.S. on the Juliette Low Fund program, along with the three girls from Norway, three from Switzerland, six from Canada and a few Americans who attended the international gathering in New York, went to Washington, D.C., and are now scattered throughout the United States doing what Sharon and Susanne are — sightseeing and visiting local scout programs.

Their seven week tour will be climaxed with the girls' climbing in the San Bernardino Mountains in a program called "Steep Trails," Sharon explained with excitement. The international group will meet in Los Angeles July 29 to begin that adventure.

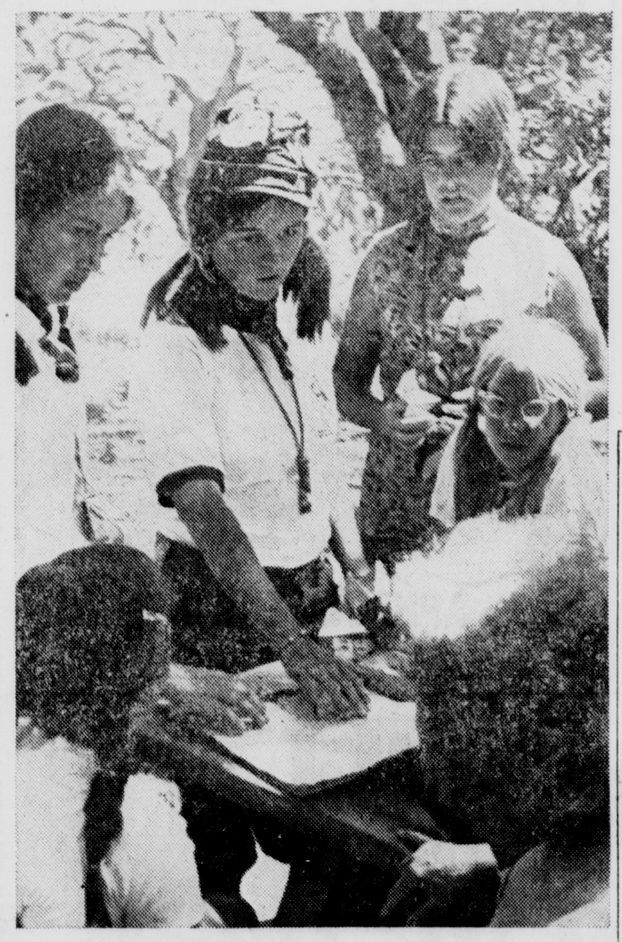

THE GIRLS stayed with the Richard Parino family in Mill Valley for their brief visit in Marin Thursday and Friday and their host group was the Southern Marin Senior Troop led by Mrs. Parino, but during their Bay Area stay Susanne is the guest of a San Francisco family and Sharon is located in Fremont. They have each day filled with activities such as their Marin tour, which included the Marin Shakespeare Festival preview of "Once Upon a Mattress," for which Mrs. Parino's daughter is playing in the orchestra.

Their tour guide was Judy Ellman, a staffer at the day camp and member of the Southern Marin Troop 427.

The day camp at Sky Oaks, sponsored by the Bay Area Girl Scout Council, is staffed by volunteers from the Richardson Bay Marin Del Centro and Mission Rafael scouting associations. Both Sky Oaks and the Novato day camp at Shady Oaks opened the first of three two-week sessions last week.

COME ON in, there's room, Canadian Sharon Scott (front) teases Susanne Romer of Germany as the visitors climb under one of the pup tents the day campers were making. The tent and shelter-making is one of the Girl Scout activities the youngsters learned to prepare for an overnight.

LEARNING ABOUT Braille reading, Sharon and Susanne place their hands on a page of a Braille book which the day campers used to understand how the blind can read. Some can never get the touch, they learn from the leader. The foreign visitors asked questions and entered into the camp activities as they went from group to group.

JUDY WALLACE

Wallaces Tell Daughter's Wedding Plan

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Wallace of Tiburon have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judy Wallace, to Loren Graham Peake of San Jose.

She is the sister of Donald Wallace Jr. of Tiburon and the granddaughter of Mrs. Hattie Bradbury of Oakland and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Pratt of Santa Rosa.

She is a graduate of Redwood High School, the College of Marin and attended San Jose State College. Judy is employed for the summer at the Dixie School District and Lyons restaurant in Larkspur.

Loren is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Peake of San Jose and the brother of Jonathan, Mariln and Kevin Peake. He was graduated from Abraham Lincoln High School in San Jose and from San Jose State College.

Loren is now on active duty with the Navy Reserve in San Diego.

The couple are planning to be married in January.

Couple Is Married In Novato

Lynn Askim and Richard Larsen were married at Grace Lutheran Church in Novato on July 10.

Lynn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Askim of Novato, chose as her only attendant Barbara Casey. Jerry Michaels served as best man and ushers were the bride's brothers, Norman and Jim Askim.

Lynn was graduated from Novato High School and is employed at Hamilton Air Force Base. Richard, the son of Mrs. Paul Larsen of Sebastopol and the late Paul Larsen, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is employed with Pacific Gas and Electric Company in San Rafael. The couple will live in Fairfax.

Public Disclosure Urged On 'Filth'

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Coincidental with the recent search for poisonous potato soup came a demand that the Federal Government disclose its guidelines on the amount of filth allowed in some foods where it cannot be avoided.

The demand came from Kenton L. Harris, a former FDA officer who worked on food sanitation problems. In a speech to food officials, he urged that more guidelines be established and that the general public be allowed to know what they are.

At the same time, Thomas Brown, FDA's compliance officer, reported that the agency already was considering doing what Harris had requested. Both Harris and Brown appeared to agree that industry itself would benefit in the long run with public disclosure of filth guidelines.

First public indication that there were such guidelines came a year ago with publication in some newspapers of the limits of filth and dirt set jointly by the FDA and an association of spice manufacturers.

The guidelines are based on the fact that it is impossible to keep all impurities out of food, especially food that is uncooked when sold. The question is where to set the limits. Brown says the FDA first determines what is the best that industry can do, then the limit is set at that point.

For wheat, the present limit limit is one rodent pellet per pint. But since a rodent can be either a mouse or rat, Brown says that the FDA is considering tightening the standard somewhat. He would not say what he had in mind.

Current guidelines for spices allow:

— two parts of rat excreta or 15 miligrams of other animal excreta in each of two samples from one lot;

— up to four whole dead insects per sample;

— up to 49 mites or winged insects per samp;e; (If 50 visible the the naked eye, the lot must be sifted before being sold.)

— up to 5 percent mold as seen by the unaided eye;

— and from .05 to 2 percent "extraneous matter" such as stones, dirt, wire and string, depending on what commodity is involved.

Asked to define the size of a sample or lot, Brown said that a "lot" is simply the size of a shipment, regardless of amount, and that representative samples are taken from lots for testing and analysis. He acknowledged that the guidelines are not very precise.

Technically speaking, the law does not allow any filth in food. By setting guidelines for it, Brown said, the FDA is saying in effect that a small amount is impossible to avoid and is not likely to hurt you.

"If we took action against everything with filth in it," he said, "we wouldn't have (anything) on the market."

He insisted that when impurities get to the point of being harmful to human health, the FDA steps in. He acknowledged, however, that the point is not always clear to either government regulators or industry officials.

Filth guidelines exist for other products besides wheat and spices. Some bee fragments are allowed in honey, parts of corn worms are allowed in canned corn, and some insects are permitted in flour. But the FDA has not officially released its guidelines stating the exact limitations.

In most cases, cooking would kill any harmful germs due to filth in food. It is also true that the body can tolerate a certain amount of dirt without injury or illness. The biggest problem is esthetical: many people would rather not know exactly what they eat while praying that the FDA is right.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Couple Should Consider 'Special Needs' Children For Adoption

DEAR HELEN:

Recently we contacted our Welfare Department to file application to adopt a little girl, perhaps twin girls. We also contacted Child and Family Services.

We were told that in our state, since we already have children (I'm unable to have more), we couldn't even file application. A new law says that only childless couples can adopt.

The reason: babies are in short supply, due to contraception, abortions, and the fact that more and more unmarried mothers are keeping their children.

We're trying now to adopt through a church orphanage, but this organization can only place about 50 babies a year throughout the state.

We haven't had much luck trying to adopt a little girl from overseas, either. Is there any hope? — THE T.C. FAMILY

DEAR T.C.S:

Your best hope lies with "special needs" children: mixed-race babies, those with birth defects, older youngsters. Adoption agencies in may states are placing such children in homes where they'll have ready-made brothers and sisters.

If you are interested in a transracial adoption, write to THE OPEN DOOR SOCIETY, Post Office Box 2447, San Diego, California, 92112, and enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for a brochure. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

About a year ago, after 20 years of marriage and six children, I put my husband out. We'd been fighting for six months and he gave every indication of running around. I loved him so much that each time he walked out the door, my heart was torn apart. But the yelling and arguments were making everyone miserable so, to save our sanity, I told him to go.

I still love him. Even though other men ask me out, I just can't go. Sometimes I think my husband still cares for me, and other times I'm sure he must hate me for the way I treated him.

I have too much pride to tell him, for if he turned away, I'd feel like such a fool. How can I find out what his feelings are? — ALONE AND SORRY

DEAR A AND S:

For Pete's sake, you lived with your husband 20 years and shared six children with him. If you can't manage one small "I'm sorry," how did you stay together so long? And what did you talk about? Anyone who has shared the closeness of marriage has "looked the fool" many times. Why let "pride" hold you back now, when so much is at stake? Call him! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband was drafted into the Army a month before our baby was born, leaving me with very little money and lots of bills. My allotment just recently started, but it's only a little over $100, and my rent alone is $150 a month. At first the Red Cross was very helpful but, because my allotment came through, I'm afraid they can no longer give me aid. We're trying for a hardship discharge but, meanwhile, how am I going to live and support our month-old baby. I have no relatives close and can't borrow. Is there any hope? — SERVICE WIFE IN NEED

DEAR SERVICE WIFE:

DEAR READERS:

"Service Wife" is one of thousands who just can't make it on Service allotments, even with the aid of food stamps. But soon Servicemen's pay will be raised. It's about time! — H.

MRS. GEORGE C. PATRICK JR.

Ex-Marinite Married In S. Dakota

Suzanne Mary Tinan, formerly of San Rafael, became the bride of Capt. George Calaway Patrick Jr. Saturday in a ceremony at Holy Family Church in Mitchell, S.D.

The couple were wed in a double ceremony which also united in marriage Suzanne's sister Stephanie Tinan and John Lonnquist of Lincoln, Neb.

The brides are the daughters of Fred A. Tinan of Mitchell and the late Mr. Tinan.

Suzanne's twin sister, Mrs. James Carlson of San Jose, was matron of honor, and her maid of honor was Susan Kuizenga of Tiburon. Bridesmaids were Mr. George Coppinger of Santa Clara and Gloria Tinan of Mountain View, also sisters of the brides.

Capt. Richar Solem of Dayton, Ohio, was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Capt. Keith Reiling of Vacaville, Robert Meador of Atlanta, Ga., and Larry Olbright of Minneapolis, Minn.

A graduate of Notre Dame High School in Mitchell and the University of Nebraska, Suzanne taught English at Terra Linda High School.

George is the son of Mrs. Roscoe Jesse Reed of New Bern, N.C. He was graduated from high school in Greenville, N.C., and East Carolina University and is an instructor pilot for the Air Force Reserve, stationed at Travis Air Force Base in Vacaville.

The Patricks are living in San Pablo.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Cancer.

American author A.J. Cronin was born July 19, 1896.

On this day in history:

In 1870 the Franco-Prussian War began.

In 1941 Premier Josef Stalin took over the post of Defense Commissar in Russia as World War II spread over much of Europe. In 1967 82 persons, including Navy Secretary-designate John McNaughton, were killed when an airliner collided with a small plane over North Carolina.

In 1969 Mary Jo Kopechne was drowned when the car in which she was riding with U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy plunged off a bridge in Massachusetts.

A thought for today: French novelist Andre Maurois said, "There are certain persons for whom pure truth is a poison.

Pot Case To Superior Court

Dennis Lee Hovde, 22, and Nalla Hovde, 27, both of Corte Madera, have been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of possessing and selling heroin.

They were to be arraigned in superior court today.

The couple was arrested July 8 by Marin drug agents who had obtained a warrant accusing Miss Hovde, who is also known as Judith Samuelson, of selling heroin to agents three times, and Hovde with selling it once, in June.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Was South Unlucky, Or Had He Brought His Own Defeat?

"If a man plays against the odds, he has no right to complain about his bad luck," Sherlock Holmes remarked as he stood up to leave the Baker Street Bridge Club. "I didn't hear anybody complain," Dr. Watson muttered, but he got up to leave with his friend. They had just kibitzed the hand shown today, and the good doctor didn't see what playing against the odds had to do with anything.

SPADE DUMMY

South put up dummy's ten of spades at the first trick, and East covered with the jack. South refused this trick butnaturally won the next spade. West got in with the ace of diamonds to knock out the other spade stopper, and again with the ace of hearts in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

Do you agree with Holmes or with Watson? Was South unlucky, or had he brought misfortune on himself by playing against the odds?

There's something to be said for both views. South had to be very unlucky to go down, but he put his neck into the noose by playing the ten of spades at the first trick.

SIX CASES

The spades were a threat only if West had started with five and East with two. Assuming that West had led fourth-best from a longsuit, East might have any of six doubletons headed by an honor: Q-9, Q-8, Q-7, J-8 and J-7. In any of these six cases South could not gain by playing dummy's ten of spades.

The ten of spades would win if East had 9-8 or 9-7. East was very unlikely to hold 8-7 since West would have led the queen of spades if he had Q-J-9-5-3.

6-To-2 ODDS

The odds were, therefore, about 6 to 2 that East had Q-X or J-X of spades, rather than X-X. South should, therefore, play low from dummy at the first trick. East correctly plays his low card (the eight, as the cards lie), and South wins with the ace.

West takes the next trick with the ace of diamonds and leads another low spade. Declarer plays the ten from dummy, and East wins with the jack. Now East must switch since he is out of spades. South thus gains time to knock out the ace of hearts, assuring his contract.

Dealer, at your right, bids one heart.

You hold:
♠ - 9 7 5 3
♥ - A 10 4
♦ - A 5
♣ - Q 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is worth an opening bid of one spade, but is not worth an overcall of one spade when an opponent opens the bidding. The basic requirement for an overcall is a strong trump suit, not high-card points.

Omission Corrected

The date for graduation ceremonies planned at the Bayview School In San Quentin Prison inadvertently was omitted from a story in Friday's Independent-Journal. The rites will begin at 7:30 p.m. July 23.

DRAMA REVIEW

Meadows Debut Earns Applause

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Departing from its original format, the Marin Shakespeare Festival opened its 11th season Saturday night at the Forest Meadows Theater with a delightful presentation of the musical, "Once Upon A Mattress."

Lynn Curtis Phillips as Princess Winnifred is big and brassy, giving the part a touch of Carol Burnett — for whom the musical was written. For a 17-year-old, she has amazing stage presence.

Joining Miss Phillips for opening night laurels was Jim Orin as the King, cast mute by a witch's spell. His "Man to Man Talk" is one of the most refreshing ingredients of the musical's uniformly excellent score.

Just a few steps down the ladder from Miss Phillips and Orin are Sharon McKnight as the Queen and Jim Mairs as Prince Dauntless.

In smaller roles Tery Cahalan makes an excellent Minstrel; Cynthia David as Lady Larken and Jerry Dixon as Sir Harry are just right as the lovers, and Dick Leonard as the Jester lends professionalism in the melody, "Very Soft Shoes."

The musical, based on the tale of the pod and the pea, bounces gaily along, although the first act is a little too long. However, the second picks up considerably and has a rousing finale.

With the use of microphones across the front of the amphitheater, projection is no problem in the outdoor setting.

Thanks, too, to the professionalism of Margot Jones, choreography is a high point, especially in the amusing finale.

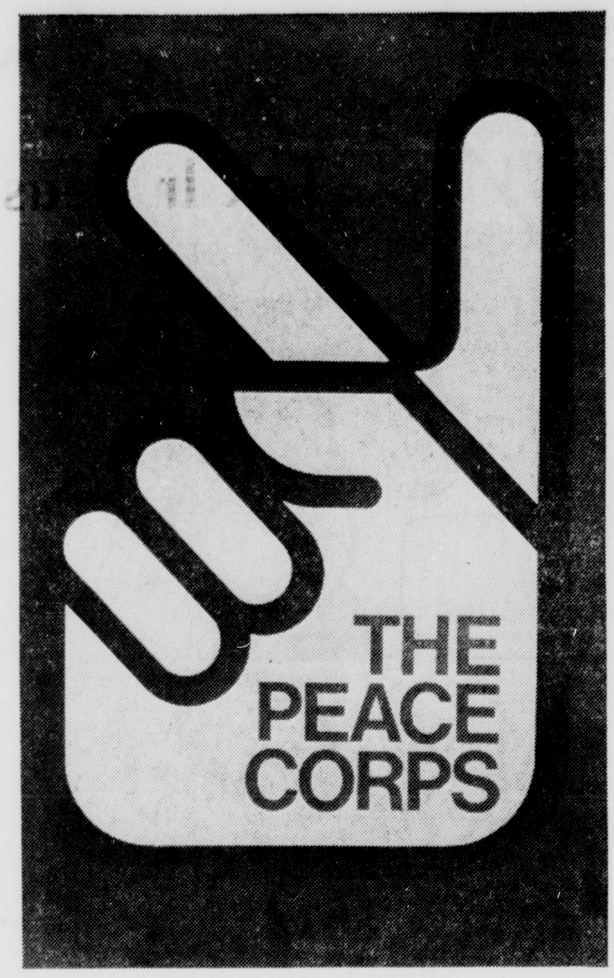

Also a plus is the work of Scott Merrick and his "pit" orchestra, which is placed to the right side of the stage. Made up mostly of high school students, the orchestra is a commendable unit.

The medieval costumes are bright and rich-looking. It was a very worthy effort by designer Janice Johnson, who is also doing clothes for the second festival production, "Much Ado About Nothing," which opens July 30.

This musical is one of the better theatrical efforts on the Marin front and worthy of strong support from the entire communtty. It will be performed again this Thursday through Sunday, and Aug. 4, 5 and 6 and Aug. 14 and 15.

Preceding Saturday night's opener, the festival held its annual "feast of goodwill" in one of the meadows adjacent to the amphitheater. John Brebner, creative director and founder of the company, served as master of ceremonies for the Renassiance feast, which featured madrigal groups, strolling performers and a costumed dancing bear.

"ONCE UPON A MATTRESS" — A Marin Shakespeare Festival production. Music by Mary Rodgers and lyrics by Marshall Barer. Directed by Dan Caldwell. Scott Merrick, musical director; Drew Eshelman, assistant director and choreography and production numbers staged by Margot Jones. The cast (in order of appearance): Tery Cahalan, minstrel; Robert Brothers, prince; Holly Berryman, princess; Linda Apple, queen; Joe Perrotti, wizard; Carol Oldham, princess No. 12; Ann Long, Lady Rowena; Bettina Weinstein, Lady Merrill; Jim Mairs, Prince Dauntless; Sharon McKnight, the queen; Clairellen Waldeck, Lady Lucille; Cynthia Davis, Lady Larken; William Spremich, Sir Studley; Jim Orin, the king; Dick Leonard, jester; Jerry Dixon, Sir Harry; Lynn Curtis Phillips, Princess Winnifred; Robert Brothers, Sir Harold; Teddi Kern, Sir Luce; Layne Tucker, Lady Mabelle; Clairellen Waldeck, the Nightingale of Samarkand; Julie Kehm and Vanessa Witt, witches, and Sydney Erskine.

POSTER FOR PEACE

The ubiquitous peace sign against a blue backdrop was the theme Mill Valleyan Henry J. Breuer chose for a winning entry in a poster contest sponsored by the Peace Corps on its 10th anniversary. Breuer, of 21 Evergreen Avenue, a commercial artist, won $500 as one of nine runners-up. The contest drew more than 1,500 entries worldwide.

Congressmen Talk Short, Write Long

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., according to page H6661 of the Congressional Record, was telling the House about a Greek named Heraclitus, who lived and died several hundred years BT (before television).

According to this sage, as interpreted by Wright in light of modern communications techniques, the American public had a right to know whether it had been misled by CBS.

That was why Wright was voting to cite CBS for contempt of Congress in its refusal to supply requested "outtakes" — the film shot but not used in the final product—from its documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon."

On page H6662 Rep. Robert H. Leggett, D-Calif., said he was against the citation. "The outtakes are not the public's business," we are advised he said, "any more than is a rough draft of the speech I am giving right now."

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, on page H6660 of the Record, said CBS should at least have done something to give viewers a clue when it was editing recorded remarks.

Debate for and against citing CBS for contempt went on like that for 27 pages, and you may wonder how all that talk could have been squeezed into the single hour allowed for debate before the House finally voted 226 to 181 last week against the citation.

The House certainly wouldn't have altered its own official account of the debate. Or would it?

It would. It did. And it does every day the Congressional Record is published.

In some cases the reader at least was give a clue, along lines suggested for TV by Minshall. After a member was recognized by Speaker Carl Albert, there would be a line in parenthesis that said (Mr. Gude asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks).

That meant that Rep. Gilbert Gude, R-Md., got up and said he was against citing CBS for contempt, and then in an extension of his remarks published later explained why in about 300 words.

But somewhere along the line Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., asked and got unanimous consent for all members to revise and extend their remarks on the subject at hand.

The best available evidence is that Wright, Leggett and Minshall were among about 25 members who took advantage of this blanket privilege when in fact, because of the strict time limitations, they had not been able to get in even a word.

No clues are offered the reader. There would be no way to prove one way or the other if Wright, Minshall and Leggett were to come forward now and say they did, too, speak all those words on the House floor.

Of course, clerks take down a verbatim account of what actually is said and done in the House. So you say let's get the "outtakes" from the Record and see whether the House deliberately has been misleading the public?

You've got to be kidding.

Marin City Development, HUD Loan To Be Eyed

The future of redevelopment in Marin City and what needs to be done to complete development in the Southern Marin community will be discussed at a workshop meeting of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board tomorrow at 8 a.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

According to Keith E. Kelly, assistant director of the agency, the day-long meeting will consider the agency's recent application for a $900,000 government loan and a two-year time extension to complete redevelopment.

Also to be discussed at the workshop will be 701 planning for Marin City, the relationship of Richardson Bay to community development, and the marketing of redevelopment land in Marin City.

Kelly said one-third of the loan the agency is seeking from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or $300,000 must come from local sources in the form of non-cash credits.

VD Program Set Tuesday

An informational program on venereal disease will be presented Tuesday at the College of Marin by the Bay Area Venereal Disease Association.

The program, expected to begin at about 11:30 a.m. at the college center, will include discussion groups, pamphlets and displays.

Little Leaguers In Overturned Truck Rescued

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—An alert fire lookout was credited with the rescue of 13 Little League youngsters after a truck in which they were riding overturned on a narrow mountain road.

The accident occurred Saturday during an outing near Mt. Hamilton's Lick Observatory and sparked a small brush fire in an isolated area off the main road.

"One of our lookouts spotted the blaze and reported it. A fire truck went to the scene immediately and spotted the overturned vehicle," a State Division of Forestry spokesman said. "Otherwise the wreck might not have been found for hours."

MUSIC REVIEW

List's Technique Brilliant, Sensitive

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Whether it was Eugene List's international renown, perfection of the day, or both — more than 1,000 persons turned out to hear the California-born pianist yesterday afternoon at Forest Meadows.

The second program in the Marin Music Chest's 37th annual summer series, it was dedicated to the late Mrs. Samuel Archibald, music chest president, in a brief opening speech by Mrs. John Lesoine, acting president.

List proved to be a formidable virtuoso with the brilliant technique and poetic sensitivity ideal for romantic repertoire, especially Chopin. He played with such smoothly controlled facility that the most difficult passages were executed with effortless ease, and there was no emotional romantic excess.

The order of his program was rather unusual. Instead of a crescendo leading to a dazzling tour de force as a finale, it began with three light and sparkling 18th Century compositions — "The Cuckoo" by Daquin, Scarlatti's Pastorale in D Minor and the Gigue in B Flat Minor by Graun — and ended with three piquant little pieces of the early American virtuoso pianist Gottschalk. These were "The Banana Tree," "Souvenir Of Puerto Rico" and "The Banjo."

The works of substance and depth came in the middle and included the Beethoven Sonata No. 23 in F Minor. Op. 37 (Appassionata), and Chopin's Ballade in F Minor and Sonata in B Flat Minor, Op. 25.

I was pleased that List chose none of the popular salon music by Chopin but one of the ballades, those works of epic grandeur, and the famed B Flat Minor Sonata with its emotional depth that requires a lovely singing tone as well as technical legerdemain. These Chopin pieces were the highlight of the afternoon.

For some reason the Appassionata was not one of the greatest performances I have heard of this very popular sonata. It did not have the dramatic power that one hears, for example, in a performance by Rudolf Serkin.

It was good to hear some works by an American composer, one in whom interest is growing. Gottschalk, though not a great composer, was hailed as a virtuoso pianist by Berlioz and Chopin, and he did write some valuable and delightful things apart from his sentimental program music.

For his encores List played two numbers beautifully adapted to his style — Debussy's "Fireworks" and a prelude by Shostakovich.

Mrs. Lesoine announced that anyone wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Archibald with a donation to the Music Chest's scholarship fund may send it to the chest at P.O. Box 368, Ross.

The third concert in the series will be presented by operatic bass-baritone George Shirley on Aug. 22.

Roller Coaster Fall Kills Man

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Vincent Kinley, 28, was battered to death over the weekend when he fell over the side of a speeding roller coaster car and was dragged 1,000 feet over the tracks.

Witnesses said Kinley, of suburban Sewickley stood up as the roller coaster at West View Amusement Park rounded the last curve, lost his balance and fell.

His safety belt prevented him from falling free of the car, the witnesses said.

Unemployment Rate For Vets Declines

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The unemployment rate for Vietnam era veterans aged 20 to 29 has declined from 11 per cent in February to 8.1 per cent in June.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its latest figures indicated the unemployment rate for male nonveterans in the same age group also fell, from 8.7 per cent in February to 7.8 per cent last month.

STRANGE DENIZENS OF RICHARDSON BAY

Avid anglers Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pollock of 175 Val Vista, Mill Valley, claim these as their haul in a "delightful afternoon" of fishing on Richardson Bay. "It took very little prodding with an oar to break the surface crust and get our lines into the water," declared Pollack. He identified the catch with formal, Latinized names as "Cupus plasticus," "Bikeus tubus," "Cokeus bottleus," "Garbage bagus," "Beerus canus," most prolific of all. After disserting on the life styles and edibility of the strange creatures, Pollack declared the anglers encountered "a real, live perch! He came struggling up through the murky water, spied our boat and leaped in . . . with a most grateful look. He expired shortly afterward gasping great gillsful of smog." And like any real fisherman, the Pollocks had stories about the huge "Carus tirus" and "Truckus tirus" creatures that got away.

Fatal Leap Off Span For Woman

A 22-year-old Los Altos, Santa Clara County, woman died yesterday in a leap from the Golden Gate Bridge despite efforts by her mother and two others to prevent her from jumping and then to rescue her after the lunge.

Mary Elizabeth McKeown had been depressed for some time, according to her mother, Mrs. Louis McKeown, and drove her car to the bridge at 1:55 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss McKeown parked her car near the south tower on the bridge's west side, then climbed over the railing and jumped.

A passerby, Richard Hutzler of Santa Clara, told officers he tried to prevent the leap and "came within six inches" but missed.

A 19-year-old youth, Edmond M. Nieto, of Hillsborough, San Mateo County, was fishing at fort point below the bridge and saw Miss McKeowan hit the water. "She rolled over and started swimming," Nieto told officers, so he ran for help.

Christian R. Holems, 25, of San Francisco, an aide to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District,. and on reserve duty at Fort Point, dove into the water and pulled Miss McKeown out.

He administered artificial respiration for about 10 minutes, officers said, but was unable to revive the woman.

About 90 minutes later Miss McKeown's mother called bridge officials, asking them to watch for her daughter who, the mother feared, intended to take her own life.

Tax Increase Seen In Wage Requests

The strike by Mill Valley's city employees entered its 19th day today as city officials revealed a wage and fringe benefit package requested by employees which, one councilman said, would increase the tax rate 16 cents.

Official reaction to the employees proposal was not disclosed and no counter-offer was reported. Negotiators for employees and the city set another bargaining session for tomorrow.

Councilman Jean S. Barnard said the package, which employees claim would represent a 9.3 per cent increase over wages and benefits this year, actually would be closer to 16 per cent.

Included in the six-point package, released yesterday by the city's negotiator, Industrial Employers and Distributors Association of San Francisco are:

1. A $70 per month across-the-board pay hike for all 39 striking employees.

2. Hospitalization insurance for dependents of employees, who currently are not covered.

3. A comprehensive dental insurance plan with no-deductible clause. No plan exists at present.

4. Time-and-a-half for all overtime worked for time-and-a-half compensatory time off, at the employee's option.

5. Severance pay equal to 30 days sick leave when an employee with more than seven years experience resigns.

6. Additional vacation time equal to one extra week through five years of service and two weeks thereafter.

Striking employees, members of the Mill Valley Employees Association, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, claim the package will cost the city an additional 9.3 per cent.

They said the city's negotiator has offered them $29,000 for wage and benefit increases, while they are asking for $40,000.

The employees said points four, five and six were included in the package because they will not cost the city anything.

Points four and six will not cost anything, they said, because employees who take compensatory time or a vacation are not replaced, the work load merely being taken up by other employees. The result is a decrease in the level of services provided by the city but not an increase in money paid out.

Employees said the severance pay will not add to the cost to the city because a person hired to replace an employee with seven years experience will start on a lower pay scale, and the difference in pay between the retiring employee and the new one would absorb the severance pay.

The city's position, according to Mrs. Barnard, is that those points will cost about 7 per cent, bringing the package to 16 per cent or 16 cents on the property tax rate.

Employees and the city's negotiator met Saturday and Sunday, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham. Another negotiating session is set for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The employees, excluding police and firemen, have been on strike since July 1.

Principal On Agenda In Fairfax

Fairfax School District board may decide on a new principal for Central School at its meeting at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at the district office at 58 Park Road.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond is expected to make a recommendation to trustees based upon the applications reviewed by an eight-member committee of parents and teachers.

Although a vacancy at Central School exists, the board has been looking for an applicant who would be eligible to serve as head of any of the district's four schools.

The top post at Central was vacated when principal James D. Franklin was transferred, at his request, to White Hill School. That principalship became available when Thomas J. Kelly was reassigned to a teaching post.

Also on the agenda will be approval of a publication budget of $1,119,119. Trustees have set a hearing on the budget for 7:45 p.m. Aug. 3 at the district office.

Apartment Plan Is Due Review

The Corte Madera Town Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall, will review a proposed 121-unit apartment development for the unannexed island of land on Tamal Vista Boulevard.

Proposed by Charles D. Parmelee, the development has been the center of controversy since the development was first proposed to the county.

Nearby residents have complained it will increase traffic and sewage and will not fit in with the surrounding neighborhood.

$27,000 In Damages At House Fire

A pre-dawn explosion and fire at a Sleepy Hollow residence today did $27,000 damage to property and personal possessions, San Anselmo firemen reported.

The fire at the residence of John H. Ballard, of 9 Irving Drive, was reported at 1:59 a.m. The blaze completely destroyed the garage and a substantial section of Ballard's roof, firemen said.

Damage has been set at $20,000 to the house and garage and $7,000 to the contents. Ballard's automobile was in the garage at the time of the explosion, firemen reported.

None of the occupants was injured in the blaze, firemen said, but one of the firemen suffered a sprained ankle.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

Leather tanning thrived among the ancient Egyptians.

Body Of Belvedere Girl Found In Canyon

I-J Special Report

YOSEMITE — The body of 19-year-old Mary Hoefer of Belvedere has been found in Illiloquette Canyon where she apparently died from exposure after getting lost on a hiking trip.

Miss Hoefer, the daughter of advertising executive John H. Hoefer, had been missing since May 22.

Park Ranger Lew Albert said an autopsy indicated there was no foul play involved and the girl apparently died of exposure.

Her body was found last week at the foot of a cliff, southeast of the main park headquarters; but was not identified until Saturday, park officials said.

"There were no broken bones and we have just about ruled out that she fell," Albert said.

Miss Hoefer, a pretty sophomore at the University of California at Berkeley had been working as a desk clerk at Yosemite Lodge for the summer.

Her disappearance brought about a massive search of the park for more than a week without results.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hoefer, live at 32 Peninsula Road. He is board chairman of the San Francisco advertising firm of Hoefer, Dietrick and Brown Inc.

A private family memorial service will be held at the family home in Belvedere.

Livestock Prize Winners Announced

Youth Panel To Eye Rock Concert

A rock concert to raise funds for fighting drug addiction will be discussed by the Marin County Youth Commission tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 332 at the Civic Center.

The suggestion for the benefit rock concert came from Fred W. Mayer of the Marin Human Rights Commission and former member of the youth commission.

Youth commissioners will also interview any youth interested in an appointment to the commission. Vacancies exist in youth representation from District 4 (West Marin) and District 5 (North Marin).

The composition of the youth commission was changed last month to 10 youths and two adults, instead of seven youths and four adults.

Marin Education Panel To Review Career Program

The Marin County Board of Education, meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the county schools office in Corte Madera, will review its career education program.

The year-old program, created to give vocational training to the unemployable and students interested in learning a skill, has been termed a success by those involved.

It is made up of about eight two-year training programs in such fields as mechanics and business office skills.

Other items on the agenda include an inspection report on child care centers and changes in job descriptions for classified personnel.

Sausalito Liquor Store Burglarized; City Blamed

A Sausalito liquor store was burglarized last night by a thief who pried open a back door, but the real culprit, an owner of the store charged today, is the city administration.

William J. Thompson, who with his son Mark, owns the Charlie Noble Liquor and Tobacco Store at 707 Bridgeway, said he has been trying for more than a year to obtain permission from the city to put an iron gate between the building housing the store and the Excelsior Lane steps, but has been turned down by city officials.

"The Wells Fargo Bank has such a gate on the other side of the stairs," Thompson said, "but I was told by planning director H. Eric Borgwardt that I couldn't build one because the area beside my building was a public thoroughfare."

Thompson also criticized the city for failing to light the street lights on the stairs, saying he has been trying to have them lighted for a year. "I think lighting would act as a deterrent to this type of crime," he said.

Thompson said about $500 was taken from a cash register sometime after the store closed at 11 p.m.

Borgwardt said today he had never told Thompson he could not build the gate in question, but had recommended the owner submit a proposal to the Sausalito Community Appearance Board which has jurisdiction in such matters. But a formal proposal was never submitted to the CAB.

Salary Hikes To Be Studied

The Kentfield School District board, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School, is expected to consider salary hikes for its employees.

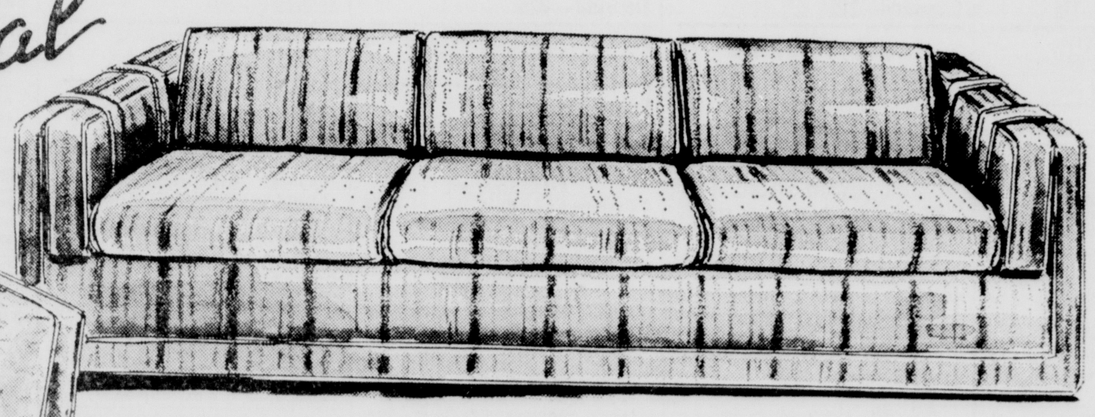

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said negotiations between the district and employee groups have concluded. The results will be presented to the board, meeting first in closed session.

Employees have asked for 9 per cent increases which would add about $100,000 to the district's budget for fiscal 1971-72.

Sales Career
Opportunities
in Marin & San Francisco
Counties
The continued growth and acceptance of our office copying equipment makes SCM a leader in its field, with an excellent sales record. We must expand our sales staff in order to meet the current and anticipated demand. Therefore, the men we seek:
- are not looking for a job but for a future
- will be assigned a protected territory calling on established accounts on a professional basis.
- will go through our special sales training program designed to prepare them for early managerial assignments.
- will be given a liberal draw against commissions resulting in a five-figure income for reasonable performance.
- will have a stable, progressive background - not necessarily in sales - a need for higher income and great urge to get ahead in a growing industry.

Dramatic Estate

Through the rock pillar entry and up the private drive to the top of the knoll and the magnificent 1½ acre estate setting for this 10 room family home. The grounds are covered with mature specimen plantings from Avocado fruit trees to Bird-of-Paradise and Rhododendrons, designed and sprinklered for minimum maintenance. The home has been redecorated to reflect the charm and character of original construction with the convenience of a completely remodeled kitchen and 4 modern baths. The grandeur of the living room with its portly vistas, plush carpeting, the large formal dining room, the upstairs library, the delightful breakfast room and the oversized master suite are rivaled only by the setting. There are 3 additional bedrooms and a full basement for laundry, workshop and storage. For your outdoor living and entertaining, the park-like grounds surround a covered barbecue and outdoor dining area and, lest we forget, the 42 foot heated and filtered Paddock pool, secluded for that discreet midnight swim. If you wish your children to grow up in a home that exudes the warmth and charm of gracious living, then you must see this.

INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Sealed bids will be received at the office of Marin Municipal Water District, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California 94925, until 9:00 A.M., Tues., July 27, 1971, at which time they will be opened and read in the Board of Directors room by the Secretary or her designated representative for the furnishing and installation of approximately 1,500 lineal feet of 34", 24", 18" and 12" water pipe and appurtenances.

The general prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which work is to be performed has been ascertained by the District and published under the provisions of Section 1773 of the California Labor Code.

Copies of the prevailing wage rates are on file in the office of the Secretary of the District at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, and in the office of the Marin County Clerk, and are available upon request from the Secretary at the above address and also from the Marin County Department of Public Works, Civic Center, Room 304, San Rafael, California.

Sundays and holidays shall not be less than two (2) times the above rates. The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman employed on the project.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Proposals will be considered for the complete job only. The proposal must be submitted on the form provided and must be accompanied by a Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond as a guarantee that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bonds as required by these specifications. The Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond shall be not less than ten (10) percent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Proposals must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the attention of Mrs. Norma L. Smith, Secretary, with the words "Proposal for Ross Reservoir-Ross Line, Phase 2" clearly marked on the outside of the envelope.

Specifications may be obtained at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, the office of the District. The $25.00 deposit required for each set of specifications will be refunded when specifications are returned to the District. It is requested that those Contractors wishing a Water District representative to accompany them on their first visit to the site of the work, notify the District sufficiently in advance so that necessary arrangements may be made.

Progress payments will be made.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF
CALIFORNIA
RESOLUTION NO. 71-175
RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ORDERING A HEARING ON THE DESIGNATION OF A PORTION OF SIR FRANCIS DRAKE BOULEVARD AS AN UNDERGROUND UTILITY DISTRICT

BE IT RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors, pursuant to the provisions of Section 13.52.020 of the Marin County Code, hereby orders a hearing to ascertain whether the public necessity, health, safety and welfare require that the portion of said County road shown on Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof by reference, should be declared an Underground Utility District subject to the provisions of Chapter 13.52 of said Code. In order that all poles, overhead wires, appurtenances and structures on or adjacent to said road may be removed and placed underground;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors hereby orders a hearing to ascertain whether the existing Underground Utility District No. 2 established by Resolution No. 9742 approved on June 18, 1968 and shown on EXHIBIT "B" attached hereto and made a part hereof by reference should be dissolved and replaced by a portion of the proposed Underground Utility District shown on said EXHIBIT "A".

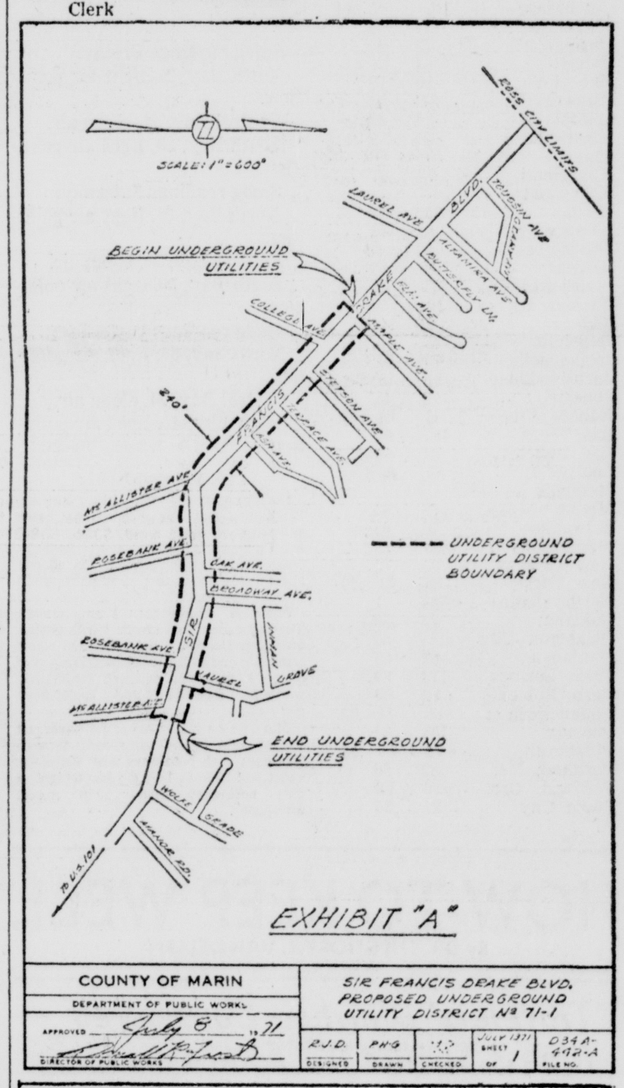

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Tuesday July 27, 1971, 1:45 P.M., at the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place for said hearings;

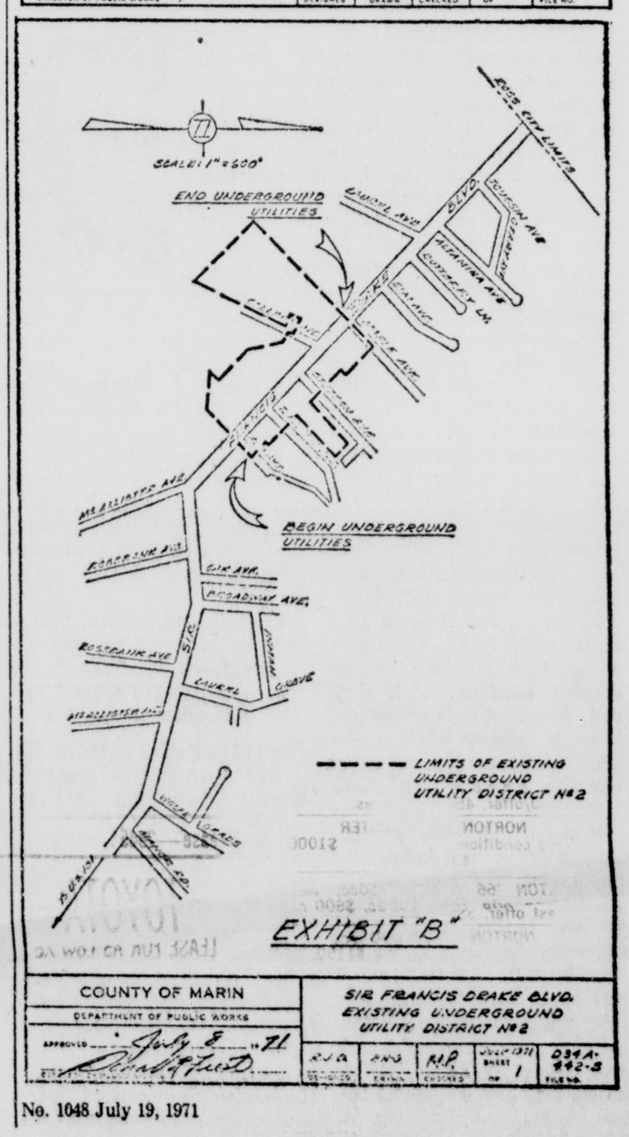

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Clerk of this Board be, and he is, hereby directed to give notice of said hearing by mailing a copy of said resolution to all affected property owners as shown on the last equalized assessment roll and utilities concerned, at least ten (10) days prior to the date of said hearing.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Clerk of this Board be, and he is, hereby directed to give notice to said hearing by publication of the within resolution once in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published within the County of Marin, at least seven (7) days prior to the date of said hearing.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, held on the 13th day of July 1971, by the following vote:

FORECAST: HOTTER THAN USUAL

The U.S. National Weather Service has forecast higher temperatures than normal for the 30-day period of mid-July to mid-August. The service, in its weather charts shown above, sees precipitation below normal for the period. That will be impossible in San Rafael's case, since last year at this time Marin was experiencing a months-long lack of precipitation that lasted from June through October. The forecast indicates temperatures throughout the West will be hotter than usual for mid-summer. Last year San Rafael weather observers noted lows of 53 and highs of 82 with an average of 67.8 in mid-July; lows of 51 and highs of 80 with an average of 65.9 degrees were recorded for the first half of August.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Travelers' Diarrhea Considered Illness Similar To Food Poisoning

TRAVELERS' diarrhea occurs in many part of the world but is most common in tropical climes and in remote places where hygiene and sanitation are poor. Anyone touring these areas should eat only peeled or cooked foods. Avoid local water unless it is boiled or chemically treated. This applies also to the water used in brushing teeth and in ice cubes. Beer is safe but soft drinks, including soda, may be contaminated. Doctors disagree as to the usefulness of antibacterial drugs to prevent the diarrhea. This is understandable because the cause is unknown.

FOR MANY YEARS, we have recommended a daily dose of sulfathalidine, a sulfa product that is poorly absorbed and remains in the intestine. To this regimen, we add an amebicide, such as Diodoquin or Entero-Vioform. Whether these prophlactics are effective is a moot question because many people not exposed to the infectious agents are likely to give them credit. And — those who do not take a preventive and develop diarrhea, wish they had. We do not push prophylaxis but if someone wants a preventive, moderately safe and effective products are available.

If diarrhea develops, paregoric and drugs, such as Lomotil, Kaomagma, or Polymagma are beneficial. When the condition persists, antibiotics may be necessary. Severe diarrhea (especially with the passage of blood) calls for a stool analysis.

Several years ago a woman traveling through Spain developed dysentery. She blamed turista and waited a month before seeing her physician. A thorough examination (including X-rays) revealed a cancer of the large intestine. It was a tragic coincidence.

Researchers have tried to pin down the cause of traveler's diarrhea. No specific microbe can be blamed and the causative agent probably varies from one locale to another. Turista should be regarded as a form of food poisoning which has many origins, even in hygienic communities.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

THE LIVER AND JAUNDICE

R. P. writes: Is jaundice present in all forms of liver disease?

REPLY

No. Jaundice develops only when bile pigments accumulate in the blood and reach a level high enough to stain the tissues yellow, including the skin and whites of the eyes. This manifestation occurs rapidly in some forms of liver disease and slowly or not at all in other forms. It also develops in certain types of anemia due to blood destruction.

SECTION A
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Bid No. 329
(Advertisement)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the San Rafael School District of Marin County will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for the construction of a music building and Davidson Middle School.

Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with Richard C. Marshall, Chester Bowles, Jr., Architects, A.I.A., 1045 Sansome Street, San Francisco, California where the same may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars per set, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within five days after bids are opened.

Each bid shall be made on a form to be supplied by the Architect, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in the amount of 10% of the total contract price made payable to the order of the San Rafael Clerk of the Board whose address will be Third and E. Streets, San Rafael, California, prior to 4:00 P.M. July 26, 1971 at which time they will be publicly opened and declared.

The above mentioned check will be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be retained by the District as agreed and liquidated damages if the successful bidder fails or refuses to enter into said contract or to furnish the necessary bonds after being requested to do so by the Board of Education of the San Rafael School District.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price in accordance with the contract documents.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, the Board of Education of the San Rafael School District has ascertained the prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

Eight hours shall constitute a work day unless otherwise specified on the union scale. The hourly wage rate prescribed is the per diem rate divided by the aforementioned number of hours constituting a work day.

The wage scale referred to hereinabove is on file at the District office.

The Board of Education of the San Rafael School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids or any alternate or unit price and/or waive any informality or irregularity in any bid received.

There shall be no discrimination because of race, color, creed or political affiliation in the employment of persons for work under this contract.

Giants Win, Lose And Gain A Game

L.A. Drops Twin Bill To Pirates

ATLANTA (UPI) —The San Francisco Giants would have liked to have won both games of Sunday's doubleheader, but they're not complaining too loudly.

While the Giants lost the second game of a twinbill against Atlanta, 4-2, after taking the opener, 5-4, their closest competitor in the National League West — the Los Angeles Dodgers — dropped both ends of a two-game set with Pittsburgh.

Riding on that comfortable margin, San Francisco ends a three-game series tonight against the Braves before continuing the road tour with three contests against the Pirates.

The Giants struggled to the first game win Sunday with Dick Dietz' 12th homer of the season with two outs in the 12th inning. Four Giant relievers—Rich Robertson, Steve Hamilton. Don McMahon and Jerry Johnson — retired the last 19 Braves in order. Johnson, now 9-4, got the win.

The Giants' only runs in the second game came in the sixth on a two-run homer by Willie Mays, his 15th of the season and 643rd of his career.

SECOND STRAIGHT WIN

Donohue Is Out To Unseat Unser

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (UPI)—Mark Donohue, a relatively inactive driver on the U. S. Auto Club circuit thus far, says he's out to unseat defending USAC champ Al Unser, who is currently leading the pack.

The 34-year-old Media, Pa., driver issued the challenge Sunday following his second championship win in two weeks —an easy victory in the first half of a "doubleheader" at the Michigan International Speedway.

Honors in the second event of the Michigan Twin 200 —the stock car competition —went to Roger McCluskey, who also finished third in the championship round, and in so doing won almost as much money as Donohue.

Donohue easily outran his 26 challengers in his Sunoco-McLaren Special at an average speed of 144.898 miles per hour in a race slowed by mechanical failtures and minor accident.

Only 10 cars finished the 200-mile race, and of that number, only two — runnersup Billy Vuvovich and McCluskey — finished in the same lap as Donohue.

Pole position starter Bobby Unser was one of the first to drop out when his engine failed as he was running a tight second on the 36th lap. Al Unser, the No. 4 starter, left the field earlier with a broken turbocharger and No. 3 starter Mario Andretti lost five laps a short while later when he spun out of control in an oil slick created by one of the race's three minor accidents.

For Donohue, who has now won the last five races he has entered —three of them Trans-Americans—it was just a matter of keeping his car in running order. With only 10 miles to go he held a one-mile lead but "it kept going through my mind that something just had to go wrong and take the race away from me," he told newsmen afterwards.

Donohue has only entered three of the eight USAC races so far but won two of them to gain a No. 4 ranking in the pack with 1,520 points. He trails Vukovich, who has 1,530 points, Joe Leonard, who has 1,550 points, and Al Unser, who has 2,200.

Donohue earned $14,950 for his day's work Sunday, compared with McCluskey's total take of $11,200.

McCluskey, fastest qualifier for the stock car event with a speed of 160.178 miles per hour, grabbed the lead in his Plymouth Superbird on the first lap and thereafter lost it only on the two occasions he made pit stops for fuel.

Rosewall Victor In Star Net

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Veteran Ken Rosewall, who had complained it was hard to play a controlled game on the clay court here, mustered enough control to win the $50,000 Washington Star International tennis tournament Sunday.

The 36-year-old Aussie won three straight sets against Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-2, 7-5, 6-1, serving four aces in the third set.

The 5-foot-7-inch Rosewall advanced to the finals after upsetting No. 2 seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., on Saturday.

Following the match against Rosewall, Smith said, "He (Rosewall) makes a person work so hard that every time I hold my serve I feel like I've won the match."

Riessen had scored an upset himself Saturday when he defeated No. 1 seeded John Newcombe of Australia.

Before the final match, Riessen said, "I would rather play Smith. Rosewall's a clay court genius. He's hard to attack and he lobs very well."

Riessen added that he had two victories over Rosewall "in about eight or 10 career matches," but said Rosewall had never beaten him in a final.

That distinction came to an end Sunday when Rosewall kept Riessen on the run throughout the match and lived up to Riessen's expectations by always being where Riessen hit the ball.

WESTERN OPEN

Crampton Had The Feeling

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bruce Crampton "had the feeling all week"that it was his turn to win, so he was a relaxed victor in the $150,000 Western Open Sunday.

"Nobody wins," he said, "without some super super breaks, and when you start holing the long putts, chipping in from the fringe, and getting up and down out of the traps, you get the feeling it's your turn to win."

But with the breaks—and Crampton, scoring his first victory of the year, made his own at times—the 35-year-old Australian stood off the challenge of both Bobby Nichols and Dick Lotz to win the $30,000 top prize with a five under par 279.

He scored a par 71 on his last round and Nichols, who started the final round in a tie with him, slipped to a 73 for second money of $17,100 with a 281 total.

Jerry Heard and Tommy Aaron each had 282 to earn $8,850, and Lotz, though he was tied with both Nichols and Crampton for the lead with 17 holes to play, couldn't keep pace and bogeyed the final green to slip into fifth place at 283, earning $6,150.

Only these five players were able to better par of 284 for four rounds on the 6,749 yard Olympia Fields North course, which Carmpton declared was "of National Open caliber."

Crampton, who hit the fairway only once on the back nine, said that was further support of his theory that this was his week to win.

"I'm only lucky enough to win one tournament a year," he said, "so I take it when it comes. It was not the way I'd liked to have hit the ball. I didn't play too many holes out of the storybook."

But Crampton never was worse than five under par on the final round and he took only 31 putts. After seven holes, when he dropped a 5-foot birdie putt, he was six under par, after eight, with a 12 footer for a birdie, he was seven under, and when he hit his approach into a trap on the 9th hole to bogey, he still was six under and had a two shot lead on Lotz and four on Nichols.

From there on, they ran into trouble frequently while he posted only one bogey, whenhe hit into the woods on the 12th hole.

"I was very concerned," Crompton said. "I didn't relax until Nichols came up short on his second shot on the last hole."

Nicholas failure then gave Crampton the championship, which qualfied him for the fourth berth in the World Series of golf, with its $50,000 top prize, against U.S. Canadian and British Open champion Lee Trevino, PGA champion Jack Nicklaus, and Masters winner Charles Coody.

It was Crampton's first win in 13 tries at the Western Open, but the victory made him the third highest money winner from the tournament. His best previous finish was a tie for fifth in 1966.

The victory boosted Crampton's 1971 earnings to $85,106, moving him into the golf tour's top 10. Last year he finished third in earnings with more than $142,000.

DOBSON GOES TODAY

Slam Wipes Out Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Brooks Robinson would have been satisfied with a sacrifice fly but instead he hit a grand slam home run.

Robinson's smash off John Odom keyed a seven-run fifth inning Sunday that carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-3 win over the Oakland Athletics in a battle of the division leaders in the American League.

That left western division leader Oakland with a 4-3 edge in the series with the Orioles. But neither manager, Dick Williams of the A's or Earl Weaver of the Orioles, regard their games against each other as very important at this stage of the season.

"We haven't been able to use our entire starting lineup because of injuries," said Weaver, "so whatever victory we pick up is a bonus. However, Oakland is without Reggie Jackson so that may even things up."

Baltimore lost relief pitcher Ed Watt with a broken left hand and outfielder Frank Robinson with an injured left hip against the California Angels Saturday night. Righthander Orlando Pena was purchased from the Orioles farm at Rochester to replace Watt while Robinson, 36, missed Sunday's game but is expected back soon.

Williams said Jackson has been running off his charley horse and may return to action as early as this afternoon in the finale of the two-game miniseries with the Orioles. Diego Segui (6-3) of Oakland goes against Pat Dobson (11-4) in the finale. Dobson has won eight in a row.

Noting that neither the Orioles or A's saved their top pitchers for the current series, Williams said thy were "just a couple of more games."

"It was a ballgame we tried to win," he said of Sunday's loss. "But it got out of hand in the fifth inning. I noticed Odom wasn't throwing as well in that inning as he did earlier but Robinson could have hit into a double play instead of hitting a homer."

Robinson, who got only a couple of hours of sleep Sunday morning because of a fever and nausea from something he ate, had tea and toast for breakfast and began feeling better. He told Weaver he'd give it a try.

Robinson came up in the fifth inning with the bases loaded and one out after Odom hit Marv Rettenmund to force in the tying run.

"I would have settled for a

Nicklaus' Mark Tied By Miller

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Allen Miller didn't think there was much chance to win his thrid straight Trans-Mississippi Golf Chamionship when he was four down with 12 holes left to play.

But the 22-year-old University of Georgia student struggled back Sunday to defeat Alan Tapie of Downey, Calif., 3 and 1 to become the first man since Jack Nicklaus to win more than two Trans-Miss titles in a row.

"This is like a dream come true —to win this tournament three years in a row," said Miller, of Pensacola, Fla., who plans to turn professional on his birthday Aug. 10.

Tapie, 22, co-captain of the University of Southern California golf team, had trouble with his tee shots on the rugged 6,795-yard par 72 Spyglass Hill course after building up a lead in the 36-hole finals match.

Will S.F. Lose The Warriors?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The question of whether the San Francisco Warriors will play half their home National Basketball Association games in San Diego can only be answered by Warriors owner Franklin Mieuli—and he isn't talking.

But Warriors general manager Bob Feerick Sunday dismissed a report by the San Diego Evening Tribune that the Warriors would split their home games between San Diego and Oakland as "speculation."

"I don't know, and if I did, I couldn't tell you," Feerick said.

According to a copyrighted story Saturday by Phil Norman, the Warriors have agreed to play 20 games in the San Diego International Sports Arena and the other home games in what was described as Oakland Pacific Auditorium.

SUNSHINE FOR EWBANK

Namath Reports On Time

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

A little bit of sunshine finally has burst into Weeb Ewbank's life.

Ewbank, the general manager and coach of the New York Jets, has had his problems this past winter with wide receiver George Sauer retiring prematurely at age 27 and defensive end Verlon Biggs playing out his option and signing with Washington.

But Ewbank had something to smile about Sunday when quarterback Joe Namath reported to camp on schedule for the first time in three years. Namath, out for the last 10 games of the 1970 season with a broken bone in his wrist, was late before the 1969 season because of a controversy surrounding his restaurant and came in late before last season after contemplating retiring for a movie career.

But he seemed anxious to go Sunday and even participated in a light 20-minute drill and pronounced his hand fit for duty. "It hurts at times, but I don't expect it to affect my throwing," said Namath. "The idea is to shut the pain out of my mind. When you're out there throwing in a game, there are so many things on your mind, you don't think of the pain. If it weren't so, I'd be thinking of my knees for the last six years."

Namath says his attitude is changed from last year's training camp. "Last year I didn't want to play and this year I do," he said. "I was away from a game I didn't want to be away from. When you dedicate yourself to a goal and it's taken away from you, you're going to miss it."

Namath said he doubted that Sauer, one of the league's top receivers would change his attitude about retiring but added that Richard Caster, a second-year man from Jackson State, might learn to be an adequate replacement with experience.

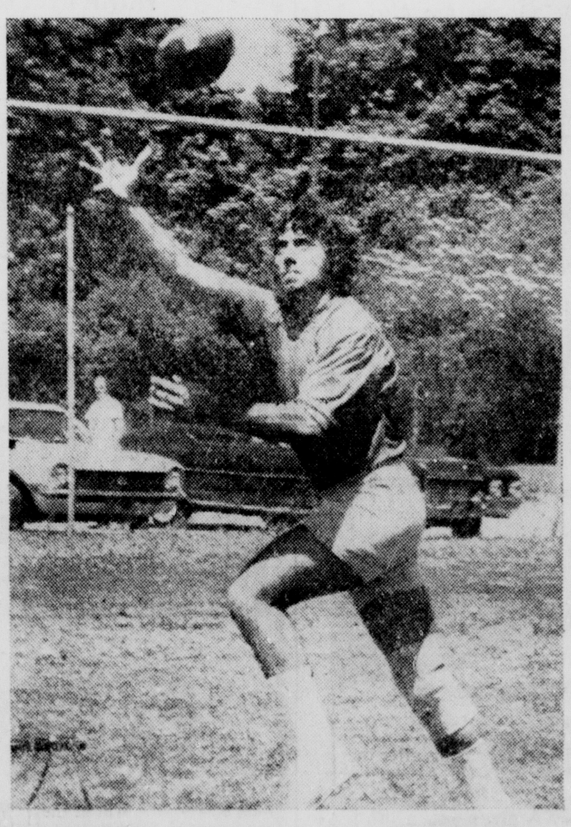

The Jets also announced the signing of two free agents, defensive lineman Doug Chatman of Jackson State and wide receiver Herman Carter of Eastern Kentucky.

Elsewhere in the training camps, Greg Jones rejoined the Buffalo Bills' camp after being hospialized for a day for observation of a head injury. The Bills dropped four players — Mike Bennett of Missouri, Terris Harris of Arkansas AM&N, Joe Whalen of St. Joseph's (Ind.) and Ralph Sontag of Maryland.

Paul Brown ran his Cincinnati Bengals through a rare Sunday double workout as the club's 44 veterans joined 16 rookies in camp. Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich ran his club through a mile run Sunday and Houston sent running back Roy Hopkins o Houston for a check-up on a knee injury that may require surgery.

The Pittsburgh Steelers dropped three players to reduce their roster to 57. Cut from the squad were Joe Spagnola, a quarterback who led Arizona State to an 11-0 season last year, Bill Glass of Memphis State and Ira Glass of Louisville.

RECEIVING A PASS? — New York Jet quarterback Joe Namath, instead of throwing (or making) this pass, is on the receiving end as he reaches to snare this toss during a workout session at Hofstra College in New York. Namath was forced to sit out a big part of last season with a fractured wrist. (UPI Telephoto)

SO NEAR BUT YET SO FAR — A dejected Pittsburgh Pirate moundsman, Luke Walker, looked away in dejection after his first pitch of the ninth inning had been slammed into the stands for a home run by Los Angeles Dodger Joe Ferguson, ruining Walker's bid for a no-hit game. Third base umpire Nick Colosi signaled the home run, as Buc catcher Milt May is in foreground.

Lightly Used Starter Pitches A One-Hitter

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mike Kekich calls his job the toughest on the team but he made it seem easy Sunday.

Kekich, a lightly-used starter, gave up one hit —a home run to Mike Andrews in the fifth inning —as the New York Yankees beat the Chicago White Sox 6-1 to complete a doubleheader sweep. The Yankees won the opener 3-2 on Ron Swoboda's two-out, run scoring single in the ninth.

"Being a fifth starter on a club is the toughest job on the team except maybe for the guy who pinch-hits," said Kekich, who failed to complete any of his 10 previous starts this season. "If you have a couple of rainouts, you miss your turn. I figure if I pitched regularly I might be like this all the time."

It was the second career one-hitter for Kekich, who had one with Los Angeles against the New York Mets in 1968. Oddly, Swoboda, who won the first game for the Yankees, ruined Kekich's no-hit bid that day.

Roy White had a two-run homer and a double to spark the Yankees in the second game.

Swoboda's hit in the first game capped a three-run rally. The White Sox led 2-0 entering the ninth when Horace Clarke and Felipe Alou singled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Bobby Murcer's single. Murcer stole second and scored the winning run on Swoboda's hit.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore beat Oakland 7-3, Milwaukee edged Boston 5-4, Kansas City swept Detroit 8-2 and 4-3, California downed Cleveland 3-1 and Washington shaded Minnesota 3-2.

Andy Kosco knocked in two runs with a sixth-inning homer and a ninth-inning single to lead Milwaukee over Boston and snap the Red Sox' four-game winning streak. Rico Petrocelli and George Scott had homers for the Red Sox.

Lou Piniella smashed a three-run homer and Fred Patek chipped in with an inside-the-park blast to spark Kansas City's first game victory and Gail Hopkins' 10th inning single gave the Royals a triumph in the second game.

Piniella's homer, his first of the season, capped a four-run first inning in the opener, which was protested by both managers. Detroit's Billy Martin said his pitcher wasn't given ample time to warm up after a long rain delay and the Royals' Bob Lemon accused Martin of stalling tactics.

Sohner Captures Tourney

A red-hot Sohner Tree Service softball team ran its winning streak to 15 yesterday, as the San Anselmo club captured the Petaluma Invitational Tournament with a perfect 4-0 record.

The Sohner team relied heavily on first inning rallies in all three of its weekend victories, especially in the championship game, where Sohner scored twice in the first frame on the way to a 3-2 win.

Suburban Auto pitcher Ron McChesney gave up only two hits, but one of them was a first-inning, game-winning home run which dealt Suburban a 1-0 loss and eliminated the local team.

Not Even A One-Hitter Can Convince Murtaugh

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Pittsburgh Pirates are going so well that even a one-hitter can't get Luke Walker back into their starting rotation.

Walker, who hadn't pitched since June 29th when he was shunted off to the bullpen and seemingly got lost, was given a chance to start Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader only because the Pirates are in a tough stretch of 13 games in 11 days.

Walker pitched a one-hitter to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-1, and complete a doubleheader sweep — that stretched the Pirates' winning streak to 11 games and their National League East margin to 11 1-2 games.

But don't think that one-hitter is going to get Walker back into the rotation. When your team is that far ahead, you can afford to be selective and Manager Danny Murtaugh isn't convinced Walker is sound. Maybe a no-hitter would have convinced him.

Murtaugh said, "Walker pitched a good game but he's still in limbo as far as I'm concerned. He was taken out of the rotation because I thought he had a sore arm. He denied it but I don't think he was telling the truth. Today he showed signs of throwing like he can but I'm still not completely convinced."

Regardless of whether or not he had a sore arm, Walker had a 3-7 mark when he was taken out of the rotation and no major league pitcher should have that kind of record with the Pirates hitting behind him. But Walker didn't need the hitting support Sunday because he didn't allow a hit until catcher Joe Ferguson led off the ninth with his first major league homer.

Walker, who admitted his arm "tightened up" in the last three innings, said, "I'd rather lose a no-hitter on a solid shot than on a fluke single someplace." Ferguson, who wears No. 13, said his number is "unlucky for the pitchers" and it proved unlucky for Walker.

The doubleheader attracted 48,230 fans, the largest crowd yet in the new Pittsburgh park, and it was encouraging for the Pirates since they haven't been drawing well despite their success. The fans would have seen the first no-hitter ever in Pittsburgh if Walker had done it.

In other games, San Francisco beat Atlanta, 5-4, in 12 innings but lost the second game, 4-2, St. Louis downed New York, 8-5, Cincinnati beat San Diego, 3-0, in the first game of a double-header that was rained out in the last of the sixth, Chicago topped Montreal, 8-4, and Philadelphia blanked Houston, 1-0, in the first game but lost the second game, 10-7.

Ross Grimsley pitched three-hit ball for six innings to give Cincinnati the victory over San Diego before the contest was curtailed by rain.

Joe Torre's three-run double climaxed a six-run seventh inning that carried the Cardinals past the slumping Mets. New York has now lost 14 of its last 16 games.

Rookie Ray Newman hurled five perfect innings of relief to gain his first major league triumph as Chicago downed Montreal. The Cubs had a 17-hit attack with Billy Williams, Jim Hickman and Brock Davis collecting three each.

Rookie Ken Reynolds pitched a three-hitter to hand Philadelphia the victory over Houston in the first game. But Doug Rader paced Houston to the second game victory as he started a four-run rally with a single in the second and capped a three-run spree with a two-run triple in the fourth.

On Base Any Way

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Pitcher Chris Short of the Phillies led the National League in an odd category in 1970. Short was awarded first base three different occasions during the season because of catcher interference. Tommy Helms and Pete Rose of the Reds got first base twice in the same way.

sacrifice fly," said the All Star third baseman and 1970 World Series hero. "But Odom's first pitch was a fastball right over the plate and I couldn't pass it up."

He drilled the ball some 425 yards into the leftfield seats for his first grand slam of the season and fifth of his career.

Eleven Orioles batted in the inning. Clay Dalrymple walked to start things and then pitcher Grant Jackson was safe on an error by first baseman Mike Epstein. That play opened the flood gates.

"The ball hit me in the ankle as I was trying to call off Odom," said Epstein.

THE END OF AN ERA

Pele, the world's greatest soccer player, held aloft his No. 10 jersey yesterday, and broke into the "Olympic Run" around the Stadium in Rio de Janeiro, after leaving the game between the Brazilian National team and the Yugoslav Nationals. The game ended in a 2-2 tie; more important, this was Pele's last appearance with the all-star team. At age 30, Pele is retiring from international competition.

Ali Goes Down; Was He Kidding?

HOUSTON (UPI) —Muhammad Ali went down three times in his final two rounds of sparring Sunday, but the question today was whether he was knocked down or was faking.

Angelo Dundee, who has trained Ali until he began preparing for this fight, said Ali was on the canvas 28 times during his training career, but only four were legitimate knockdowns. Two of the four were by Jimmy Ellis, whom he fights in a 12-rounder in the Astrodome next Monday night, and the other two were by Chip Johnson and Blue Lewis.

"When he was going to go down, he would switch from the Ali Shuffle to the Ali Swivel," Dundee said, putting one foot out to feel around the canvas and turning in a swivel motion. He was looking for a soft spot to fall."

Ali, who opened Sunday with eight rounds on the heavy and speed bags and sparred two rounds with Alonso Johnson, went down the first time this workout when Eddie Brooks hit him with an overhand right near the end of their first round.

Then, he went down again after Brooks hit him with a short right early in the second round. He was knocked down the third time by a solid left hook to the chin Midway through the second round.

Trainer Harry Wiley stopped the workout and the groggy Ali complained of a headache. Dundee said it was the first time Ali had ever ended a workout early.

"Brooks told me he hit him with a good right," Dundee said. "I don't know, I didn't see the workout. I don't feel I should watch him now that I am on the other side."

While Ali was waiting for aspirin for his headache, a young man selling pictures of Ali to the crowd of 977 at the workout, ran into the dressing room and said excitedly:

"They sure fell for it."

He didn't see the reporter in the room, and Ali's handlers hustled the young man out and talked to him before the reporter could question him.

'Magic' Sweeps In Twin Bill

Gary Nelson collected six hits and Mike Spezzi got four yesterday, as Holiday Magic of San Rafael swept a doubleheader from San Marin by 7-4 and 14-3 scores, highlighting Joe DiMaggio Baseball League action over the weekend.

In other games, Toby's Truckers pounded the Italian Club 8-1, and Drake rolled over Healdsburg 12-6.

Toby's Truckers got solid help at the plate from Kevin Keating, who got four hits, Tom Olson, who had two including a first inning triple, and Vince Bormolini, who collected a double and a single.

Olson went all the way on the mound for the Truckers, and only allowed three hits, while striking out 14.

John Loane blasted two home runs and Ken Zapponi added another as Drake blasted Healdsburg. Al Curtiss added a double and a single to add to Pirate scoring.

Ethiopian Distance Star In Courageous Comeback

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI)— Mius Ifter, a small Ethiopian soldier, is probably the only person to establish himself as a track star by losing an event.

But Ifter, a relative newcomer to international competition, proved Saturday that he could also win. And though the 34,000 spectators at the Pan Africa-United States International track meet here cheered Ifter Friday when he lost the 5,000 meter race because of a judgment error, they gave him a far more resounding ovation when he won the 10,000 meter race Saturday.

The young palace guard's couragous comeback by far overshadowed the fact that the American competitors won the meet in point standings and the U. S. women's mile relay team set a new world record with a 3:38.7, a tenth of a second faster than the previous mark, and made Ifter the unquestioned hero of the meet.

The story began Friday when Ifter had finished almost 11 laps of the 12 lap 5,000 meter race. Ifter, who speaks only Amharic, mistook the gun fired to signal the final lap as the signal for the end of the race, and passed American record holder Steve Prefontaine in a final burst of speed that took him over the finish line and off the field.

By the time he realized that he had miscounted the number of laps, Prefontaine had won the race.

Petty First At Trenton

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)— Richard Petty is $6,600 closer to becoming stock car racing's first million dollar driver.

The 34-year-old driver from Randleman, S.C., took the $6,600 first prize Sunday and boosted his career earnings to $994,558 by winning the Trenton 300.

Petty's 21-second victory over teammate Buddy Baker gave him a sweep of NASCAR's three-race Northern series. At the end, Petty and Baker, who drove a borrowed Dodge instead of a car for the Petty team, were the only drivers on the same lap.

Petty, who covered the 200 laps in two hours, 29 minutes, four seconds for an average speed of 123.47 m.p.h., has earned $164,250 and 13 races in his quest to become NASCAR's first million dollar winner.

SPORTS SHORTS

Stewart Nearer To World Championship

SILVERSTONE, England (UPI) — Scotsman Jackie Stewart, driving an eight-cylinder blue Tyrrell Ford, easily won the British Grand Prix Saturday to move closer to his second world drivers' championship.

The victory was worth nine points to the 32-year-old Stewart, giving him a total of 42, and one more success in the six remaining grand prix races can virtually wrap up the title.

Golf

BIARRITZ, France (UPI)— Formosan Lu Liang Huan, who receive international attention when he finished second to Lee Trevino in the British Open last week, shot a three-under-par 66 on the final round Sunday to win the French International Open golf tournament.

Vicente Fernandez and Roberto de Vicenzo, both of Argentina, shot 62 and 64 respectively over the final 18 holes to wind up in a second-place tie at 264, two strokes behind Huan.

Football

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy is improving, but still in serious condition following major abdominal surgery last week.

Leahy, 62, had been in critical condition Thursday after surgery.

Baseball

OAKLAND (UPI)—Veteran righthander Orlando Pena was scheduled to join the Baltimore Orioles today in time for an afternoon game against Oakland after being bought from Rochester of the International League.

Tennis

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico needed a victory in one of today's final two singles matches today to turn back Brazil in their American Zone Davis Cup final.

The Mexicans took a 2-1 lead as Joaquin Loyo Mayo and Vicente Zarazua beat Tomaz Koch and Edson Mandarino, 86, 7-5, 6-2, in the doubles Sunday. Today's singles paired Mandarino against Marcelo Lara and Loyo Mayo against Koch.

Haney Wins Publinks By Five

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)— Fred Haney hasn't been paid yet for his past year's work.

But the lankey young Oregonian took a long step toward his first paycheck when he won the 46th United States Golf Association National Public Links Championship Saturday.

Haney, 22, whose only job has been "working on his golf game" almost daily since graduating from the University of Oregon in 1970, toured the 6,956-yard Papago Golf Course in two-under par 70 in the final round and finished at two-over 290 for the amateur tourney, five strokes ahead of his nearest challenger.

35 coughs a mile

Air pollution is a big problem. In fact it may seem to be too big a problem for the man on the street. But it's not. There are a lot of things all of us can do to clean up the air we breathe.

We can reduce automobile exhaust by maintaining our car's anti-pollution devices. Or by buying a car with just enough horse power to meet our driving needs. Or by having its engine tuned every 10,000 miles or every year.

We can keep gasoline-powered tools in top operating condition; we can support local, state, and national clean-air programs; and as employers we can initiate anti-pollution measures. There are a lot of things we can do. Let's.

People start pollution. People can stop it.

Dairy Firm Adjusts Plans For Plant

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Knudsen Corp. announced Friday reorganization plans for its dairy products processing facilities which are preliminary to establishing a new modern facility for Northern California.

The action will require closing of the company's plant at Potrero Street near Army Street in San Francisco and the reopening of facilities in Burlingame and San Leandro. The reorganization will be accomplished in stages beginning immediately.

"We will recognize our present personnel to the fullest capabilities of the individual and will try to relocate them in a way which will best serve their interests as well as the best interests of the company," said Jay Smith, assistant to the president, who is in charge of the reorganization.

"The Potrero Street plant was built in 1927 and obviously is inefficient under today's standards," Smith pointed out. "The land lends itself to a better use and will be developed as such in the near future," Smith added.

Filling and packaging equipment now in the San Francisco plant will be installed temporarily in Gustine, where the company presently processes cottage cheese and other dairy products.

Other Northern California properties will also be affected. Distribution in the Bay Area will be from the Burlingame and San Leandro properties.

The Marin County area will be served from the company's Santa Rosa branch.

Smith said the company plans to retain Stanford Research Institute to make a recommendation for the best site of the future plant. He pointed out that Borden Inc. purchased the San Leandro property in 1958 with the intention of relocating its main Bay Area plant there in future years, but the rapid growth of the surrounding area and the population shifts during the past 13 years required a re-study of the East Bay location.

Copper Firm Says Chile Should Pay

NEW YORK (BW) — The Chilean government has "an obligation under generally accepted principles of international law to make prompt and just compensation for expropriated property," Frank R. Milliken, president of Kennecott Copper Corp., said last week.

The Chilean constitutional reform bill expropriating large copper companies, including the Sociedad Minera El Teniente S.A., in which Kennecott holds a 49 per cent interest, became law Friday.

Under the terms of the bill, Kennecott would receive no compensation for its interest in mineral resources, and the amount of compensation for "related facilities" would be determined by the Chilean government. The value of Kennecott's interest in those facilities has been estimated at more than $150 million.

Kennecott also holds $92.9 million in El Teniente Notes, of which $80 million are the subject of a guaranty against expropriation by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, an agency of the U.S. government.

Kennecott officially notified Overseas Private Investment Corp. Friday that it will require full compensation from Overseas Private Investment Corp. for any expropriation loss sustained in respect of this guaranteed debt.

El Teniente has been a productive mine for more than 60 years. An expansion program, begun in 1967 and scheduled for completion this year, will increase its productive capacity from 180,000 tons to 280,000 tons of copper per year.

In 1967, under enabling legislation adopted by the Chilean Congress, a 51 per cent ownership interest in the El Teniente mine, then 100 per cent owned by Kennecott, was sold to the Chilean government, with 49 per cent retained by Kennecott.

In addition, Kennecott loaned $80 million to the new company.

The agreement also provided for "full stability" of tax rates and equitable financial treatment for 20 years. At that time, Milliken said, "The creation of the Sociedad Minera El Teniente was designed to meet the aspirations of the Chilean people to participate directly in developing their country's most important natural resource, copper."

Recovery Seen For Trucking Firm

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What are the prospects for Cooper-Jarrett? I hold 100 shares bought several years ago at 13 ⅝. —J.S.

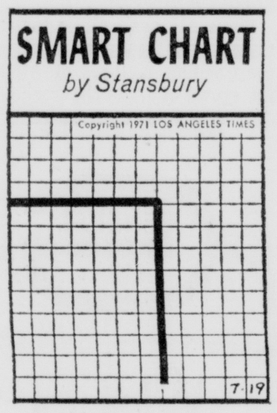

A. A good recovery in earnings is looked for this year. In the first quarter net moved from an 11 cents per share deficit to a 22 cents profit. In 1970 this trucker was plagued by the Teamsters strike, poor business climate and the General Motors strike. As a result revenue fell 14 per cent and earnings dipped sharply into the red. This was reflected in the directors' decision to omit the dividend. By year end retained earnings were $250,000 shy of the amount necessary for dividend resumption.

The outlook this year has been improved not only by the absence of strikes but by several operational changes instituted by management last year. A $2 million maintenance and break-bulk facility located on the new toll-free Interstate 80 in Pennsylvania was completed late in the year. This plant provides daily inspection of all tractors, a feat made possible by the new driver relay system. Some 40 local and satellite terminals are now part of the company's Line Haul Relay System. In addition to improving driver morale, the relay system will eliminate about $250,000 in motel and living expenses. A $4.9 million tractor replacement program was also inaugurated last year. Long-term potential for the shares appears to be above average.

Q. Should we sell St. Joe Minerals purchased in April 1970? If so what should we buy? —W.M.

A. I would sell, since the overall outlook for the company is not encouraging. The possible elimination of lead additives in gasoline could be a serious problem; the petroleum industry now absorbs 20 per cent of total lead output. As a replacement I like City Investing trading in about the same price range on the NYSE. Since 1966, earnings have moved up annually, and for the year ended April 30, 1971 operating earnings of $1.50 a share fully diluted appear probable. City Investing has interests in insurance, real estate development and heating and air conditioning.

Bank's Student Loan Default Rate Not High

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Wells Fargo Bank said Friday that its delinquency rate on student loans is not exorbitantly high and varies little from the default rate on regular customer personal loans.

"Although there reports that some institutions have a delinquency rate as high as 10 per cent, ours at present is running between 2 and 3 per cent," a bank spokesman said.

Wells Fargo is one of the largest lenders to students in California and presently has $29.7 million loaned to more than 30,000 students.

Prices Ease In Moderate Turnover

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were lower on moderate turnover after almost two hours of trading today.

Prices also eased in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were Canadian Homestead Oils fractionally higher on 55,000 shares, Heitman Mortgage down slightly on 37,000 shares, and Loews warrants also slightly lower on a volume of around 30,000.

On the Big Board, Bausch & Lomb was off 3 3-4 and Natomas 3 1-4. Down 2 or more were Burroughs, Walt Disney and Xerox.

Stocks off a point or so included Wrigley, Eastern Air Lines, General Electric, and IBM. Motors, chemicals, rails and aircrafts were fractionally irregular.

Among the most active issues were Rio Grande Industries preferred down 1-8, Plessy up 18, and Southern Co. 1-8 lower.

Phosphate Removal Urged By Officials

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the face of national clamor over the alleged role of phosphates in eutrophication, sanitation officials in Indianapolis have demonstrated an efficient and economical means of solving the problem: Take phosphates out of municipal sewage.

A two-month experiment in the midwestern city showed the phosphate content of sewage effluent from local treatment plants could be cut about 90 per cent by precipitation with ferrous chloride and polymers. The average annual cost of the additional sewage treatment would cost local residents only about $1.51 per family.

PSA Carries More June Passengers

SAN DIEGO, (BW) — Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) carried 478,029 passengers during June, a 6 per cent increase over the 450,421 carried in the like period last year.

June's total brings to 2,675,475 the number of passengers carried in 1971 thus far. This represent an 8.7 per cent increase over the 2,459,959 carried through June 1970.

Jordan Claims End Put To Guerrilla Movement

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jordan announced today that King Hussein's army had virtually wiped out Palestinian guerrilla bases in Jordan. Scores of guerrillas fled to the Israeli-occupied West Bank and surrendered to Israeli authorities.

Iraq closed its border with Jordan and asked the Jordanian ambassador in Baghdad to leave. The Jordanians accused the guerrillas of firing on Jordanian positions from villages in Syria.

King Hussein's veteran prime minister, the brusque and hard-bitten Wasfi Tel, told a news conference today, "There are no longer any independent guerrilla bases in Jordan."

Giving official casualty figures for the first time, Tel said the Jordanian army lost 31 killed 90 wounded. He said he believed about 60 guerrillas died in the fighting. Tel said the leftist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine had been banned in Jordan.

He said that during last week's five days of fighting, the army arrested 2,300 guerrillas. It had been estimated before the battle that there were 3,000 guerrillas in Jordan.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban confirmed a much-published report that U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco is on his way to Israel to try to get the Arab-Israeli peace talks moving again. Eban said Sisco wtuld arrive some time this week.

A guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said the Jordanian army waged a virtual massacre on the terrorists and forced some of the survivors to Israeli-held territory where they preferred "to die at the hands of Israelis than be slaughtered by their Arab brothers."

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said 71 guerrillas had surrendered since Saturday, 16 of them today, and had told their interrogators more would follow. Israeli commentators said it was the end of the guerrilla movement in Jordan.

The Israeli Military command in Tel Aviv said 72 guerrillas had surrendered since Saturday, 17 of them today, and had told their interrogators more would follow. Israeli commentators said it was the end of the guerrilla movement in Jordan.

But today the guerrillas were lobbing mortar shells on Jordanian positions and villages "from inside Syrian territory," a Jordanian military spokesman said. He said two Jordanian civilians were wounded at the border town of Ramtha.

In Cairo, the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) said the fighting was still going on in north Jordan between the guerrillas and the Jordanian army. But it said "the guerrillas are surrounded by (Jordanian) government troops."

A Jordanian military spokesman said Sunday the guerrillas who fled to the West Bank were Israeli spies.

Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla organization, denounced Hussein over its Cairo-based Voice of Assifa Radio today and called for the expulsion of Jordan from the Arab League and the imposition of an economic and diplomatic boycott.

A guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said the Jordanian army waged a virtual massacre on the terrorists and forced some of the survivors to Israeli-occupied territory where they preferred "to die at the hands of Israelis than be slaughtered by their Arab brothers."

Political sources in Beirut said Hussein may pay a heavy price in Arab enmity for his forces defeat of the guerrillas in their latest fighting between which flared in north Jordan terrorist sanctuaries Tuesday.

Palestinians planned street demonstrations against Hussein in Beirut. An explosion near the Jordanian Embassy in the Lebanese capital injured three persons late Sunday and prompted a police investigation into the possibility of an attempt to bomb the embassy.

In apparent retaliation for Hussein's victory over the guerrillas who had used Jordan as a staging area for attacks on Israeli territory, Iraq closed its borders and airspace to traffic to and from Jordan at midday and asked Jordan to withdraw its ambassador from Baghdad. But the Iraqis did not say they were cutting diplomatic relations with Jordan.

Nixon: 'Restraint' Asked On Overture

Congress Whips Urged To Hold Up Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon met for an hour and a half with congressional leaders today, urging restraint on their part in discussing policy matters concerning China so as not to upset the delicate nature of his planned trip to Peking.

After the huddle with top Democrats and Republicans from Capitol Hill, Nixon and his advisers conferred with his Cabinet — the China trip was also the chief topic, together with a report by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird on his Far East trip.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott told reporters that the President asked the lawmakers to refrain from unnecessary speculation or legislative action pertaining to China in the months ahead.

Rep. Leslie C. Arends, House Republican whip, said the President's trip was pictured as a search for world peace but that it was not conditioned on an end to the fighting in Vietnam.

"The President is just exploring all approaches to peace," Arends said. "He is trying to seek agreement on conditions that will bring about a stabilized peace."

Mansfield observed that there was "a lot of preparatory groundwork still to be laid" before Nixon goes to Peking, possibly shortly after the first of the year.

"The President will have to walk very carefully and Congress very responsibly so there will be no slip in any way that could hinder the (summit) meeting and the possibility of realizing the hope of the President for peace," Mansfield said.

Scott said of Nixon's request for restraint: "I don't think the President is trying to muzzle anybody at all. He was simply stressing the momentous nature of the announcement and the need for restraint."

"Long voyage upstream not helped by man who rocks boat," Scott said, claiming he was "paraphrasing" Confucius.

Scott said the President also cautioned Congress not to pass any legislation telling him what he should or should not do with respect to China. "I think if you're going to cross the Yellow River you do it best with an absence of unnecessary luggage," Scott said.

Mansfield said it was "safe to state that there were no secrets entered into, no promises made" in advance of the visit.

However, he said there had been a "marked shift" in U.S. policy toward Peking, with "recognition that China is a great power and must be considered along with other countries" in future negotiations on nuclear weapons and other subjects.

The President returned from a 12-day visit to the Western White House Sunday night. He had a busy first day schedule starting with a breakfast session with House and Senate leaders, immediately followed by the Cabinet session and probably other, unannounced conferences.

It was believed the President might hold a news conference later in the week.

Most leaders of Congress were enthusiastic or at least noncritical of Nixon's planned visit to China. The guest list for today's meeting included:

House Speaker Carl Albert, House Republican leader Ford, Senate Democratic Leader Mansfield, Republican Leader Scott, and the chairmen of the

Point Reyes Seashore Master Plan To Get First Public Airing

A proposed master plan for the Point Reyes National Seashore will get its first public discussion tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the faculty lounge at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

The Sierra Club, which will sponsor the meeting, has invited officials of the National Park Service to explain the federal plan and answer questions. Mrs. William McDougal Eastman, spokesman for the Sierra Club, said the chairman will be Judge Ray Sherwin, president of the Sierra Club.

The plan has been in circulation among various county officials for about three months, but the park service has been reluctant to discuss it in public until two hearings cheduled for September are held.

The first hearing will be in the Marin Civic Center on Sept. 22, according to Joseph C. Rumburg Jr., park service regional director.

The following day a separate hearing will be held in the same place on proposals that 10 square miles of the seashore holdings be declared a wilderness area. Roads would be banned and camping limited to primitive conditions, in the wilderness area.

Both hearings will begin at 9 a.m. in the combined board of supervisors and planning commission hearing rooms at the Civic Center.

Mrs. Eastman said that tomorrow night conservationists will seek answers to these questions:

How much of the seashore will be protected by the Wilderness Act, which means no roads, harbors, or other urban facilities?

Will a parkway cut through the heart of the seashore, across Muddy Hollow and near the heads of Limantour and Drake Esteros?

Will automobile traffic be allowed to build up year by year until the seashore becomes another Yosemite Valley? Or will a shuttle bus or elephant train system be set up to keep private automobile traffic to a minimum?

Will research areas be set aside for scientific study and wildlife observation, and will offshore activities like drilling be prohibited?

The public may obtain copies of the master plan and the wilderness study from the Point Reyes National Seashore headquarters, or from the National Park Service regional office at 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, according to Rumburg.

The master plan for the 64,000-acre seashore predicts "the predominant single use will continue to be beach-oriented recreation" rather than use by lovers of the area's natural or historic features.

In this light, the plan's draftsmen call for careful management of the seashore's features, to protect them and to educate the public about the natural treasurers to be shared.

The plan proposes a skein of roads from Olema to heavy-use areas at Point Reyes Beach and Drakes Beach, as well as to visitor attractions at the lighthouse, Tomales Point, Limantour Spit, and to boat launching ramps and a possible ferryboat terminal at Point Reyes Cove. Other points reached by road would be the oyster farm area in Drake's Estero, the controversial Mount Vision Overlook, the sea lion overlook near the lighthouse and a canoe launching facility on the western arm of Drake's Estero.

Each of the tourist-centered attractions and some of the longer-use areas would have "interpretive facilities," the plan proposes.

The seashore master plan "so far as it goes, is sympathetic" to the desires of Marin County residents, Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, said Saturday.

Joske said the county parks and recreation commission plans to tour the seashore, tentatively on Aug. 4. It then will make formal recommendations to the county supervisors, Joske said.

Neither the master plan nor the wilderness study contain any tourist volume or other statistical date on which park experts made their recommendations.

Settlement Reported In Telephone Strike Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Negotiators for the Bell system and a half million telephone workers have reached a settlement to end a six-day long nationwide phone strike, inside sources said today.

There were indications, the sources said, that phone workers might return to work before a complicated two-week long ratification process is completed by the Communications Workers of America.

contract for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. repairmen, installers and operators were not disclosed.

The main issue in the dispute had been wage increase and how they would be spent. In going on strike, the union argued the company's proposals would widen differences in pay between men and women employes and perpetuate regional and job pay differentials.

Meantime, negotiators for postal unions and the new Postal service also were reported near agreement on a contract for 750,000 U.S. mailmen after a marathon bargaining session that lasted beyond 24 hours.

But a snag developed in negotiations aimed at halting a United Transportation Union (UTU) strike against the Southern Railway and the Union Pacific Railroad.

Postal negotiators met almost continuously starting at 9 a.m. EDT Sunday, with only a brief lunch break Sunday and an hour and a half breakfast break at midmorning today. They went back to the negotiating table before midday.

Sources close to the negotiations reported an agreement was near on a contract for 750,000 workers, but a government spokesman said it was doubtful it could be completed today.

According to the law setting up the postal service, the contract had been scheduled to go to arbitration at 12:01 a.m. EDT today, but negotiators "stopped the clock" and agreed to continue bargaining.

When finally reached, it will be the first contract negotiated by collective bargaining for postal workers.

Some postal workers in New York have authorized their leaders to call a strike Tuesday in absence of a contract. A wildcat walkout there in the spring of 1970 spread to many parts of the country. Negotiators for rail management and the UTU arranged another meeting for this afternoon in Washington to continue their efforts to resolve a long dispute over work rules. The two-line strike began last Friday and the UTU has threatened to strike three more carriers this Friday.

Most World Leaders Hail Nixon Planned Visit To China Capital

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In Britain, Prime Minister Edward Heath called Nixon's diplomatic move toward Mainland China an important initiative on the part of the West in learning how to live with the Communist world.

Nationalist China again reacted sharply. In Taipei, the Yuan (Parliament) urged Nixon not to visit Peking. In the interests of a "true lasting peace in the world," it said Taipei must "advise President Nixon to rein his horse to a halt before the cliff, and suspend his decision to visit the Chinese mainland."

The Thai foreign minister, interviewed on his return to Bangkok from the Asian and Pacific Council ministerial conference in Manila, said of the Nixon visit:

"This change means that all nations in Asia, including Thailand, are at a historical turning point.

"Thailand is in a hazardous position. We must be very cautious. We must think about the subjects Nixon will discuss with Premier Chou En-lai. We must

Peking Envoy Off To Canada

HONG KONG (UPI)—Huang Hua, first ambassador of the People's Republic of China to Canada, left Peking by air today to take up his post in Ottawa, the New China News Agency reported.

Huang, a veteran diplomat, was one of the few senior Chinese officials who met Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's national security affairs adviser, in Peking on July 9-11.

Dockers Told Of Market Danger

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Chairman Helen Delich Bentley of the Federal Martime Commission told longshoremen today they were in danger of pricing the United States out of the world market through numerous labor work disputes and agreements.

Mrs. Bentley addressing the 42nd international convention of the 129,000-member International Lonshoremen's Association, said that although the container shop was invented in the United States, only foreign countries were enjoying the benefits of containerized shipping because of longshoreman rules.

She said the Prudential-Grace Steamship Co., owner of a new $25 million ship, was badly hurt by having to cancel the vessel's first three voyages because of a labor dispute. The firm is now "on a financial precipice which threatens to give away to disaster with only the slightest push."

"Whenever a would be buyer of American goods is forced to resort to a foreign country and finds out that he is able to get that same product without interruption by work stoppages and at a better price, the U. S. loses a market permanently," she told the committee.

"You could put the final skids under several financially strained American flag companies with a strike this fall because, almost without exception not a single one can withstand a termination of the vital cargo-cash flow for any more days than you can count on the fingers of one hand."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also addressing the convention, accused the Nixon administration of issuing misleading reports on unemployment and the economy.

"Phony White House press releases on the nation's economy are causing a new credibility gap with the American people," said Jackson on a six-day political swing apparently to test his popularity as a possible presidential candidate.

The real rate of unemployment is "at least 8 per cent, not around 6, as the administration claims," Jackson said. He added that statistics issued by the administration are "so inadequate" that no one really knows how many unemployed there are.

Jackson said he did not think the administration wanted high unemployment or uncontrolled inflation. "I believe this administration is just incompetent to do anything about it" he said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Drug Users

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than a third of the high school students in New York City's school system "have experimented with or abused soft or hard drugs, according to a study released Sunday.

The 94-page report blamed "many authorities from the board of education, including administrators for the problem as it affects the vast majority of students in the school system." It estimated that 100,000 of the city's 285,161 high school students have experimented with "hard and-or soft drugs."

School officials "have minimized the numbers of students involved with drug abuse and have not disclosed to the public the degree to which drug abuse affects the discipline, attendance and learning in almost every high school located in the city of New York," the study said.

Sees Scapegoat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., says Treasury Secretary John B. Connally should quit before President Nixon makes him the scapegoat for the poor state of the economy.

"My own personal feeling is that I hate to see a Democrat in the position he's in," Mills said Sunday, "where all the criticism that will come if this game plan continues to fail."

When asked, "are you advising him to get out?" Mills responded:

"If he asked me, I'd certainly tell him to."

Mills also said a moderate Democrat can defeat Nixon next year because of the economic issues.

'Coup Possible'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Retired Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh, who led the 1963 coup that toppled the Diem regime in South Vietnam, said Sunday another coup was possible if President Nguyen Van Thieu is re-elected, according to Time magazine.

Minh, a probable opponent of Thieu in the October election, said that if Thieu were elected "we cannot rule out the possibility of a coup. After all, it happened to me once. Especially if the elections are not free and honest, we should expect trouble."

Minh lasted only three months in power and was exiled to Bangkok for four years.

McCloskey View

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., said only 24 hours after formally opening his drive to oppose President Nixon for the GOP nomination that he would withdraw as a candidate within the next month if U.S. policy in Vietnam is altered sharpy.

"Nothing would please me more" than for Nixon to announce that "we had ended the war, that we were withdrawing our troops and ending the bombing," McCloskey said Sunday.

Hippies Jailed

PALMA DE MALLORCA, Spain (UPI)—Police have jailed 57 hippies in the latest raids as part of Spain's growing campaign against drugs and sexual permissiveness. Court sources said many were Americans.

The youths were arrested over the weekend in a crackdown on the island of Ibiza, long a haven for longhaired young people. Police moved in on complaints of villagers of drugs and sex parties on beaches, public nudity, disorderly conduct and theft of fruit.

The latest crackdown followed raids on what authorities said were centers of immorality at the mainland resort of Torremolinos where 139 persons were temporarily detained and where a dozen bars and nightspots shut down earlier this month.

Probe On Priest

CHICAGO (UPI)—A Roman Catholic priest has been named the executive director of the Illinois Division of the American Civil Liberties Union, ut the Chicago archdiocese has ordered an investigation into the appointment.

An ACLU spokesman announced the appointment of the Rev. Carl Lezak during the weekend and said Lezak was the first Catholic clergyman in the organization's history to head a state chapter.

However, the archdiocese's chancery office issued a statement expressing "amazement" at the appointment and said:

"The personnel board of the archdiocese has been directed to seek a clarification of Father Lezak's status."

"It is incompatable for a priest, assigned full time to a parish, as is Father Lezak, to take on simultaneously such a fulltime secular position," the statement added.

Silent On Nixon

MADRID (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, critical of the ping-pong diplomacy that eased tensions between the United States and Mainland China in April, has ben silent about President Nixon's announced visit to Peking.

Nearing the end of his three-day trip to Spain, one of the 11 stops on his 32-day round-the-world diplomatic mission, the vice president was holding talks today with Prince Juan Carlos, heir apparent to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The highest ranking American to celebrate the 1936 revolution through which Franco rose to power, Agnew attended a National Day observance in the Spanish countryside Sunday hosted by the aging leader of this nation of 33 million.

The vice president has refused to comment on the Communist Chinese invitation to Nixon for a visit before next May, and the President's announced acceptance on Thursday.

Chicano Unrest Seen In Riot, Bombings

OXNARD , Calif (UPI) — Firebombs destroyed a pharmacy and damaged a bank branch and elementary school as rioting erupted among nearly 150 Chicanos Sunday night in a Mexican-American section of this coastal city.

Police arrested 25 persons and secured the four-square mile Colonia suburb after nearly two hours of skirmishes and hit-and-run attacks on small business along a four-block stretch.

Acheson: Kennedy Indecisive

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dean Acheson, Secretary of State under President Harry S Truman, considered John F. Kennedy an indecisive man who was "really out of his depth" as the nation's chief executive.

In an interview published today in Life magazine, Acheson als opined that Kennedy's reputation "is greater because of the tragedy of his death than it would have been if he had lived out two terms."

The 78-year-old Acheson was interviewed for British Broadcasting Corp. television by Kenneth Harris, a British journalist, and Life published a portion of the interview.

Asked his assessment of Kennedy, Acheson said:

"He was a most attractive person. He had real charm. He did not seem to me to be in any sense a great man. I did not think he knew a great deal about any of the matters which it's desirable that a chief of state or a President of the United States should know about. He was not decisive."

Acheson said he talked with Kennedy about the Cuban Missile crisis and other matters at other times and their conversations had led him to a single conclusion:

"That he did not have incisiveness and he was really out of his depth where he was."

Nadar Raid On Details Of 'USDA'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader, reporting on a two-year investigation, claims the Agriculture Department (USDA) is promoting meat, poultry and chemical interests at the consumer's expense.

The study, made by a team of seven "Nader's Raiders," concluded that it is a mistaken public belief that pesticides, food additives and animal drugs are regulated carefully and that the stamp of USDA inspection means meat and poultry are pure and unadulterated.

In fact, according to the book-length report released during the weekend, lax regulations by USDA allows the widespread sale of tainted meat and poultry, and subjects the consumer to a game of "Russian Roulette" with pesticides and other chemicals.

The Agriculture Department replied that many of the practices cited by Nader have been corrected. The department also said the report was misleading because it "purposely deals in certain specific problem areas which are not typical, either of the conditions that exist in the department ... or the food industry."

Department officials have been saying privately for years that there were not enough inspectors to maintain adequate supervision of all meats sold to consumers.

But Nader in a news conference on the study said Saturday, "the consumer has no way of knowing the quality of his meat and poultry or the extent to which harmful pesticides have intruded into his environment. The responsibility rests on government."

Equipment Stolen From Roofing Firm

Two adding machines and an electric typewriter have been taken from De Mello Roofing Co., 45 Jordan Street, San Rafael, police reported.

Entry was gained by breaking the front window between midnight and 7 a.m. Friday, according to police. There was no estimate of value on the items.

Kissinger Lifts Veil A Bit On China Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Henry Kissinger's trip to China was so secret that even one of the two Secret Service agents who went with him didn't know the destination.

Kissinger revealed that and other details of his Peking trip during a chat Sunday aboard Air Force One as President Nixon and his party returned from California. Nixon called meetings of his cabinet and congressional leaders of both parties today to continue discussions of his upcoming China journey.

Kissinger declined to discuss what type of aircraft was used on his clandestine trip, or even what route he traveled. But he said one of the two Secret Service agents with him was kept in the dark —until he spotted a Chinese navigator, presumably on the flight into China.

The agent, Kissinger added, nearly dropped his teeth.

On arrival in Peking the Chinese kept their promise of strict secrecy, even to the point of whisking him away from the airport in a limousine with its rear windows hidden by thick silk curtains.

He also brought back memories —as the U.S. table tennis team did before him —of the Chinese food. Kissinger said his party was served 12 courses at every meal, but he did not use the ivory chopsticks, fearful of his technique.

Once he began his 20 hours of talks with Premier Chou En-lai, he said, the Chinese leader proved to be better informed about some of Nixon's more recent statements than he was. He said Chou immediately started peppering him with intelligent questions about an off-the-cuff briefing Nixon held for newsmen in Kansas City July 6.

Kissinger said he had to admit he had been traveling and was out of touch, save for press accounts of Nixon's comments.

The following morning Chou sent him a copy of Nixon's remarks, in English, with his personal notations on the margin and a note reading "please return, our only copy."

Kissinger said he has no illusions about an immediate friendship forming between Nixon and Chou; but he said there seems to be mutual respect already.

Although no date for Nixon's visit has been announced, Kissinger said diplomatic negotiations were underway to make sure the groundwork will be well laid. White House officials said Nixon will probably go late this year or early in 1972.

As for security, he said, the agents who accompanied him went along more to protect the papers he was carrying then for his personal safety.

About the only touring he was able to do, Kissinger said, was a three-hour visit to the forbidden city, once the home of Chinese emperors.

The impact of Nixon's China move on official Washington was obvious Sunday evening when his plane arrived at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. A number of officials turned out to give the President a warm greeting, backed up by about 300 spectators, mostly Air Force personnel and their wives.

Nixon spent about 20 minutes chatting with Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the other service chiefs, Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and others.

Peace Corps Has Volunteer Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Peace Corps expects 26,000 volunteers this year, a gain of 7,000 over 1970.

Repeal Of Marijuana Laws Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — While deploring the use of any mind-altering drugs, the San Francisco Committee on Crime today recommended repeal of laws prohibiting use of marijuana by adults, but retention of laws making the sale of heroin illegal.

In its 11th and final report, the 27-member committee split in its recommendations. About one-third of the members were against the marijuana recommendations and filed minority reports.

The committee's recommendations for repealing laws prohibiting marijuana use were based, the report emphasized, on the belief that the criminal process is not the best way to control use of the drug.

"We do not propose that society discontinue efforts to deter people from using marijuana," the report said.

"Its use is probably not as deleterious as its most earnest detractors say, but certainly people would be better off without it. In an age when human wits are most needed, they should not be subjected to manipulation or alteration by drugs.

"We simply conclude that the criminal process is not the way to go about achieving the goal given the present state of evidence.

"Indeed, removing the stigma of criminality may remove the attraction of the illicit and eliminate the impetus to use that comes from bravado.

"Criminalization has failed; we suggest that society now try non-criminalization."

The committee members, in an introduction to the report, emphasized that they were not condoning or endorsing marijuana use.

"We realize that previous portions of our report on non-victim crime, such as those dealing with prostitution and pornography, have been carelessly read by portions of the public, including those who should know better.

"The committee thoroughly deplores prostitution and has the utmost detestation for pornography. Yet our reports have been carelessly interpreted as an endorsement of these vices.

"We resign ourselves to a like misinterpretation that the committee approves the use of marijuana, despite our reiteration that we disapprove the use of marijuana and encourage all non-criminal processes to prevent it."

Regarding marijuana, the committee recommended:

—Repeal of laws prohibiting the use and possession of marijuana by adults.

—Repeal of laws prohibiting sale of marijuana to adults and regulate sale to them by laws on the order of those regulating alcholic beverages.

—Continue to prohibit sale to minors and possession by minors.

—Prohibit any advertising of marijuana.

—Devise and expand a vigorous education campaign about marijuana.

The committee said in the case of heroin "a wholly different set of considerations is apparent.

"The use of heroin is unmitigatably bad. It is destructive to the user, and it is destructive to society. No one is more contemptible than the vendor or pusher who 'hooks' another into use for the sake of profit.

"If society is ever justified in punishing anyone for the sake of revenge and detestation rather than for determent or rehabilitation, it would be justified in doing so to the vendor of heroin."

Base Attacked; Pullout Hits 50%

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist attacked the big American base at Phu Loi 13 miles north of Saigon today even as President Nixon's current program to withdraw 100,000 more U.S. troops out of Vietnam by Dec. 1 passed the halfway mark a month ahead of schedule.

The U.S. command announced today that 233,300 American servicemen were in Vietnam as of last Thursday. Withdrawals averaged 4,000 a week all year until mid-June when they were cut back to 2,760 a week because they are so far ahead of schedule.

Communist 107- millimeter rockets hit Phu Loi today in the second such attack in two days.

A Communist force advancing under 107MM rocket fire assaulted the Phu Loi base today but was driven off. One American and three Communists were reported wounded.

Along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing the two Vietnams, U.S. B52 bombers today pounded North Vietnamese rocket installations to the north of Fire Base Fuller a few hours after the Communists bombarded the reconstructed outpost with mortars.

The B52s hit the sites, used to fire 122mm rockets that finally forced evacuation of Fuller a month ago, after striking at suspected Communist storage areas near the A Shau Valley.

The North Vietnamese barrage of 82mm mortar rounds did not damage the mountaintop Fuller base which forms the northwest corner of a defense line along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), military spokesmen said.

Saigon Looks North; China Link Is Denied

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government appealed today to North Vietnam to discuss reunification of the country and the holding of free elections under a total ceasefire.

In a communique issued by the foreign ministry on National Grief Day commemorating the division of North and South Vietnam under the 1954 Geneva Accords, the government recalled it asked two years ago that North Vietnam consider reunification.

U.S. sources said the statement contained on its face nothing new and could in no way be interpreted as any sort of startling peace bid linked either to recent Viet Cong proposals at the Paris talks or to President Nixon's announcement of his impending visit to Mainland China.

President Nguyen Van Theiu himself had endorsed a standstill cease-fire in October after one was proposed by Nixon, the American sources said.

"Two years ago on July 20, 1969, the government of the Republic of Vietnam solemnly requested the authorities of North Vietnam to discuss directly and seriously with her the problem of reunification of the two zones, by means of general elections in both North and South Vietnam under international supervision," the South Vietnamese foreign ministry said.

"While waiting for reunification the two sides can meet to explore the the developments between the two zones."

"In a more serene atmosphere, when the guns stop firing, the two sides will discuss the modalities of general elections under international supervision in both zones in order to realize the reunification of the coutry," the statement said.

Heath: Important Move Toward Demarche Seen

LONDON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Edward Heath today welcomed President Nixon's diplomatic moves toward mainland China as an "important initiative" to learning how to live with the Communist world.

Heath told the final plenary session of the Aherican Bar Association's London conference that "the basic differences between the Western way of life and the Communist world remain, and Communist ambitions have notchanged."

"It is the means by which we in the West handle them and endeavor to live with them that has undergone change," Heath said.

"The important initiative of your president towards China is the most recent evidence of that," the deeply suntanned prime minister told the 1,500 Americans packed into "The Great Room" of the Grosvenor House Hotel. Another group watched the session on closed circuit television in the ballroom of the London Hilton.

The prime minister said there was no justification for fears Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market would damage American economic interests. He cited the doubling of American exports to the six Common Market countries in the past 10 years.

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAY

Britons Handed Bag Tax Cut

LONDON (UPI) — The Conservative government Monday handed Britons a $2.64 billion tax cut bonanza coupled with boosts for industry in a package it said was designed to make "a decisive breakthrough" against inflation.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber, in announcing the measures to Parliament, said "we now have a unique opportunity to make a decisive breakthrough in the fight against inflation."

Purpose of the package, he said, was to give a shot in the arm to Britain's stagnant economy, encourage industrial production, slash unemployment and halt inflation.

The boost was substantially more than the $240-720 million that had been widely predicted.

Political sources said it may partly have been designed to please Parliament and public opinion at a time when the government faces a critical fight to win approval for British entry into the European Common Market.

Chief among the measures announced by Barber were:

—An 18.18 er cent cut in purchase (sales) taxes which range from 13 3-4 per cent on many household goods, clothing and furniture, to 36 2-3 per cent on automobiles, television sets and household appliances, and 55 per cent on luxury goods such as furs and cosmetics.

—Lifting of all restrictions on instalment buying.

—Encouragement to industry by increasing from 60 to 80 per cent the tax allowance in the first year for investment in new machinery and plant.

—Tax-free depreciation for immobile plant and machinery used in service industries in economically depressed areas of Britain.

Barber said the purchase tax cuts, along with other cuts already announced in the annual budget last April, will total about $2.64 billion this year and more than $3.36 billion in 1972.

He said it was the first time the purchase tax has been cut since 1963 and was the biggest slash since 1953.

Barber estimated the aids to industry would be worth $96 million in 1972-73 and about $360 million the following year.

Barber announced that Britain's international payments surplus, now running at a level of $1.44 billion yearly, now is so good the government is repaying next month another $614.4 million of the $7.2 billion Britain borrowed from the International Monetary Fund in 1967.

Girl, 18, Ordered To Hospital Drug Abuse Program

Pamela Alice Jones, 18, of no known address, has been ordered committed for 90 days to a drug abuse program at Napa State Hospital.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed her on probation for one year.

She pleaded guilty last month to fraudulently possessing checks.

McGuire ordered the 90-day commitment after reports from two doctors disagreed on whether she was a narcotics addict who should be committed to the California Rehabilitation Center.

Miss Jones was arrested June 11 when she attempted to cash a check at a San Rafael department store at which she had passed a check May 26 that turned out to have been stolen and forged.

Arnaz Daughter Weds Producer

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother and her current husband, comedian Gary Morton.

Publication Budget On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo School District board tomorrow will consider adoption of a publication budget for fiscal 1971-72 totaling about $1,945,000.

Adoption of the budget was carried over Friday after trustees spent five and a half hours reviewing the document.

According to Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry, the board's marathon session resulted in adding about $29,000 to his "trimmed, bare-bones budget,"

Lowry earlier had presented the board with a proposed budget totaling about $1,916,000. It was a stripped version of his first proposal which was drafted in anticipation of a successful vote on a tax rate increase. The increase failed at the polls on Tuesday.

Lowry said the new proposed budget carries the same tax rate — $3.445 per $100 assessed valuation — as last year's budget.

He said the additions made Friday by the board are for a conservation education class for seventh and eighth grade students, eight-hour operation of the district library and about $5,000 in personnel contingency funds.

The board will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School.

11 Policemen Died In May Assaults

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Eleven policemen were killed and 17 injured in criminal assaults in the nation during May, the International Association of Police Chiefs said Monday.

Association president John R. Shryock said in a statement that since the organization's National Police Weapons Center began operations July 1, 1970, criminal assaults with weapons had killed 101 police officers and injured 1,668.

Shryock said handguns were involved in nine of the 11 police deaths during May.

The association set up the weapons center because of the steady increase in assaults on police. The problem also prompted FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to offer assistance on request in local investigations of police deaths and injuries.

Shryock said the Middle Atlantic states reported the most attacks on police, followed in order by the Pacific coast, the East-North-Central states and the South Atlantic area.

Shryock also released a report showing a total of 129 incidents involving explosives and incendiary devies during the month of April, causing no deaths but eight injuries. This information was compiled by the association's National Bomb Data Center.

Building With Bomb Evacuated

Police evacuated a San Rafael apartment building at 220 Canal Street Saturday when they found what appeared to be a bomb in the garbage collection room.

An Army bomb disposal unit from the Presidio of San Francisco dismantled what police said appeared to be four sticks of dynamite and a blasting cap wired to an alarm clock. The bomb unit said the dynamite was highway road flares and the blasting cap was a short piece of a red lead pencil.

Police said Clifron Lewis, employee for Marin Sanitary Co., discovered the bomb at 8:15 a.m.

Special Duty Pay To Be Discussed

The Rohnert Park City Council will consider special duty pay for volunteers in the police department at its meeting today at 7 p.m.

The council also will hold a public hearing on the request of Angelica Burgess to care for four women under the state Family Care Program at her home at 310 Bruce Avenue.

Nixon Would Change, Expand FDA Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon proposed Monday that the 64-year-old Food and Drug Administration (FDA) be converted into a new Consumer Safety Administration with authority over household products as well as foods and drugs.

Under Nixon's plan, the new agency, like the present FDA, would be part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The administration proposal differed from a Democratic sponsored bill to regulate hazardous household products under a new Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The President's plan, however, appeared to respond in part to suggestions by Sens. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, that a new agency be created.

The administration proposal was unveiled before Magnuson's Senate Commerce Committee at a hearing on rival administration and Democratic bills. This would empower the government to set safety standards for household products from lawn mowers to window glass, and to ban particularly dangerous items.

HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson presented a letter from Nixon to Magnuson outlining the proposed new agency.

"This unit will build upon the acticities, personnel and facilities of the FDA, which has a long and distinguished history in the field of consumer safety, primarily in the vital regulation of the foods we eat and the drugs we use," the Nixon letter said.

"The Consumer Safety Administration will continue the work of the FDA. At the same time the new unit will be structured so that the regulation of hazardous consumer products authorized in (the administration bill) will have the facilities, the personnel, and the organizational prominence that will insure an effective, efficient and responsive product safety program."

Publication Budget To Be Considered

The Reed School District board will consider adoption of a $2,457,501 publication budget when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Bel Aire School.

The board also will consider renewing its membership in the California School Boards Association.

Hitchhiking Double Amputee To Come Home

OSLO (UPI) —After hitchhiking around the world in a wheelchair for two years, Charlie Brown of San Francisco is going home.

The 35-year-old Californian who has no legs says he set out on his international ride-thumbing tour to prove that a man can do what he aims to, despite handicaps.

Brown said a back injury and lack of funds forced him to return home. He hurt his back when the wheelchair turned over in the Canary Islands recently.

During the past two years he has visited Latin America, crossed the Sahara, traveled over north Africa, continental Europe, Britain and Norway. Earlier he has hitch-hiked in all North American states and in Canada.

He leaves Oslo's Fornebu Airport for New York this morning.

Publication Budget Due Novato Board

The Novato Unified School District board will adopt a publication budget of approximately $10.3 million when it meets at 8 p.m., tomorrow in the lecture hall at Novato High School.

The exact amount of the budget was still being worked on, said Supt. James G. Bunker.

Bunker predicted that the tax rate for next year would increase approximately 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The current tax rate is $5.35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The increase is due to an increase in health and dental benefits for employees and increase for short term bonds.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

A Public Relations Problem

SAIGON (UPI)—The North Vietnamese Army has a public relations problem and the NVA newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan (People's Army Daily), has taken note of the problem in a recent issue in language which might have originated in the Pentagon.

People's Army said, "Our army has developed fine traditions and has constantly reflected its nature as a people's army. The great majority of our cadres and combatants have not only fought heroically and earned glorious merits, but have also proven to be good disciplinarians by constantly complying with the army's regulations and orders and with state laws and by respecting the people . . .

"However, in certain places at certain moments, there are a small number of instructors and combatants who have relaxed discipline.

"Outside military billets, there still are soldiers who dress outlandishly, speak impolitely to others, behave themselves in an uncivilized manner and violate state law, discipline and public sanitary regulations.

"Not only does this erratic behavior bother the people, but it is something taken advantage of by the bad elements as well."

People's Army said, "Each combatant, when he leaves his camp, must never forget that he is a people's army soldier. Whether his conduct, attitude and deeds are exemplary or not will cause our people to form a good or bad impression of our army as a whole . . .

"Concerning the methods of educating and improving the soldiers' conduct and behavior, many units have . . . had soldiers review the 10 oaths of honor, the 12 rules of relations with the people and the 10 'dos and don'ts' for soldiers when they are out of billets. . . .

"To obtain realistic, far-reaching results, the propaganda and educational task must be closely related to the measures for enforcing discipline . . .

"The assignment of military police units to operate in the troop cantonment areas, the constant control and assessment of the situation, and prompt commendation of good men-good deeds examples, and the organization of the masses to criticize and struggle against soldiers' erratic conduct and behavior will be instrumental in simultaneously preventing bad phenomena and accelerating the improvement of soldiers' conduct and behavior."

People's Army said that "intensive education and training of soldiers to observe discipline and improve their conduct is very necessary. . . each of our soldiers . . . must be conceited over the progress made, but must constantly train himself to become a good disciplinarian whose conduct and behavior are exemplary."

General Wins Third Star

Brig. Gen. Russell F. Gustke, commander of the Western Air Force Reserve Region with headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been promoted to major general.

Gustke is head of all Air Force reserve units in the eight western states.

Gustke entered the Air Corps 'Cadet program in 1941, was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942 and flew 165 combat missions in Europe.

He was discharged from active duty in 1946, but remained in the Air Force Reserve.

Closed Session Set On Salaries

The San Rafael City Council will meet in closed session today at 7 p.m. to instruct its negotiators on city employee salary negotiations.

Following the closed meeting, the council will hold its regular session at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Sewage Plant To Be Studied

The Mill Valley City Council will hear recommendations from a consultant on interim steps the city can take to improve its sewage treatment plant when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The consultant, Yoder, Trotter, Orlob and Associates of Walnut Creek, was hired by the city to design the improvements ordered by the Regional Water Quality Control Board when the board slapped a building ban on Southern Marin last month.

Also on the agenda is a hearing on the massive Miller Avenue landslide. The city has ordered the slide's owner, Melinda Rowebeddoe of England, to show cause why the pile of dirt should not be declared a public nuisance.

Chile's Allende Denies 'Usurping' Firms' Rights

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chile's nationalization of business takes into consideration the interests of those who have invested or worked in Chile, President Salvador Allende said Sunday.

Chile's revolution was not violent, the Marxist president said. "I'm speaking of profound transformations, deep changes in the economic and political fields as well as in the social fields."

Allende spoke on the NBC news program "Comment!"

"When I speak of nationalization, I am not talking of usurping. I am not talking about unduly appropriating the possessions of others. I'm talking of defending the interests of Chile and at the same time considering the interests of those who invested or who worked in our country," he said.

He said courts of appeal have been established for firms which believe they have been treated unfairly in nationalization moves.

Clinics For Rabies Shots Announced

Marin County dog owners who missed last week's rabies vaccination clinics will have five more weeks in which to get their pets vaccinated.

The special evening clinics are sponsored by the Marin County Department of Health Services and the Marin County Veterinary Medical Association. The fee is $2 per dog.

State law requires that all dogs at least 4 months old must be vaccinated against rabies and licensed, said county health officer Carolyn B. Albrecht. Aug. 31 is the deadline for obtaining 1971-72 dog licenses.

As a safety measure, Dr. Albrecht asked that parents not bring children to the clinic area.

The clinics will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays as follows:

Tuesday — Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato.

Thursday — Mill Valley corporation yard, Sycamore Avenue and Camino Alto.

July 27 — Ross School, Lagunitas Road.

July 29 — Woodacre Firehouse, end of Railroad Avenue.

Aug. 3 — San Anselmo corporation yard, end of San Francisco Boulevard.

Aug. 5 — San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, Third and E streets.

Aug. 10 — Point Reyes Station Firehouse, Second and A streets.

Aug. 12 — Marion School, Novato.

Aug. 17 — Mill Valley corporation yard.

Aug. 19 San Rafael City Schools Administration Building.

Stolen Automobile

Joseph Perina, 403 Eighth Street, Petaluma, told police his car was stolen Friday night from outside his home. The 1958 Ford had license number EDA 663.

Wallet Theft

Victor M. Mendosa, 2400 Fallon Road, Petaluma, told police that his wallet containing $65 in cash and an $800 check was stolen from his clothes Friday while he was swimming at the Petaluma Municipal Pool.

Old Box Will Be Feature

A metal box believed to contain gold nuggets and coins dating back to 1872 will be the featured attraction before the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning.

The box, retrieved from the cornerstone at the old county courthouse in San Rafael, is believed to contain valuable gold and silver coins and other century-old mementos. The cornerstone was dedicated on Aug. 3, 1872, by Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons.

Warren H. Williams, secretary of the Marin lodge, will ask the supervisors tomorrow to keep the box sealed and preserved as an historical monument.

Last week, supervisors were divided on the question of opening the box. John F. McInnis wanted it kept sealed, but Chairman Louis H. Baar, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste wanted it opened. Michael Wornum agreed to postpone the opening until this week to hear from the Masonic Lodge.

With Baar away on vacation, the supervisors could split, 2 to 2, on the issue.

The supervisors' meeting tomorrow will start at 9 a.m. with a joint meeting with the family and children's advisory committee. The advisory committee members will describe the work they are doing to help families that need public assistance.

Other items on tomorrow's agenda include:

APPOINTMENTS — Several vacancies exist on the Marin County Youth Commission and one on the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission.

RETIREMENT — Acting County Administrator John F. Barrows will recommend a $500 outlay for a study to see if the cost of county contribution to the employees' retirement fund can be reduced.

CORTE MADERA CREEK — Both Fairfax and San Anselmo will report that they do not want the Army Corps of Engineers to build concrete channels along Corte Madera Creek in their cities.

APARTMENT — Sea-Port Development Co. of Auburn, Wash., is seeking approval of a master plan for 334 townhouse apartments on 24 acres of ridgeland south of Strawberry Shopping Center, between Belvedere Drive and West Strawberry Drive.

TERRA LINDA — Supervisors will decide whether or not it should proceed with an election on proposed merger of the Terra Linda Community Services District and the Terra Linda Recreation-Park District.

REZONING — Charles Parmelee will ask for rezoning of 7.8 acres near Corte Madera from light industrial to apartments. A total of 121 townhouses are planned on the property on Tamal Vista Avenue between Chickasaw Court and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks.

Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Charles Wayne Day, 28, of San Rafael, have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of possessing and being under the influence of marijuana.

A pretrial conference was set for Aug. 18.

Day was arrested July 9 after Sausalito police said they saw him smoking what appeared to be a pot cigarette in the parking lot of the Boat House restaurant.

Injuries Minor In Crash On Freeway

Lucie Van Breen, 22, of 257 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries when her car struck a center divider on Highway 101 at 2:10 a.m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol said she was southbound on Puerto Suello Hill. The woman was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut eyelid and bruised knee.

MOTHER NATURE'S EXPRESS

LABOR

nies near agreement on local and regional issues, negotiators are expected to meet on a national level to formulate a final contract.

The United contract expired last month, but was extended 30 days. The wildcat strikes broke out when employes became disgruntled with the progress of the negotiations.

The United contract has expired last month, but was extended 30 days. The wildcat strikes broke out when employes became disgruntled with the progress of the negotiations.

A United telephone spokesman said the fired strikers might be rehired, but a union spokesmen said "strings" — such as the loss of seniority — would be attached to their rehiring.

On other labor fronts Sunday:

—Magma Copper Co. reached tentative agreement with seven unions in Tucson. Union spokesmen said it could prove a model for the entire industry, which has been struck by 39,000 workers since July 1. The pact was for a three-year contract with an average 92-cent-an-hour wage increase and unlimited cost-of-living raises.

—The Communications Workers of America continued talks at the local level with American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in an effort to settle a four-day-old telephone strike.

In San Francisco, the longshoremen's strike that has virtually shut down 24 WXEST Coast ports entered its 19th day today with no end in sight.

Directly affected are not only the sailors, truckers and warehousemen involved in handling freight, but anybody whose job depends either on receiving or sending cargo.

In San Francisco, for example, about 700 employes in coffee roasting plants may be laid off in a few more weeks when the supply of green beans runs out.

Distributors of Mazda, the new Japanese import, were caught with 1,700 autos tied up in Los Angeles harbor and only a 10-day supply on hand.

Because of the strike, many businessmen have halted placement of orders. They can't risk having a loaded ship off the Pacific Coast and unable to land.

As a result, settlement of the strike doesn't mean affected workers can immediately go back to work. Copra (dried coconut meat) processors, who are running out of copra, won't get new supplies until new orders are shipped from the Philippines.

Dozens of vessels are tied up at a cost to the owners of about $10,000 a day. To ease their burden, the port of Long Beach drastically slashed its dockage and storage fees.

However, some activity is continuing because the longshoremen are willingly handling military cargo and mail. They also announced plans to handle 28,800 tons of wheat and flour for Pakistani refugees.

The striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the employer representative, the Pacific Maritime Association, are far apart on terms for settling the walkout.

No talks have been held since the strike began July 1 at the expiration of a contract.

Several officials of both management and labor said the strike would last at least a month and some flatly predicted it would continue three months.

REACTION

guess and estimate—what will be the bargain?"

In a Washington-Peking dialogue, he said, his country's main task would be "to maintain Thailand's independence." Asked about possibility of Bangkok-Peking talks, he said: "There have been several countries that have offered to help us contact Peking... diplomats offered without our requesting such help—we have not initiated this."

A newsman asked if he thought the United States planned to abandon Vietnam and he replied: "Don't accuse the United States. They have lost a great deal in Vietnam—the lives of their soldiers and others. The problem of Thailand is, how do we survive?"

In London, Heath told the American Bar Association conference that "the basic differences between the Western way of life and the Communist world remain, and Communist ambitions have not changed. It is the means by which we in the West handle them and endeavor to live with them that has undergone change.

"The important initiative of your President towards China is the most recent evidence of that."

The Yugoslav foreign ministry in a statement praised the "significant" announcement of the Nixon visit, which it said could "contribute to the normalization of relations, relaxation of tension, and peaceful solution of international problems."

And in Jakarta, the Soviet ambassador to Indonesia, Mikhail Volkov, replied when asked by reporters to comment on the announcement: "When two great states are willing to meet, it is good." He said it showed "Nixon sincerely wishes to visit Peking, and perhaps he will."

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan was peppered with questions in the Diet (Parliament) in Tokyo. He said he welcomed the Nixon visit as a move to ease world tension and he hoped it would restore Indochinese peace.

As for Japan, he said, "the government will cautiously study the matter by keeping a close watch on the fluid international situation." Improved Sino-Japanese relations "are a matter to be desired," he said.

Malaysian Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak said in answer to a question in Parliament that he might consider visiting Peking if invited. The Nixon visit augured well for future neutralization of Southeast Asia, he said.

Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew, who has been generally cooler to Peking's new warmth than other Southeast Asian leaders, said "President Nixon has responded to China's friendly overtures by a dramatic gesture."

Forgery Suspect Due In Court

A 19-year-old Nicasio youth has been scheduled to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of forgery.

Police today reported that Henry Iver Seiler of P.O. Box 205, Nicasio, was arrested Friday in Corte Madera and booked from the Bank of America at 663 Tamalpais Drive.

Officers said he entered the bank at about 10:40 a.m. and attempted to cash a $31 check made out in his mother's name. A routine bank investigation found the check had been stolen.

Seiler was booked into Marin County Jail where he posted $500 bail.

Two Booked As Suspects In Dope Case

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing hashish after he and a companion were observed acting suspiciously at a San Anselmo apartment building.

San Anselmo police said today Robert Wesley Rosson, 18, of 136 Auburn Street was arrested at 4:30 p.m. at the Capri Apartments, 1520 San Anselmo Avenue.

Officers said they were questioning the youths about wandering around the building when a plastic bag containing four cubes of suspected hash fell from Rosson's pocket. A search produced five more cubes.

Rosson was booked into Marin County Jail where he posted $1,000 bail and is scheduled to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Health Planners Due Aid Program

Two Marin hospitals' plans to create centers for alcoholism — and in one case, drug problems — will be before the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital.

Plans were endorsed by the health facilities review committee of the council last week.

Ross General Hospital proposes installation of the county's first combined drug and alcoholic detoxification and follow-up center by relicensing 18 of its present 36 long-term care beds under state laws.

Novato Manor Convalescent Hospital plans to establish an 18-bed unit exclusively for alcohol treatment.

Two Rob Tavern Near San Rafael

Two men escaped with an undetermined amount of cash yesterday following an armed robbery of a tavern near San Rafael.

Marin County sheriff's deputies said one shot was fired, but no one was injured, in the robbery of the Hound's Tooth Inn, 10 Woodland Avenue, at 4:25 p.m. yesterday.

The men — both described as white, between 20 and 25 years old, and one with dark bushy hair and the other with blond hair — escaped in a maroon colored 1967 or 1968 Oldsmobile, deputies said.

No other details of the robbery were available today.

Fire Razes 20 Acres Near Dam

A fire of unknown origin which sent smoke billowing into the clouds and could be seen for miles destroyed 20 acres of grass, brush and trees near Alpine Dam in 90 minutes yesterday.

The blaze required units of the Marin County Fire Department, Kentfield Office of Emergency Service and the Marin Muncipal Water District, as well as two park rangers and other volunteers, to bring it under control.

According to firemen, about this time last year a similar blaze erupted in the same location.

Foreign Affairs Committee of each chamber, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa. Among others on hand were the charimen of the Armed Services Committees, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.; the chairmen of the Appropriations Committees, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and George Mahon, D-Tex.

The ranking Republican members of the three key committees also were present.

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security affairs adviser who visited Peking to meet with Premier Chou En-Lai to arrange the presidential visit, participated in the White House meetings.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers called off a trip to London to discuss the journey and its meaning to various foreign ambassadors in Washington, including the highly critical James C. H. Chen of Nationalist China.

Chen was the first appointment on a busy list today for Rogers, starting after the Cabinet meeting. Others included Ambassadors Nobuhiko Ushiba of Japan, Sir James Plimsoll of Australia, Frank Corner of New Zealand, Sunthorn Hongladarom of Thailand, Charles Lucet of France and Rolf Pauls of West Germany.

The resolution urged Nixon "to rein his horse to a halt before the cliff and suspend his decision to visit the Chinese mainland."

Mansfield and Scott have both expressed the view that the new Communist peace plan at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris was influenced at least partly by China. But they did not agree entirely on how Peking might have wielded its influence.

Moran Offers Innocent Plea

Thomas Patrick Moran, a state public utilities commissioner, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor charge of drunken driving.

A pretrial conference was set for Sept. 8.

Moran, 53, of San Rafael, was arrested June 16 when, according to the California Highway Patrol, he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 near San Rafael.

San Quentin Inmate Is Still At Large

San Quentin officials today reported that inmate William Lewis Harrison, 41, was still at large after failing to return to the prison Thursday after leaving a job in Redwood City.

Harrison worked at Randall's Inc. in Redwood City under the prison's work furlough plan and returned to San Quentin each night.

Pipe Bomb Blast Damages Bank: 'Chicano' Tip Call

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (UPI)—Plate glass doors and windows at a Bank of America branch were shattered Sunday night when a pipe bomb exploded at the rear of the building.

An unidentified caller telephoned news agencies eight minutes later, saying the blast was the work of the Chicano Liberation Front. The explosion brought to more than 50 the bombing attacks this year against Bank of America branches in California.

FBI agents joined sheriff's department arson detectives and police in this Los Angeles suburb in an investigation of the 10:22 p.m. blast.

College Paper's Office Burns, Arson Suspected

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Fire Department officials are investigating the possibility of arson in a blaze that caused $10,000 in damages at San Jose City College.

The fire, which broke out late Saturday night, completely gutted the interior and blew out the windows of the building occupied by the student newspaper, City College Times.

"Any natural causes are pretty well eliminated at this time," said Sean Leslie of the San Jose Fire Marshal's office.

Leslie said the fire apparently started at two points in the room, while "if it's an accident, it's usually only one source."

Sausalito Panel To Review Arts Center's Lease

The Sausalito Arts Center's lease on the Old Bayside School property will be discussed at a special meeting of the Sausalito school district board at 7:30 p.m. today in Bayside School.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said Robert A. Ellis, center director, has requested to meet with the board which last week voted to cancel the lease and evict the center in 30 days.

Lindberg said the federal government, which owns the land, has never approved the lease, which was granted by the school district in April of 1969.

The board will also discuss the legal ramifications of abandoning school district sites (since some will revert to governmental or private ownership if the properties cease to be used for educational purposes) at the meeting.

Possession Of Billy Club Arrest

An 18-year-old Novato youth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possession of a billy club, Novato police reported yesterday.

George Michael Turrini of 2055 Mill Road, Novato, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $8,750 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Police reported that they stopped Turrini at 11:26 p.m. in front of 7374 Redwood Highway because his car did not have a license plate. Turrini gave his permission for police to search his car and the billy club was found under the front seat and a paper bag with approximately 10 pounds of change in it was on the floor, according to reports.

Santa Cruz Trip Slated Next Sunday

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department's junior high youth club will sponsor a trip to the Santa Cruz beach and boardwalk on Sunday for seventh and eight grade youths who reside within the city limits.

OBITUARIES

Alfred J. Ruggiero Dies At 57

A Mass of the Resurrection for Alfred J. Ruggiero, 57, production vice president at the E. D. Bullard Co. in Sausalito, will be celebrated at 8 p.m. today at St. Sebastian's Church, Greenbrae.

Ruggiero died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. He had lived at 50 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, for 15 years and had worked at Bullard's for 35 years.

He was a native of San Francisco and a member of St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Surviving are his wife, Doris A. Ruggiero; two daughters, Carol Zumwalt of Sacramento and Vikki Ruggiero of Greenbrae and two grandsons.

Entombment will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Memorial contributions to your favorite charity or spiritual bouquets preferred.

CLARENCE SCHNEIDER

Clarence Schneider, a Marin County resident for 58 years, died Sunday at a local convalescent home. He was 95.

Schneider was born in San Francisco. He was a self-employed jewelry engraver for nearly 70 years, and owned his own shop on Market Street in San Francisco.

Schneider is survived by two sons, Raymond W. and C. Jules Schneider, both residents of San Anselmo; two grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by private inurnment.

MILDRED BARRETT

Mildred L. Barrett of Mill Valley died yesterday at her home, apparently of natural causes, according to the Marin County coroner's office. She was 58.

A native of Canby, Minn., she had lived in California 17 years and in Marin six years, residing at 196 Edgewood Avenue. Mrs. Barrett was a nurse and in recent years was employed in a San Francisco physician's office.

During World War II, she was a major with the U.S. Army Nurses Corps and served in England, North Africa and Italy. She was a member of PEO, a professional women's organization.

Mrs. Barrett is survived by two sisters, Cornelia Ballard of San Anselmo and Ruth Brandt of Minnesota.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow in Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Minnesota.

CHARLOTTE MILLER

Funeral for Charlotte L. Miller of Sausalito will be tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. She was 92.

Miss Miller died Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness.

She was born in Caliente in Kern County. She moved to San Francisco and San Luis Obispo before going to Sausalito 12 years ago to live with her niece, Maryon Carre, 412 Valley Street.

She was past president of San Luisita Parlor No. 108 of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, San Luis Obispo, and a member of San Luis Obispo Rebekah Lodge No. 210. She worked in the city clerk's office in San Luis Obispo until she retired in 1951.

Burial will be private.

GLADYS FALCONER

Funeral for Gladys Eleanor Falconer, 62, of Sacramento, mother of Mrs. Donald S. Potter of Petaluma , will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Sunset Lawns, Sacramento.

Mrs. Falconer died Thursday after a short illness.

She is also survived by a son, A. J. Falconer of Nevada City; two other daughters, Georgia Hoff and Katherine Wright of Sacramento; a sister, Margaret Funkner; and two brothers, Robert Matthews and Kenneth Matthews, all of Portland, Ore.

Contributions may be made to the City of Hope.

HENRY CADY

A Requiem Mass for Walter Henry Cady, father of Grover Cady of San Rafael, was held today in San Mateo.

Cady, 63, died Friday in a San Mateo hospital after a short illness.

He was born in Stockton and had worked for 25 years for Southern Pacific Railroad. At the time of his death, he was manager of a snack bar. He had lived in San Mateo for 20 years.

He is also survived by his wife, Margaret Cady of San Mateo; three other sons, Robert Cady and Thomas Cady of San Mateo and James Cady of San Luis Obispo; a brother, Ellsworth Cady of San Mateo and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Skylawn Memorial Park in San Mateo.

SARAH BRASHEM

Funeral services have been held for Sarah Brashem of San Rafael at Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco. She was 81.

Mrs. Brashem died Thursday from a heart attack at her home.

She was born in Kiev, Russia. She came to Portland, Ore., in 1906 and moved to Sausalito in 1946. She later moved to Larkspur and San Rafael.

She was a member of Congregation Rodeph Sholom and B'Nai Brith Women, Marin County chapter.

She is survived by her husband, Mendel B. Brashem; two daughters, Francine Mendell of San Rafael and Myrtle Kirklin of Modesto; a sister, Gertrude Bachman of Portland, Ore.; and two grandchildren.

She was buried at Hills of Eternity..

NORA NEWMAN

Funeral for Nora Dulcie Newman, 96, was held today at the Redwood funeral chapel in Novato.

Mrs. Newman, a Novato resident for 23 years, died Saturday in a convalescent hospital after a long illness.

She last had made her home with a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Federlin of 1055 Fifth Street, Novato. She was a member of the Novato Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Newman was a native of Knoxville, Tenn.

She is also survived by one granddaughter.

Funeral was to be followed by inurnment at the Chapel of the Chimes, Oakland.

HENRY MANNWIELER

Funeral for Henry Mannwieler, 70, of Cotati, was held today in Petaluma.

He died Friday at his home after a short illness. A native of Russia, he came to the United States in 1909 and to California in 1927.

Mannwieler had been employed as a custodian at Pengrove School for 20 years, retiring six years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Christine; two sons, Frank Mannwieler of Petaluma and Henry Mannwieler of Santa Clara; two daughters, Judith Shennan of Petaluma and Lillian Poerson of Ceres, Stanislaus County; 11 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

AMY CROSLEY

Funeral for Amy G. Crosley, 69, of Petaluma, was held today in Petaluma. Burial was at Sebastopol Cemetery.

Mrs. Crosley died Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness. She was born in Occidental and had lived there and in Santa Rosa until moving to Petaluma 10 years ago. She was the wife of the late Jack Crosley.

She is survived by two brothers, Chester Elliott of Petaluma and Bert Elliott of Occidental.

Arnason Denies Attorney's Plea To Leave Case

Ernest L. Grave, Ruchell Magee's attorney, unsuccessfully tried to remove himself from the Davis-Magee case today on grounds that a federal judge's remarks had made it impossible for him to proceed.

Judge Richard N. Arnason quickly denied the motion in Marin Superior Court, despite an outburst by Magee that "You could walk out of here right now."

This morning's scheduled hearing never actually got started, with attorneys spending two hours in the judge's chambers and defendants Magee and Angela Davis brought into court only after 11 a.m.

After Graves's motions were denied, Magee's continued outbursts caused Judge Arnason to order the San Quentin inmate removed from the court. Miss Davis's attorneys then were granted a recess to this afternoon.

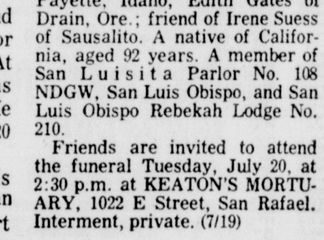

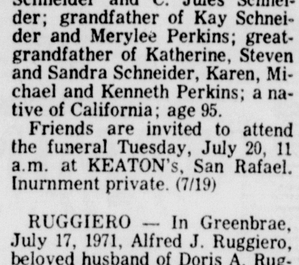

Swim Program At Hamilton AFB

Marin County Red Cross Chapter and Hamilton Air Force Base's "Children Have a Potential" (CHAP) Organization will co-sponsor a weekday swimming program, August 9-20, for mentally and physically handicapped children, at the base.

Alys Durenberger, a Red Cross instructor of handicapped swimmers, will conduct the program assisted by volunteer water safety instructors and aides.

Parents of participants must complete a health certificate and release form which must also be signed by a doctor. Further information may be obtained through the Red Cross office, San Rafael.

What Place Is Left For Transit Company?

Marin County Transit District directors have decided to put practically all the district's eggs in one basket.

Their choice is the big basket of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District. They had only a nest egg left over for the much smaller basket of Marin Transit Systems, Inc., the Marin City company that is providing some interim bus service in the county.

Marin Transit Systems has a contract with the bridge district to provide subsidized service on its present routes until the end of this year. That will not be renewed, the transit directors decreed last week. Instead, the bridge district itself will operate all buses on routes in its "optimum bus system.

Just what the "optimum bus system" eventually will include is not yet spelled out exactly. but it will include all inter-county commute service, and local service to feed the commute runs. And because the bridge district wants to make maximum use of its buses and drivers, it will include some sort of intra-county service during the non-commute hours.

AT A GLANCE, that doesn't seem to leave much for Marin Transit Systems. As a matter of fact, however, it may leave quite a bit.

The nest egg put in Marin Transit's basket by the directors' vote consists of $75,000 for "demonstration projects." These, said the directors, must not compete or interfere with the service provided by the bridge district.

What might Marin Transit operate, aside from charter service, for which it already is licensed by the California Public Utilities Commission and in which it would not compete with the bridge district?

One obvious possibility is school bus service.

BUS OPERATION is an expensive headache for many Marin school districts. Some of them have found it cheaper and simpler to contract with an outside carrier, who provides buses, maintenance and drivers. Right now, the only outside carrier operating school bus service on a regular basis in the county is Patchett Transportation Co., which has its base far away in the Central Valley.

Patchett Transportation, according to school superintendents in districts that use it, provides school bus service more cheaply than the schools can do it themselves. And presumably it makes money at it.

There would appear, then, to be a large field for a locally based school bus contractor — such as Marin Transit Systems.

THE TROUBLE with school bus contracting is that the buses sit idle much of the day. However, several of Marin's cities need strictly local bus service between shopping districts and residential districts, to ease their traffic congestion.

Such service could be provided during hours buses were not hauling school children. There has as yet been no indication that the bridge district's "optimum bus service" will extend to this type of operation — and with the San Francisco majority on the bridge district board, it seems unlikely that it ever will.

There would thus appear to be possibilities for not only continued operation but also considerable expansion of Marin Transit Systems without conflict with the bridge district.

Perhaps a "demonstration project" might serve the schools and shoppers of — say, San Rafael or Novato?

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

NWP Abandonment Could Hike Eventual Transit Cost

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

One of Marin's greatest assets is in danger. Not its lovely hills or shore, but the key link in its railroad right-of-way.

Northwestern Pacific Railroad is about to apply again to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon its Sausalito branch line, a line long earmarked by the county for transit use.

The move may succeed this time because the railroad's major Sausalito customer, A.G. Schoonmaker, is going out of business in Marin. And both Mill Valley and Corte Madera favor discontinuing the operation through their areas.

The danger is that the cost of acquiring the right-of-way for transit may soar by millions unless it remains in some rail use without interruption.

THOSE PARTS of the right-of-way owned in fee by the railroad would be available to the county or Golden Gate Bridge District for any transit use, whether buses, trains or some other system. But other stretches of the line are subject to reversion to the original owners if no longer used for rail purposes.

Their descedants presumably will find their windfalls extraordinarily valuable, despite the predictable claim by the county and bridge district that such narrow holdings are at almost worthless. Those are bargaining ploys.

The reversionary rights could be voided if a rail transit system were ready to take over the right-of-way, but that is at least a decade away.

To avoid this potential cost of reversionary rights, however, the rails could be left intact even after paving is laid down for bus transit, according to an idea by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. He suggested that an excursion train be run down the line periodically to maintain legally its use for rail purposes, this voiding reversionary rights.

It's an idea worth exploring.

SPEAKING OF reversions, the California Republican Assembly has booted Bagley and three other lawmakers branded with liberal or moderate records. The boot came as the organization abandoned its traditional policy of making all GOP officeholders at-large directors.

Purged with Bagley were state Sen. Milton Marks of San Francisco and Representatives Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of Portola Valley and Alphonzo Bell of Beverly Hills.

"This is a conservative organization and they don't subscribe to our objectives and principles," objected former CRA president Dick Darling of Riverside. He added that including the four as directors "diminishes the honor for the others."

Bagley's response to the dishonor: "There is no organization I'd rather be booted by."

Award Will Honor 'Bridgers Of Gap'

I thank you for the recent coverage of the establishment of the Marin County Industry-Education Council award fund in honor of Edward W. Bullard Jr.

Ed Bullard was an outstanding human being who did much to help his fellow man in a variety of worthwhile activities and causes. We were particularly proud of his efforts as the charter president of our organization. He will be sorely missed by us, as well as by his family, his friends and the entire community of Marin County.

The award fund will be used to appropriately honor individuals who have worked diligently to "bridge the gap" between the community and education in the best tradition of Ed Bullard.

Contributions may be sent to the Marin County Industry-Education Council Edward W. Bullard Jr. Memorial Fund, 235 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94104.

Nixon's China Visit Mere Political Ploy

President Nixon, who has never missed a political bet in his life, is now about to score another one. He is going to China on a two-purpose visit: to hasten the end of the Vietnam war and to strengthen the new communications with the Chinese dragon. The White House, the press simultaneously announces, believes that his visit will hasten an end to the war in Southeast Asia. Not the Congress, not the people of the United States; no — the White House. The administration, in other words. Mr. Nixon, that is. What a vote getter if this can be seen as anything but a clever political move.

The momentum of the war has wound down from sheer fatigue. We no longer want the war, the Communists no longer want it. Billions of dollars and thousands of lives on both sides have not in 10 dreary stalemated years netted either side anything. A great veltschmerz lies over both friend and foe. Sheer exhaustion of words, money, and men makes both sides want to call it quits. Mr. Nixon's visit can scarcely hasten what is already inevitable. But it may get him a few more of the soft votes with which he has been so handsomely feathering his nest these past three years while the domestic scene lies in ruins . . .

. . . It was ping-pong that opened the door to Americans. All Mr. Nixon has to do is walk through it and take the credit. That too may get him some votes.

In the meantime let's give a little credit to the congressmen, the GI's, and the millions of average taxpayers who have faithfully met the challenge of these last years.

They also ran.

Unchristian Denial By Christian Church

A letter on the editorial page last Saturday (July 10) referred to the report of "Loot Taken from Minister's Home" was signed by the pastor of a "Christian" church in San Rafael and disclaimed any connection or knowledge of the man involved. This is a matter of great concern to me and to every practicing Christian believer.

Although the gentleman in question was arrested by San Rafael police and taken to Marin County Jail, as of this writing no charges have been filed against the man, and he has been free all of this time. His innocence or guilt is a question for a court of law, is it not? Trial-by-newspaper-letters goes against my grain as well as being opposite of our democratic ideals.

When so-called "Christian churches" hasten to disassociate themselves with a man before all the facts are in, it certainly is more of a comment on their own insecurities than on his behavior! As a matter of fact, the accused minister preached twice for the very congregation that now condemns him when they were meeting in the VFW building. Why a public denial of him now? . . .

Warning To Boaters In Plight Of Dog

I am writing this in hopes that you can help some person recover a beautiful black French poodle. To understand some of my expressions and some of my concern it must be understood that I spent many years of my life — almost half a century — as a seafarer.

This Sunday morning I was out acting as escort to my cat who sets out on his adventures at 0500 hours. Of course it was still dark. As it began to lighten I saw what I thought was a very large black cat down amongst the slabs of concrete, rocks, iron bars and slime right at the edge of the water at almost low tide. He was about 140 feet away from me . . .

As it lightened up more I became certain it was a dog and wondered why he did not move around until I thought I saw him chewing and pulling at what I thought was a piece of rope. He was at the water's edge in fact his feet were a few inches in the water and the tide was flooding.

I went around the building to investigate. A black French poodle with a collar and a black or dark brown leash with a red loop was anchored to some concrete slabs by his leash, and very badly frightened. I climbed down over the log barricade on the driveway and slid around the slime covered rocks to get to the dog. He growled and snapped just from fright.

I got the leash clear of the rocks and then as I would need both hands to get up, I placed the dog on the barricade and cleared his leash. When I got up he was gone across the empty lot and down Novato Street.

The reason for such detail is this. That dog could only have been in that predicament if he or she was pushed, jumped or fell from a boat going up or down the canal on the late ebb tide last night. Another hour and he would have drowned.

Please warn yachtsmen that taking a dog or a cat on a boat does not automatically qualify him as an able seaman. He needs help and close watching, especially at night. . .

Judge Allowed Jurors To Spin Their Wheels

(Reprinted from Riverside Press)

William Bennett, a member of the State Board of Equalization, was tried in San Rafael on charges of driving while intoxicated.

He received something more than equal justice.

After the jury deliberated six hours and found Mr. Bennett guilty, Municipal Court Judge Robert Smallman declared him innocent:

"I'm convinced there's not only a reasonable doubt as to his guilt, I'm convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of his innocence."

With a totally inappropriate reference to the fact that he and the defendant are of opposite political parties, the judge airily told the jury of its efforts: "This doesn't mean that you went astray. We simply have a difference of opinion."

He was, he said, going to direct the jury to consider a "not guilty" verdict before it went into its deliberations, but decided not to because of possible misinterpretation.

Instead, knowing full well what he meant the outcome to be, with or without jury concurrence, he let the jurors spin their wheels for six hours.

One of the jurors told Judge Smallman: "We are all going home with an extreme sense of frustration." Which is no doubt an understatement, but about all you can say in such circumstances without the certainty of a contempt charge.

Economic Policies Provide True Campaign Issue For 1972

WASHINGTON — Deep differences are developing between Richard Nixon and all of the potential Democartic candidates for President over how to rescue the nation from inflation and unemployment.

Since both sides now agree that the state of the economy will be the controlling issue in the election, such policy differences are a healthy development.

This means that there will be no "me, too" campaign on economic policy, no bland arguments over who can do the same things better.

It means that when it comes to voting next year we will really have a choice, not an echo—a choice between two nearly opposite economic programs.

THIS WILL BE an unusual experience in a presidential election—a fundamental choice between policies, not primarily between personalities, on the central issue of greatest concern to the voters.

From everything the President is now doing and from everything the leading Democratic candidates say they would do, if elected, it is evident that the gap between Nixon economics and Democratic Party economics is growing wider.

The two are moving steadily in opposite directions and here is the evidence on five key points:

1—Nixon rejects tax reductions to further stimulate the economy.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson advocate tax reductions to stimulate the economy.

2—Nixon rejects further increases in government spending.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson favor increased government spending; Muskie advocating putting "an additional $6 million to $8 billion into the economy through this year's budget."

3—NIXON SHUNS a wage and price review board.

The Democratic candidates want the power of the presidency more vigorously used to restrain wage and price increases and Humphrey advocates the creation of a "wage-price-profits board to add extra strength to presidential persuasion."

4—Nixon wants to hold down any greatly accelerated public works to create jobs quickly, although he is signing a Democratically sponsored bill of modest proportions.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson favor a more ambitious program. Jackson speaks of the need to finance "a minimum of 500,000 constructive job opportunities in the public sector."

5—Nixon flatly rejects mandatory wage and price controls.

The Democrats appear open to compulsory controls if inflation is not otherwise controllable. George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who will be supporting the Democratic nominee, strongly advocates such controls.

SEC. OF THE TREASURY John Connally, whom the President has named as his "chief economic spokesman," contends that the steps the administration has already taken need only "time to work" to produce lower inflation and higher employment.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson contend that more of the same is not doing and will not do the job, that basic changes in economic and fiscal policies are imperative. Senator Jackson puts it this way:

"What is lacking is not confidence of the American people in themselves or in the free enterprise system; what is lacking is confidence that the policies of this administration will get the economy moving ahead vigorously and quickly."

Unless Nixon policies produce better results in the coming months, the Democratic nominee will go into the campaign under highly favorable political circumstances.

Early Primary In Florida May Play Major Role

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The legislative one-upmanship by which New Hampshire managed to keep its presidential primary first in the nation insures that the ballots cast there will continue to carry influence far beyond their numbers.

But Florida, by attempting to set its primary date on the same Tuesday as New Hampshire's and thus create a chamber of commerce style sunshine versus snowdrift confrontation, has caused all the potential presidential candidates to give a more realistic turn to their pre-convention strategy. The primary vote in Florida now will be cast a week after that in New Hampshire, but once those ballots are counted, it will be clear that the Florida exercise matters far more than now seems apparent.

THE FACTS ARE that Florida not only has approximately 10 times New Hampshire's population, but the state's makeup is inestimably more varied. It includes the Pork Chop Belt, more akin to neighboring South Georgia and Alabama than to other parts of Florida; important farm interest; a substantial Jewish population centered in Dade County; a heavy concentration of retired persons, even more concerned than the rest of us about dollar stability; a black voter registration exceeding 300,000, and a state economy highly sensitive to national defense and the aerospace industry.

The contradictions built into that diverse electorate assure that no candidate can walk away with Florida's convention delegation by running an oversimplified, one-issue campairn. It is instead going to demand that any serious competitior there offer a reasonable demonstration of his national appeal and campaigning ability.

Among the current Democratic aspirants for the nomination, this fact appears at first to favor those of a moderate-to-conservative stance — Edmund Muskie, Henry Jackson, perhaps Wilbur Mills on their right. It certainly does not seem fertile ground for George McGovern or John Lindsay, for example, unless the number of candidates on the ballot should split the returns so much that anyone winning the solid Miami Jewish vote would have a chance of placing at the top.

The supercautious Muskie is worried, however, for the same reason he is supercautious in the first place: because he is the front-runner. His chances of arriving in Florida in that same position are excellent, since he is nearly certain of carrying New Hampshire as long as Edward Kennedy does not compete with him there. But his prospects of leaving Florida still unscathed are jeopardized by the appeal of men like Jackson and Mills to the voters there. And he feels the other candidates off to his left could hurt him in later primaries by capitalizing on what happens in Florida.

THE SOUTH — the new South — plays a key role in Muskie's essentially centrist nomination strategy. Primaries in Arkansas, Tennessee, West Virginia and North Carolina (plus Alabama, which doesn't count because of George Wallace) follow that in Florida. To talk moderate good sense and win in Florida will strengthen Muskie's already firm chances in both primary and convention states in the South.

That is his aim — not to appeal to the prejudices of the South, nor even to address himself to the South as such. He wants to talk there about national problems, to say outright and to imply by the breadth of his campaign approach that the South is now part of the nation, not a region to be dealt with separately. In doing so, he hopes to join with southern spokesmen for the present and future, rather than the past — men like Governors Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Robert Scott of North Carolina (who has already declared himself a Muskie man), John West of South Carolina, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, and particularly, Reubin Askew and Sen. Lawton Chiles of Florida.

His worry is that his challengers, having less to lose and in any event almost no hope of carrying Florida themselves, may try to whipsaw him there. McGovern or Harold Hughes or Birch Bayh can come in and state in the strongest terms their positions calculated to appeal to Democrats in other primary states where they have better prospects, for example Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon and California. Then, in those states, they can taunt Muskie for hewing to the middle of the road (and trying to win) while they were boldly speaking out (and knowing they would lose).

It is a form of progress in politics that any leading candidate should be sweating these eight months in advance about what he will say in Florida — in the South — as he seeks the presidency. And that kind of early agony is the price one pays for running so far ahead so long before the campaign begins.

Security Proves Less Oppressive In San Francisco Federal Court

The setting in the federal district court in San Francisco where one of the numerous hearings in the Davis-Magee case was held last week provided quite a contrast with the Marin courtroom where they usually take place.

Those wanting to attend the Marin sessions, both visitors and press, must go through a search at the main door of the Hall of Justice and then queue up in lines near the courtroom.

Then a deputy sheriff takes names, asks for identification or press cards, and sends people on to another deputy sheriff or a matron, who does another pat search and again goes through handbags of women and asks men to empty their pockets into plastic containers.

The next step is through a metal detector and finally into the courtroom where the press occupies the first few rows and the visitors the back portion.

THE COURTROOM has about 100 seats but the rows are close together. No one is allowed beyond the railing which separates the spectators' portion from the attorneys, jury box and judge. (Exceptions, of course, are the defendants, their attorneys, a clerk, court reporter and the judge as well as guards and deputies.)

More deputies ring the walls of the courtroom, which is usually crowded, and shortly before the proceedings start, the courtroom door is locked. Anyone leaving is not allowed back in to that session.

As anyone can readily imagine, the atmosphere in the courtroom is highly charged most of the time.

VERY DIFFERENT, however, as the setting in San Francisco, where a hearing was held in a high-ceilinged paneled courtroom on the 17th floor of the Federal Building.

There was a metal detector (borrowed from Marin) right outside the door of the courtroom and everyone had to stand in a line to go through it. However, there was no pat search, just a walk through the metal detector and a look inside the purses and what came out of men's pockets.

Inside, there were marshals, but they were in plain clothes.

The press was allowed to sit in the jury box, with others at a regular press table adjacent to the table where Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee sat with their attorneys.

Magee was unshackled and walked freely into the room.

Those who wished could leave the courtroom and return — they only had to walk through the metal detector again.

THE COURTROOM must be two or three times the size of the one in Marin, although there are only about half again as many seats. The judge sits on a high bench and a crier sets a formal tone by having everyone rise when the judge enters.

Even Magee, who usually dominates the Marin courtroom completely, seemed a bit awed by the surroundings. Although he had a great deal to say, he seemed more subdued than usual, and when he was taken out of the courtroom, it was at his own request.

Although no one can blame Marin County for turning courtrooms into armed camps after last August's shoot-out, the federal court security seemed adequate and the proceedings seemed more judicial to this reporter.

Pope Blesses China Visit Plan

CASTELGANDOLFO, Italy (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, who promised a further statement on President Nixon's announced visit to Communist China, expressed joy at the initiative during his weekly blessing at his summer palace Sunday.

"Something new and great is being accomplished and being prepared which can change not a little the face of the Earth," the Pope said.

"We will have something to say, some hope to express," he added. "But not now, not here."

Sausalito Seminar Topic: Police 'Quota System'

Does Sausalito Police Department have a quota system under which officers are directed to make a minimum number of arrests per month?

This and other questions will be thrashed out at a community seminar to be sponsored by the Marin County Police-Community Relations Program next Saturday in Sausalito.

Bella H. Aaron, director of the police-community relations program, said the seminar will be held at Christ Episcopal Church on Santa Rosa Avenue, Sausalito, at 10 a.m.

A dozen panelists, including Sausalito city officials, citizens, and Police Chief James Wright, will discuss "Problems and Solutions Within Sausalito." Moderator will be Dr. William Scalopino, head of the behavioral sciences department at College of Marin.

When asked whether the alleged "quota system" would be discussed, Mrs. Aaron replied: "Any topic that the people want to bring up will be discussed."

McNamara: Reluctant Doubter On Vietnam

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former Defense Secy. Robert S. McNamara, like many a lesser man, began to doubt the morality of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy only when it became fairly clear that the policy was not going to work.

This emerges with agonizing clarity in a just-published book entitled "McNamara: His Ordeal in the Pentagon" (Harper & Row) which covers the highlights of his tenure under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson until he left the government early in 1968.

Written by Newsweek diplomatic correspondent Henry L. Trewhitt, the book provides some valuable perspective for judging the material contained in the flurry of secret Pentagon documents now being published by various newspapers.

McNAMARA, ACCORDING to Trewhitt, shared the delusion of most top administration officials that the application of sufficient U.S. military power would eventually force Hanoi and the Viet Cong to sue for peace. Many of the most severe present-day critics of the Johnson-Kennedy policy also shared that delusion at one time.

However, Trewhitt's thesis is that the awakening was for McNamara more painful than for many others because of the conflict always present in his nature between "the supremely rational technocrat and the humanist who quoted philosphers and poets."

"He had created a balanced war machine with full acceptance of the need. He had sounded the call to put it to use. But when his system failed him, the nature of the man made the consequences especially painful ...

"There was a kind of desperate courage in him, however, as his disillusionment deepened. Once U.S. military gradualism had failed to produce the programmed results in an acceptable time, the administration in its frustration appeared to be moving toward even greater escalation. To him, this was intolerable. His efforts to prevent it finally made him an anachronism, out of step, out of favor, a tragic figure."

WHEN McNAMARA in late 1967 proposed stopping the bombing of North Vietnam and freezing U.S. troop levels and beginning to shift the burden of fighting to the South Vietnamese, only Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary Nicholas Katzenbach supported him even in part. They called for cutting back the bombing to that area just north of the demilitarized zone.

"Ironically, the reaction of Clark Clifford, who later would reverse his field as he succeeded McNamara, was one of the most uncompromising of all" to whom the President circulated the memorandum, Trewhitt says.

In the beginning, under Kennedy, both McNamara and Rusk tried to make certain that the young President "knew the possible consequences" of his decision to send U.S. military advisers into the field in Vietnam with authority to act as possible emergency relief troops if needed. This policy was proposed by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Walt W. Rostow, a state Department counselor who later became a presidential adviser under Johnson.

AFTER THAT initial warning, McNamara expressed no doubts concerning the policy and in 1962, after his first trip to Saigon, said "every quantitative measurement we have shows we are winning this war."

According to Trewhitt, "the government of the United States was trapped in a web of self-deception. Among those most deceived was the secretary of defense, a critical link in the policy-making chain."

By 1965, McNamara and Taylor at a National Security Council meeting said they believed the "major part of the U.S. military task can be completed by the end of 1965 ..."

McNAMARA, recovering from his despondency after the death of President Kennedy, agreed to stay on under Johnson. He strongly supported the president and, according to Trewhitt, when Sen. Wayne Morse called the Vietnam conflict "McNamara's war," McNamara retorted that he had no objection because "I think it is a very important war and I am pleased to be identified with it and do whatever I can to win it."

McNamara resisted pressure from the Joint Chiefs of Staff for an all-out American assault on North Vietnam, contending that gradual pressure was less dangerous and would achieve the desired objective. But by mid-1967, after agreeing to lift the U.S. troop levels in Vietnam over the 500,000 mark, McNamara was increasingly assailed by doubts, dismay and frustration, according to Trewhitt.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Noncommercial Outlets To Advertise This Fall

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Here's a switch: the non-commercial television network will use commercials on the outlets of its three major video competitors —ABC, CBS and NBC —to promote its new fall season.

According to the non-commercial network, "This is the first time that public television has ever gone directly to purchase of commercials to seek a wider audience of viewers."

In an announcement, the Public Broadcasting Service, which is the name for the coast-to-coast non-commercial video outlet, said "This is also the first time that one television network has ever advertised its own programs on another netowrk or that such ads have been accepted by the networks."

At any rate, it's about time public television went big league in its promotion. In the video industry, it has been a scandalous fact that, despite the many splendid programs non-commercial television puts on, all too few persons are aware of them, and just plain miss them.

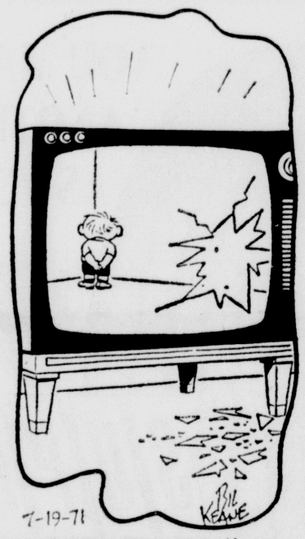

PBS, which will begin its second year as the network for about 205 non-commercial station, starts its new advertising campaign in October with spot announcements on ABC-TV, CBS-TV and NBC-TV, and also with ads in newspapers of 10 of the largest television markets. These markets are New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco, Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, Dallas-Fort Worth, Pittsburgh and Washington, D.C.

The print advertising will coincide with the first two weeks of the new PBS season, which starts on Sunday, Oct. 3. And, says PBS, video commercials have "been purchased for the same two-week period on the news programs and selected other programs of the three commercial networks. Twenty-five spots have been scheduled on NBC, CBS and ABC in a campaign keyed to the most outstanding PBS offerings for each night of the weekly fall schedule."

The announcement from PBS says many of the television spots will be placed in the evening news reports of NBC, CBS and ABC so that the ads will reach viewers of the top anchormen at the commercial networks.

"In addition," says the announcement, "there will be Sunday spots on CBS' 'Face the Nation' and on the highly-rated NBC football adjacent to the World Series game on Oct. 10, the CBS football post-game show on Oct. 10 and the NBC baseball playoff game Oct. 3."

Girl Scout Aide Rescued From Mountain's Face

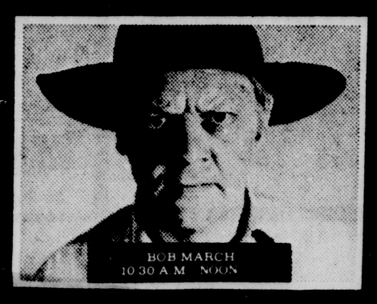

RED LODGE, Mont. (UPI)—A 22-year-old Girl Scout counselor was rescued Sunday after being stranded 79 hours on the face of a treacherous, 12,160-foot peak in the Beartooth mountain range.

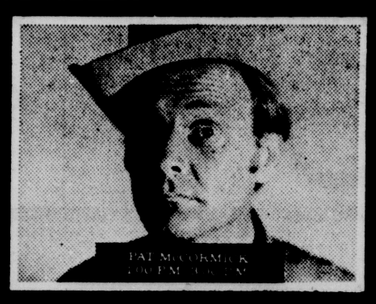

"I've never been so happy to be alive," said Gail Zacary, Boise, Idaho, as she was wheeled into a Red Lodge hospital. Her injuries were not immediately determined. Officials say Miss Zachary carried a sleeping bag and water but no food.

Her rescue was accomplished by 11 expert mountain climbers who lowered Miss Zachary down a 300-foot vertical cliff at the 10,700-foot level of Silver Run Peak, about 50 miles from the northeast corner of Yellowstone National Park.

Miss Zachary and Leslie Appling, of Hillsborough, Calif., became separated from a hiking party Thursday and finally were found by searchers Saturday afternoon. Miss Appling was able to walk to safety.

Frankfurters Have Less Fat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Hot dogs are getting leaner.

Agriculture Department officials said reports on frankfurters and other cooked sausages tested by the department's Meat Inspection Service in the second quarter of 1971 showed a decline in fat content from a year earlier.

Not all of the nearly 4,700 samples tested were examined for specific fat content. Some merely were checked to make sure they fell within the legal 30 per cent fat content ceiling. But the nearly 2,600 subjected to speeific content tests showed an average of only 27.7 per cent fat compared with 27.9 per cent in the first quarter.

The report also showed that 98.2 per cent of all samples checked were inside the 30 per cent ceiling compared with 98.8 per cent in the first quarter. Sausages not meeting the fat ceiling test must be reworked before sale.

Ever wonder where the metal comes from in the metallic fibers that decorate many different types of material? Basically, the metallic fiber is a combination of adhesive, plastic, and metal. Aluminum foil is often used in production of this material! The beauty of coated metallic filaments in material is that they never tarnish. They can be used all over the house in drapes, carpets and upholstery with devastating effect. And there is nothing more dramatic than a dress created from this type of material.

BROWNIES AND Junior Girl Scouts went on singing as two international Ranger Guides joined in and taught German, French and Canadian versions of some of the favorite songs at Sky Oaks Girl Scout day camp in Fairfax. . . . WITH GREEN FACES'

Visitors Take Camping Lead

By BARBARA HOSMER

"Here we come with the green faces," quipped Susanne and Sharon as they crunched across the leafy ground at Sky Oaks Girl Scout camp in Fairfax to join a songfest of log-sitters.

Briefly in Marin on a U.S. tour from their homes in Germany and Canada, the two teen-agers had just finished the slow, snaking drive to Muir Woods and back to the Fairfax hills and were feeling a little carsick. But they gamely joined in the songs, although Sharon Scott from Ontario protested she couldn't sing. She then taught the day camper Brownies, junior and Cadette Scouts the Canadian words to "This Land Is Your Land," and started French and English versions of a three-round rendition of "Frere Jacques" while Susanne Romer from Munich handled the German verse and Mill Valley senior scout Debbie Fox strummed her guitar.

THE TWO international scouts are Ranger Guides at home and as a part of an international gathering were in Marin for a two-day tour that included the day camp.

There they went from the tent-making group to the Pixie display to the Braille book gathering, asking questions about each activity and trying their hand at it, joshing one another in German and French as well as English.

Both were happy that they had the chance to come to the U.S. on the Juliette Low Fund program, along with the three girls from Norway, three from Switzerland, six from Canada and a few Americans who attended the international gathering in New York, went to Washington, D.C., and are now scattered throughout the United States doing what Sharon and Susanne are — sightseeing and visiting local scout programs.

Their seven week tour will be climaxed with the girls' climbing in the San Bernardino Mountains in a program called "Steep Trails," Sharon explained with excitement. The international group will meet in Los Angeles July 29 to begin that adventure.

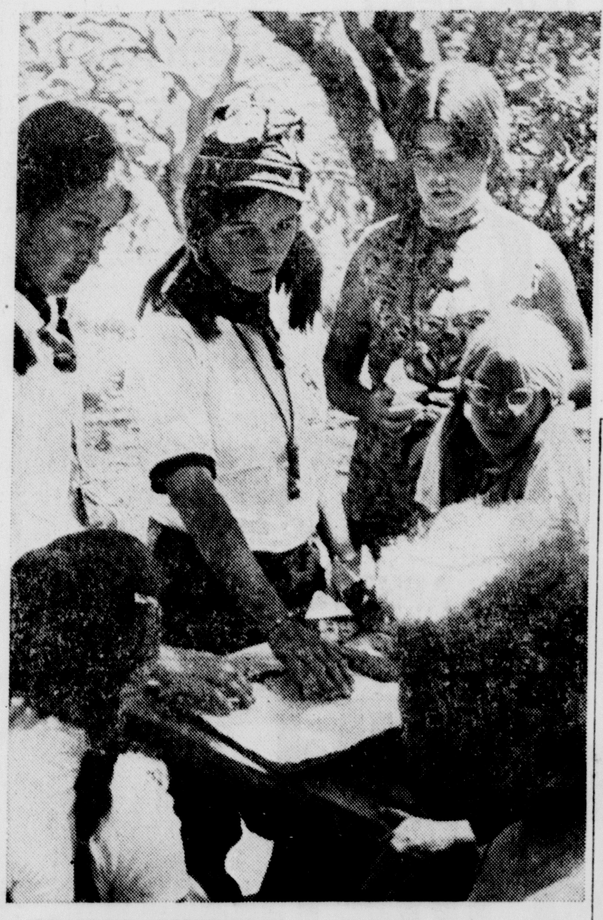

THE GIRLS stayed with the Richard Parino family in Mill Valley for their brief visit in Marin Thursday and Friday and their host group was the Southern Marin Senior Troop led by Mrs. Parino, but during their Bay Area stay Susanne is the guest of a San Francisco family and Sharon is located in Fremont. They have each day filled with activities such as their Marin tour, which included the Marin Shakespeare Festival preview of "Once Upon a Mattress," for which Mrs. Parino's daughter is playing in the orchestra.

Their tour guide was Judy Ellman, a staffer at the day camp and member of the Southern Marin Troop 427.

The day camp at Sky Oaks, sponsored by the Bay Area Girl Scout Council, is staffed by volunteers from the Richardson Bay Marin Del Centro and Mission Rafael scouting associations. Both Sky Oaks and the Novato day camp at Shady Oaks opened the first of three two-week sessions last week.

COME ON in, there's room, Canadian Sharon Scott (front) teases Susanne Romer of Germany as the visitors climb under one of the pup tents the day campers were making. The tent and shelter-making is one of the Girl Scout activities the youngsters learned to prepare for an overnight.

LEARNING ABOUT Braille reading, Sharon and Susanne place their hands on a page of a Braille book which the day campers used to understand how the blind can read. Some can never get the touch, they learn from the leader. The foreign visitors asked questions and entered into the camp activities as they went from group to group.

JUDY WALLACE

Public Disclosure Urged On 'Filth'

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Coincidental with the recent search for poisonous potato soup came a demand that the Federal Government disclose its guidelines on the amount of filth allowed in some foods where it cannot be avoided.

The demand came from Kenton L. Harris, a former FDA officer who worked on food sanitation problems. In a speech to food officials, he urged that more guidelines be established and that the general public be allowed to know what they are.

At the same time, Thomas Brown, FDA's compliance officer, reported that the agency already was considering doing what Harris had requested. Both Harris and Brown appeared to agree that industry itself would benefit in the long run with public disclosure of filth guidelines.

First public indication that there were such guidelines came a year ago with publication in some newspapers of the limits of filth and dirt set jointly by the FDA and an association of spice manufacturers.

The guidelines are based on the fact that it is impossible to keep all impurities out of food, especially food that is uncooked when sold. The question is where to set the limits. Brown says the FDA first determines what is the best that industry can do, then the limit is set at that point.

For wheat, the present limit limit is one rodent pellet per pint. But since a rodent can be either a mouse or rat, Brown says that the FDA is considering tightening the standard somewhat. He would not say what he had in mind.

Current guidelines for spices allow:

— two parts of rat excreta or 15 miligrams of other animal excreta in each of two samples from one lot;

— up to four whole dead insects per sample;

— up to 49 mites or winged insects per samp;e; (If 50 visible the the naked eye, the lot must be sifted before being sold.)

— up to 5 percent mold as seen by the unaided eye;

— and from .05 to 2 percent "extraneous matter" such as stones, dirt, wire and string, depending on what commodity is involved.

Asked to define the size of a sample or lot, Brown said that a "lot" is simply the size of a shipment, regardless of amount, and that representative samples are taken from lots for testing and analysis. He acknowledged that the guidelines are not very precise.

Technically speaking, the law does not allow any filth in food. By setting guidelines for it, Brown said, the FDA is saying in effect that a small amount is impossible to avoid and is not likely to hurt you.

"If we took action against everything with filth in it," he said, "we wouldn't have (anything) on the market."

He insisted that when impurities get to the point of being harmful to human health, the FDA steps in. He acknowledged, however, that the point is not always clear to either government regulators or industry officials.

Filth guidelines exist for other products besides wheat and spices. Some bee fragments are allowed in honey, parts of corn worms are allowed in canned corn, and some insects are permitted in flour. But the FDA has not officially released its guidelines stating the exact limitations.

In most cases, cooking would kill any harmful germs due to filth in food. It is also true that the body can tolerate a certain amount of dirt without injury or illness. The biggest problem is esthetical: many people would rather not know exactly what they eat while praying that the FDA is right.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Couple Should Consider 'Special Needs' Children For Adoption

DEAR HELEN:

Recently we contacted our Welfare Department to file application to adopt a little girl, perhaps twin girls. We also contacted Child and Family Services.

We were told that in our state, since we already have children (I'm unable to have more), we couldn't even file application. A new law says that only childless couples can adopt.

The reason: babies are in short supply, due to contraception, abortions, and the fact that more and more unmarried mothers are keeping their children.

We're trying now to adopt through a church orphanage, but this organization can only place about 50 babies a year throughout the state.

We haven't had much luck trying to adopt a little girl from overseas, either. Is there any hope? — THE T.C. FAMILY

DEAR T.C.S:

Your best hope lies with "special needs" children: mixed-race babies, those with birth defects, older youngsters. Adoption agencies in may states are placing such children in homes where they'll have ready-made brothers and sisters.

If you are interested in a transracial adoption, write to THE OPEN DOOR SOCIETY, Post Office Box 2447, San Diego, California, 92112, and enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for a brochure. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

About a year ago, after 20 years of marriage and six children, I put my husband out. We'd been fighting for six months and he gave every indication of running around. I loved him so much that each time he walked out the door, my heart was torn apart. But the yelling and arguments were making everyone miserable so, to save our sanity, I told him to go.

I still love him. Even though other men ask me out, I just can't go. Sometimes I think my husband still cares for me, and other times I'm sure he must hate me for the way I treated him.

I have too much pride to tell him, for if he turned away, I'd feel like such a fool. How can I find out what his feelings are? — ALONE AND SORRY

DEAR A AND S:

For Pete's sake, you lived with your husband 20 years and shared six children with him. If you can't manage one small "I'm sorry," how did you stay together so long? And what did you talk about? Anyone who has shared the closeness of marriage has "looked the fool" many times. Why let "pride" hold you back now, when so much is at stake? Call him! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband was drafted into the Army a month before our baby was born, leaving me with very little money and lots of bills. My allotment just recently started, but it's only a little over $100, and my rent alone is $150 a month. At first the Red Cross was very helpful but, because my allotment came through, I'm afraid they can no longer give me aid. We're trying for a hardship discharge but, meanwhile, how am I going to live and support our month-old baby. I have no relatives close and can't borrow. Is there any hope? — SERVICE WIFE IN NEED

DEAR SERVICE WIFE:

DEAR READERS:

"Service Wife" is one of thousands who just can't make it on Service allotments, even with the aid of food stamps. But soon Servicemen's pay will be raised. It's about time! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

MRS. GEORGE C. PATRICK JR.

Ex-Marinite Married In S. Dakota

Suzanne Mary Tinan, formerly of San Rafael, became the bride of Capt. George Calaway Patrick Jr. Saturday in a ceremony at Holy Family Church in Mitchell, S.D.

The couple were wed in a double ceremony which also united in marriage Suzanne's sister Stephanie Tinan and John Lonnquist of Lincoln, Neb.

The brides are the daughters of Fred A. Tinan of Mitchell and the late Mr. Tinan.

Suzanne's twin sister, Mrs. James Carlson of San Jose, was matron of honor, and her maid of honor was Susan Kuizenga of Tiburon. Bridesmaids were Mr. George Coppinger of Santa Clara and Gloria Tinan of Mountain View, also sisters of the brides.

Capt. Richar Solem of Dayton, Ohio, was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Capt. Keith Reiling of Vacaville, Robert Meador of Atlanta, Ga., and Larry Olbright of Minneapolis, Minn.

A graduate of Notre Dame High School in Mitchell and the University of Nebraska, Suzanne taught English at Terra Linda High School.

George is the son of Mrs. Roscoe Jesse Reed of New Bern, N.C. He was graduated from high school in Greenville, N.C., and East Carolina University and is an instructor pilot for the Air Force Reserve, stationed at Travis Air Force Base in Vacaville.

The Patricks are living in San Pablo.

Today is Monday, July 19, the 200th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Cancer.

American author A.J. Cronin was born July 19, 1896.

On this day in history:

In 1870 the Franco-Prussian War began.

In 1941 Premier Josef Stalin took over the post of Defense Commissar in Russia as World War II spread over much of Europe. In 1967 82 persons, including Navy Secretary-designate John McNaughton, were killed when an airliner collided with a small plane over North Carolina.

In 1969 Mary Jo Kopechne was drowned when the car in which she was riding with U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy plunged off a bridge in Massachusetts.

A thought for today: French novelist Andre Maurois said, "There are certain persons for whom pure truth is a poison.

Pot Case To Superior Court

Dennis Lee Hovde, 22, and Nalla Hovde, 27, both of Corte Madera, have been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of possessing and selling heroin.

They were to be arraigned in superior court today.

The couple was arrested July 8 by Marin drug agents who had obtained a warrant accusing Miss Hovde, who is also known as Judith Samuelson, of selling heroin to agents three times, and Hovde with selling it once, in June.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Was South Unlucky, Or Had He Brought His Own Defeat?

"If a man plays against the odds, he has no right to complain about his bad luck," Sherlock Holmes remarked as he stood up to leave the Baker Street Bridge Club. "I didn't hear anybody complain," Dr. Watson muttered, but he got up to leave with his friend. They had just kibitzed the hand shown today, and the good doctor didn't see what playing against the odds had to do with anything.

SPADE DUMMY

South put up dummy's ten of spades at the first trick, and East covered with the jack. South refused this trick butnaturally won the next spade. West got in with the ace of diamonds to knock out the other spade stopper, and again with the ace of hearts in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

Do you agree with Holmes or with Watson? Was South unlucky, or had he brought misfortune on himself by playing against the odds?

There's something to be said for both views. South had to be very unlucky to go down, but he put his neck into the noose by playing the ten of spades at the first trick.

SIX CASES

The spades were a threat only if West had started with five and East with two. Assuming that West had led fourth-best from a longsuit, East might have any of six doubletons headed by an honor: Q-9, Q-8, Q-7, J-8 and J-7. In any of these six cases South could not gain by playing dummy's ten of spades.

The ten of spades would win if East had 9-8 or 9-7. East was very unlikely to hold 8-7 since West would have led the queen of spades if he had Q-J-9-5-3.

6-To-2 ODDS

The odds were, therefore, about 6 to 2 that East had Q-X or J-X of spades, rather than X-X. South should, therefore, play low from dummy at the first trick. East correctly plays his low card (the eight, as the cards lie), and South wins with the ace.

West takes the next trick with the ace of diamonds and leads another low spade. Declarer plays the ten from dummy, and East wins with the jack. Now East must switch since he is out of spades. South thus gains time to knock out the ace of hearts, assuring his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your right, bids one heart.

You hold:
♠ - 9 7 5 3
♥ - A 10 4
♦ - A 5
♣ - Q 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is worth an opening bid of one spade, but is not worth an overcall of one spade when an opponent opens the bidding. The basic requirement for an overcall is a strong trump suit, not high-card points.

Omission Corrected

The date for graduation ceremonies planned at the Bayview School In San Quentin Prison inadvertently was omitted from a story in Friday's Independent-Journal. The rites will begin at 7:30 p.m. July 23.

DRAMA REVIEW

Meadows Debut Earns Applause

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Departing from its original format, the Marin Shakespeare Festival opened its 11th season Saturday night at the Forest Meadows Theater with a delightful presentation of the musical, "Once Upon A Mattress."

Lynn Curtis Phillips as Princess Winnifred is big and brassy, giving the part a touch of Carol Burnett — for whom the musical was written. For a 17-year-old, she has amazing stage presence.

Joining Miss Phillips for opening night laurels was Jim Orin as the King, cast mute by a witch's spell. His "Man to Man Talk" is one of the most refreshing ingredients of the musical's uniformly excellent score.

Just a few steps down the ladder from Miss Phillips and Orin are Sharon McKnight as the Queen and Jim Mairs as Prince Dauntless.

In smaller roles Tery Cahalan makes an excellent Minstrel; Cynthia David as Lady Larken and Jerry Dixon as Sir Harry are just right as the lovers, and Dick Leonard as the Jester lends professionalism in the melody, "Very Soft Shoes."

The musical, based on the tale of the pod and the pea, bounces gaily along, although the first act is a little too long. However, the second picks up considerably and has a rousing finale.

With the use of microphones across the front of the amphitheater, projection is no problem in the outdoor setting.

Thanks, too, to the professionalism of Margot Jones, choreography is a high point, especially in the amusing finale.

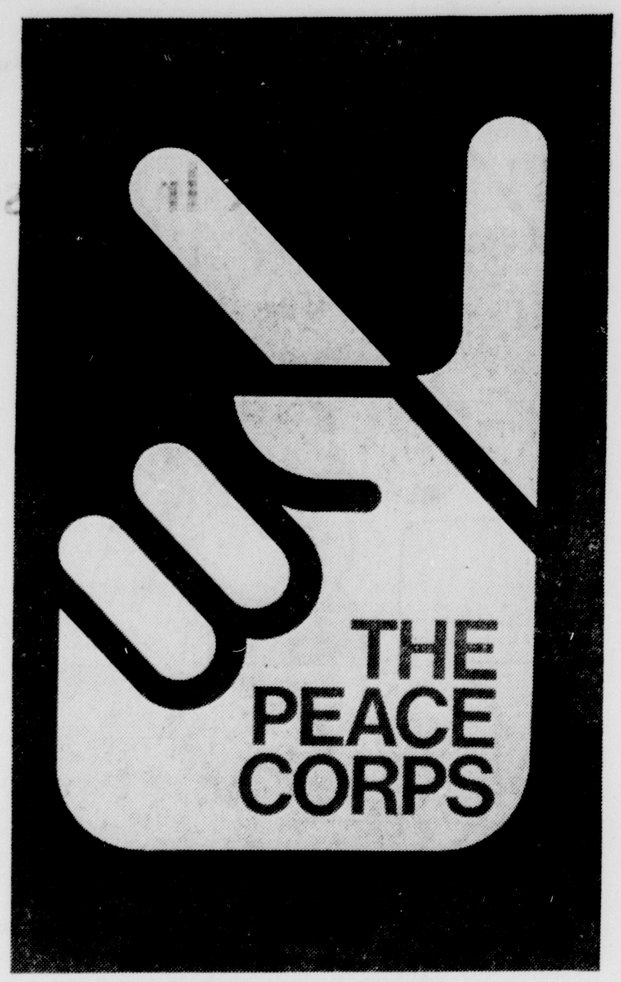

Also a plus is the work of Scott Merrick and his "pit" orchestra, which is placed to the right side of the stage. Made up mostly of high school students, the orchestra is a commendable unit.

The medieval costumes are bright and rich-looking. It was a very worthy effort by designer Janice Johnson, who is also doing clothes for the second festival production, "Much Ado About Nothing," which opens July 30.

This musical is one of the better theatrical efforts on the Marin front and worthy of strong support from the entire communtty. It will be performed again this Thursday through Sunday, and Aug. 4, 5 and 6 and Aug. 14 and 15.

Preceding Saturday night's opener, the festival held its annual "feast of goodwill" in one of the meadows adjacent to the amphitheater. John Brebner, creative director and founder of the company, served as master of ceremonies for the Renassiance feast, which featured madrigal groups, strolling performers and a costumed dancing bear.

"ONCE UPON A MATTRESS" — A Marin Shakespeare Festival production. Music by Mary Rodgers and lyrics by Marshall Barer. Directed by Dan Caldwell. Scott Merrick, musical director; Drew Eshelman, assistant director and choreography and production numbers staged by Margot Jones. The cast (in order of appearance): Tery Cahalan, minstrel; Robert Brothers, prince; Holly Berryman, princess; Linda Apple, queen; Joe Perrotti, wizard; Carol Oldham, princess No. 12; Ann Long, Lady Rowena; Bettina Weinstein, Lady Merrill; Jim Mairs, Prince Dauntless; Sharon McKnight, the queen; Clairellen Waldeck, Lady Lucille; Cynthia Davis, Lady Larken; William Spremich, Sir Studley; Jim Orin, the king; Dick Leonard, jester; Jerry Dixon, Sir Harry; Lynn Curtis Phillips, Princess Winnifred; Robert Brothers, Sir Harold; Teddi Kern, Sir Luce; Layne Tucker, Lady Mabelle; Clairellen Waldeck, the Nightingale of Samarkand; Julie Kehm and Vanessa Witt, witches, and Sydney Erskine.

POSTER FOR PEACE

The ubiquitous peace sign against a blue backdrop was the theme Mill Valleyan Henry J. Breuer chose for a winning entry in a poster contest sponsored by the Peace Corps on its 10th anniversary. Breuer, of 21 Evergreen Avenue, a commercial artist, won $500 as one of nine runners-up. The contest drew more than 1,500 entries worldwide.

Congressmen Talk Short, Write Long

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., according to page H6661 of the Congressional Record, was telling the House about a Greek named Heraclitus, who lived and died several hundred years BT (before television).

According to this sage, as interpreted by Wright in light of modern communications techniques, the American public had a right to know whether it had been misled by CBS.

That was why Wright was voting to cite CBS for contempt of Congress in its refusal to supply requested "outtakes" — the film shot but not used in the final product—from its documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon."

On page H6662 Rep. Robert H. Leggett, D-Calif., said he was against the citation. "The outtakes are not the public's business," we are advised he said, "any more than is a rough draft of the speech I am giving right now."

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, on page H6660 of the Record, said CBS should at least have done something to give viewers a clue when it was editing recorded remarks.

Debate for and against citing CBS for contempt went on like that for 27 pages, and you may wonder how all that talk could have been squeezed into the single hour allowed for debate before the House finally voted 226 to 181 last week against the citation.

The House certainly wouldn't have altered its own official account of the debate. Or would it?

It would. It did. And it does every day the Congressional Record is published.

In some cases the reader at least was give a clue, along lines suggested for TV by Minshall. After a member was recognized by Speaker Carl Albert, there would be a line in parenthesis that said (Mr. Gude asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks).

That meant that Rep. Gilbert Gude, R-Md., got up and said he was against citing CBS for contempt, and then in an extension of his remarks published later explained why in about 300 words.

But somewhere along the line Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., asked and got unanimous consent for all members to revise and extend their remarks on the subject at hand.

The best available evidence is that Wright, Leggett and Minshall were among about 25 members who took advantage of this blanket privilege when in fact, because of the strict time limitations, they had not been able to get in even a word.

No clues are offered the reader. There would be no way to prove one way or the other if Wright, Minshall and Leggett were to come forward now and say they did, too, speak all those words on the House floor.

Of course, clerks take down a verbatim account of what actually is said and done in the House. So you say let's get the "outtakes" from the Record and see whether the House deliberately has been misleading the public?

You've got to be kidding.

Marin City Development, HUD Loan To Be Eyed

The future of redevelopment in Marin City and what needs to be done to complete development in the Southern Marin community will be discussed at a workshop meeting of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board tomorrow at 8 a.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

According to Keith E. Kelly, assistant director of the agency, the day-long meeting will consider the agency's recent application for a $900,000 government loan and a two-year time extension to complete redevelopment.

Also to be discussed at the workshop will be 701 planning for Marin City, the relationship of Richardson Bay to community development, and the marketing of redevelopment land in Marin City.

Kelly said one-third of the loan the agency is seeking from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or $300,000 must come from local sources in the form of non-cash credits.

VD Program Set Tuesday

An informational program on venereal disease will be presented Tuesday at the College of Marin by the Bay Area Venereal Disease Association.

The program, expected to begin at about 11:30 a.m. at the college center, will include discussion groups, pamphlets and displays.

Little Leaguers In Overturned Truck Rescued

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—An alert fire lookout was credited with the rescue of 13 Little League youngsters after a truck in which they were riding overturned on a narrow mountain road.

The accident occurred Saturday during an outing near Mt. Hamilton's Lick Observatory and sparked a small brush fire in an isolated area off the main road.

"One of our lookouts spotted the blaze and reported it. A fire truck went to the scene immediately and spotted the overturned vehicle," a State Division of Forestry spokesman said. "Otherwise the wreck might not have been found for hours."

List's Technique Brilliant, Sensitive

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Whether it was Eugene List's international renown, perfection of the day, or both — more than 1,000 persons turned out to hear the California-born pianist yesterday afternoon at Forest Meadows.

The second program in the Marin Music Chest's 37th annual summer series, it was dedicated to the late Mrs. Samuel Archibald, music chest president, in a brief opening speech by Mrs. John Lesoine, acting president.

List proved to be a formidable virtuoso with the brilliant technique and poetic sensitivity ideal for romantic repertoire, especially Chopin. He played with such smoothly controlled facility that the most difficult passages were executed with effortless ease, and there was no emotional romantic excess.

The order of his program was rather unusual. Instead of a crescendo leading to a dazzling tour de force as a finale, it began with three light and sparkling 18th Century compositions — "The Cuckoo" by Daquin, Scarlatti's Pastorale in D Minor and the Gigue in B Flat Minor by Graun — and ended with three piquant little pieces of the early American virtuoso pianist Gottschalk. These were "The Banana Tree," "Souvenir Of Puerto Rico" and "The Banjo."

The works of substance and depth came in the middle and included the Beethoven Sonata No. 23 in F Minor. Op. 37 (Appassionata), and Chopin's Ballade in F Minor and Sonata in B Flat Minor, Op. 25.

I was pleased that List chose none of the popular salon music by Chopin but one of the ballades, those works of epic grandeur, and the famed B Flat Minor Sonata with its emotional depth that requires a lovely singing tone as well as technical legerdemain. These Chopin pieces were the highlight of the afternoon.

For some reason the Appassionata was not one of the greatest performances I have heard of this very popular sonata. It did not have the dramatic power that one hears, for example, in a performance by Rudolf Serkin.

It was good to hear some works by an American composer, one in whom interest is growing. Gottschalk, though not a great composer, was hailed as a virtuoso pianist by Berlioz and Chopin, and he did write some valuable and delightful things apart from his sentimental program music.

Mrs. Lesoine announced that anyone wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Archibald with a donation to the Music Chest's scholarship fund may send it to the chest at P.O. Box 368, Ross.

The third concert in the series will be presented by operatic bass-baritone George Shirley on Aug. 22.

Roller Coaster Fall Kills Man

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Vincent Kinley, 28, was battered to death over the weekend when he fell over the side of a speeding roller coaster car and was dragged 1,000 feet over the tracks.

Witnesses said Kinley, of suburban Sewickley stood up as the roller coaster at West View Amusement Park rounded the last curve, lost his balance and fell.

His safety belt prevented him from falling free of the car, the witnesses said.

Unemployment Rate For Vets Declines

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The unemployment rate for Vietnam era veterans aged 20 to 29 has declined from 11 per cent in February to 8.1 per cent in June.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its latest figures indicated the unemployment rate for male nonveterans in the same age group also fell, from 8.7 per cent in February to 7.8 per cent last month.

STRANGE DENIZENS OF RICHARDSON BAY

Avid anglers Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pollock of 175 Val Vista, Mill Valley, claim these as their haul in a "delightful afternoon" of fishing on Richardson Bay. "It took very little prodding with an oar to break the surface crust and get our lines into the water," declared Pollack. He identified the catch with formal, Latinized names as "Cupus plasticus," "Bikeus tubus," "Cokeus bottleus," "Garbage bagus," "Beerus canus," most prolific of all. After disserting on the life styles and edibility of the strange creatures, Pollack declared the anglers encountered "a real, live perch! He came struggling up through the murky water, spied our boat and leaped in . . . with a most grateful look. He expired shortly afterward gasping great gillsful of smog." And like any real fisherman, the Pollocks had stories about the huge "Carus tirus" and "Truckus tirus" creatures that got away.

Fatal Leap Off Span For Woman

A 22-year-old Los Altos, Santa Clara County, woman died yesterday in a leap from the Golden Gate Bridge despite efforts by her mother and two others to prevent her from jumping and then to rescue her after the lunge.

Mary Elizabeth McKeown had been depressed for some time, according to her mother, Mrs. Louis McKeown, and drove her car to the bridge at 1:55 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss McKeown parked her car near the south tower on the bridge's west side, then climbed over the railing and jumped.

A passerby, Richard Hutzler of Santa Clara, told officers he tried to prevent the leap and "came within six inches" but missed.

A 19-year-old youth, Edmond M. Nieto, of Hillsborough, San Mateo County, was fishing at fort point below the bridge and saw Miss McKeowan hit the water. "She rolled over and started swimming," Nieto told officers, so he ran for help.

Christian R. Holems, 25, of San Francisco, an aide to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District,. and on reserve duty at Fort Point, dove into the water and pulled Miss McKeown out.

He administered artificial respiration for about 10 minutes, officers said, but was unable to revive the woman.

About 90 minutes later Miss McKeown's mother called bridge officials, asking them to watch for her daughter who, the mother feared, intended to take her own life.

Tax Increase Seen In Wage Requests

The strike by Mill Valley's city employees entered its 19th day today as city officials revealed a wage and fringe benefit package requested by employees which, one councilman said, would increase the tax rate 16 cents.

Official reaction to the employees proposal was not disclosed and no counter-offer was reported. Negotiators for employees and the city set another bargaining session for tomorrow.

Councilman Jean S. Barnard said the package, which employees claim would represent a 9.3 per cent increase over wages and benefits this year, actually would be closer to 16 per cent.

Included in the six-point package, released yesterday by the city's negotiator, Industrial Employers and Distributors Association of San Francisco are:

1. A $70 per month across-the-board pay hike for all 39 striking employees.

2. Hospitalization insurance for dependents of employees, who currently are not covered.

3. A comprehensive dental insurance plan with no-deductible clause. No plan exists at present.

4. Time-and-a-half for all overtime worked for time-and-a-half compensatory time off, at the employee's option.

5. Severance pay equal to 30 days sick leave when an employee with more than seven years experience resigns.

6. Additional vacation time equal to one extra week through five years of service and two weeks thereafter.

Striking employees, members of the Mill Valley Employees Association, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, claim the package will cost the city an additional 9.3 per cent.

They said the city's negotiator has offered them $29,000 for wage and benefit increases, while they are asking for $40,000.

The employees said points four, five and six were included in the package because they will not cost the city anything.

Points four and six will not cost anything, they said, because employees who take compensatory time or a vacation are not replaced, the work load merely being taken up by other employees. The result is a decrease in the level of services provided by the city but not an increase in money paid out.

Employees said the severance pay will not add to the cost to the city because a person hired to replace an employee with seven years experience will start on a lower pay scale, and the difference in pay between the retiring employee and the new one would absorb the severance pay.

The city's position, according to Mrs. Barnard, is that those points will cost about 7 per cent, bringing the package to 16 per cent or 16 cents on the property tax rate.

Employees and the city's negotiator met Saturday and Sunday, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham. Another negotiating session is set for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The employees, excluding police and firemen, have been on strike since July 1.

Principal On Agenda In Fairfax

Fairfax School District board may decide on a new principal for Central School at its meeting at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at the district office at 58 Park Road.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond is expected to make a recommendation to trustees based upon the applications reviewed by an eight-member committee of parents and teachers.

Although a vacancy at Central School exists, the board has been looking for an applicant who would be eligible to serve as head of any of the district's four schools.

The top post at Central was vacated when principal James D. Franklin was transferred, at his request, to White Hill School. That principalship became available when Thomas J. Kelly was reassigned to a teaching post.

Also on the agenda will be approval of a publication budget of $1,119,119. Trustees have set a hearing on the budget for 7:45 p.m. Aug. 3 at the district office.

Apartment Plan Is Due Review

The Corte Madera Town Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall, will review a proposed 121-unit apartment development for the unannexed island of land on Tamal Vista Boulevard.

Proposed by Charles D. Parmelee, the development has been the center of controversy since the development was first proposed to the county.

Nearby residents have complained it will increase traffic and sewage and will not fit in with the surrounding neighborhood.

Salary Hikes To Be Studied

The Kentfield School District board, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School, is expected to consider salary hikes for its employees.

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said negotiations between the district and employee groups have concluded. The results will be presented to the board, meeting first in closed session.

Employees have asked for 9 per cent increases which would add about $100,000 to the district's budget for fiscal 1971-72.

$27,000 In Damages At House Fire

A pre-dawn explosion and fire at a Sleepy Hollow residence today did $27,000 damage to property and personal possessions, San Anselmo firemen reported.

The fire at the residence of John H. Ballard, of 9 Irving Drive, was reported at 1:59 a.m. The blaze completely destroyed the garage and a substantial section of Ballard's roof, firemen said.

Damage has been set at $20,000 to the house and garage and $7,000 to the contents. Ballard's automobile was in the garage at the time of the explosion, firemen reported.

None of the occupants was injured in the blaze, firemen said, but one of the firemen suffered a sprained ankle.

Body Of Belvedere Girl Found In Canyon

I-J Special Report

YOSEMITE — The body of 19-year-old Mary Hoefer of Belvedere has been found in Illiloquette Canyon where she apparently died from exposure after getting lost on a hiking trip.

Miss Hoefer, the daughter of advertising executive John H. Hoefer, had been missing since May 22.

Park Ranger Lew Albert said an autopsy indicated there was no foul play involved and the girl apparently died of exposure.

Her body was found last week at the foot of a cliff, southeast of the main park headquarters; but was not identified until Saturday, park officials said.

"There were no broken bones and we have just about ruled out that she fell," Albert said.

Miss Hoefer, a pretty sophomore at the University of California at Berkeley had been working as a desk clerk at Yosemite Lodge for the summer.

Her disappearance brought about a massive search of the park for more than a week without results.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hoefer, live at 32 Peninsula Road. He is board chairman of the San Francisco advertising firm of Hoefer, Dietrick and Brown Inc.

A private family memorial service will be held at the family home in Belvedere.

Livestock Prize Winners Announced

Youth Panel To Eye Rock Concert

A rock concert to raise funds for fighting drug addiction will be discussed by the Marin County Youth Commission tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 332 at the Civic Center.

The suggestion for the benefit rock concert came from Fred W. Mayer of the Marin Human Rights Commission and former member of the youth commission.

Youth commissioners will also interview any youth interested in an appointment to the commission. Vacancies exist in youth representation from District 4 (West Marin) and District 5 (North Marin).

The composition of the youth commission was changed last month to 10 youths and two adults, instead of seven youths and four adults.

Marin Education Panel To Review Career Program

The Marin County Board of Education, meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the county schools office in Corte Madera, will review its career education program.

The year-old program, created to give vocational training to the unemployable and students interested in learning a skill, has been termed a success by those involved.

It is made up of about eight two-year training programs in such fields as mechanics and business office skills.

Other items on the agenda include an inspection report on child care centers and changes in job descriptions for classified personnel.

Sausalito Liquor Store Burglarized; City Blamed

A Sausalito liquor store was burglarized last night by a thief who pried open a back door, but the real culprit, an owner of the store charged today, is the city administration.

William J. Thompson, who with his son Mark, owns the Charlie Noble Liquor and Tobacco Store at 707 Bridgeway, said he has been trying for more than a year to obtain permission from the city to put an iron gate between the building housing the store and the Excelsior Lane steps, but has been turned down by city officials.

"The Wells Fargo Bank has such a gate on the other side of the stairs," Thompson said, "but I was told by planning director H. Eric Borgwardt that I couldn't build one because the area beside my building was a public thoroughfare."

Thompson also criticized the city for failing to light the street lights on the stairs, saying he has been trying to have them lighted for a year. "I think lighting would act as a deterrent to this type of crime," he said.

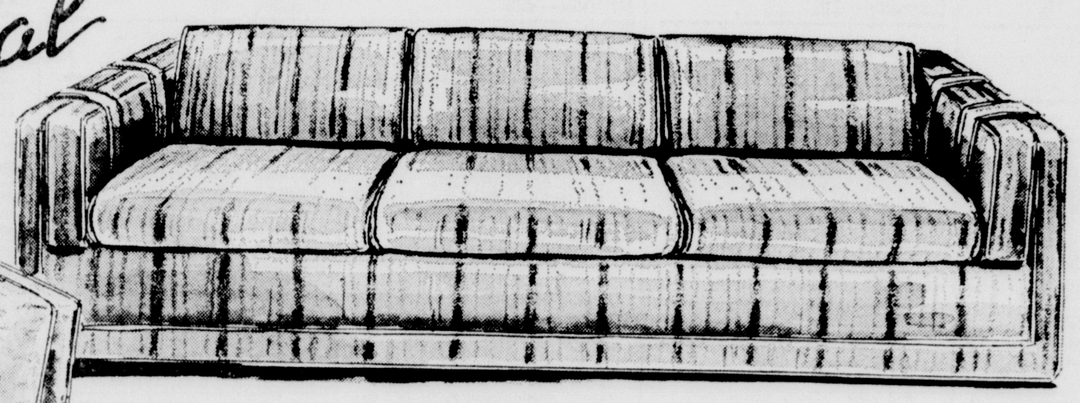

Thompson said about $500 was taken from a cash register sometime after the store closed at 11 p.m.

Borgwardt said today he had never told Thompson he could not build the gate in question, but had recommended the owner submit a proposal to the Sausalito Community Appearance Board which has jurisdiction in such matters. But a formal proposal was never submitted to the CAB.

SCM offers
Sales Career Opportunities
in Marin & San Francisco
Counties
The continued growth and acceptance of our office copying equipment makes SCM a leader in its field, with an excellent sales record. We must expand our sales staff in order to meet the current and anticipated demand. Therefore, the men we seek:
- are not looking for a job but for a future
- will be assigned a protected territory calling on established accounts on a professional basis.
- will go through our special sales training program designed to prepare them for early managerial assignments.
- will be given a liberal draw against commissions resulting in a five-figure income for reasonable performance.
- will have a stable, progressive background - not necessarily in sales - a need for higher income and great urge to get ahead in a growing industry.

Dramatic Estate

Through the rock pillar entry and up the private drive to the top of the knoll and the magnificent 1½ acre estate setting for this 10 room family home. The grounds are covered with mature specimen plantings from Avocado fruit trees to Bird-of-Paradise and Rhododendrons, designed and sprinklered for minimum maintenance. The home has been redecorated to reflect the charm and character of original construction with the convenience of a completely remodeled kitchen and 4 modern baths. The grandeur of the living room with its portly vistas, plush carpeting, the large formal dining room, the upstairs library, the delightful breakfast room and the oversized master suite are rivaled only by the setting. There are 3 additional bedrooms and a full basement for laundry, workshop and storage. For your outdoor living and entertaining, the park-like grounds surround a covered barbecue and outdoor dining area and, lest we forget, the 42 foot heated and filtered Paddock pool, secluded for that discreet midnight swim. If you wish your children to grow up in a home that exudes the warmth and charm of gracious living, then you must see this.

INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Sealed bids will be received at the office of Marin Municipal Water District, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California 94925, until 9:00 A.M., Tues., July 27, 1971, at which time they will be opened and read in the Board of Directors room by the Secretary or her designated representative for the furnishing and installation of approximately 1,500 lineal feet of 34", 24", 18" and 12" water pipe and appurtenances.

The general prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which work is to be performed has been ascertained by the District and published under the provisions of Section 1773 of the California Labor Code.

Copies of the prevailing wage rates are on file in the office of the Secretary of the District at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, and in the office of the Marin County Clerk, and are available upon request from the Secretary at the above address and also from the Marin County Department of Public Works, Civic Center, Room 304, San Rafael, California.

Sundays and holidays shall not be less than two (2) times the above rates. The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman employed on the project.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Proposals will be considered for the complete job only. The proposal must be submitted on the form provided and must be accompanied by a Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond as a guarantee that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bonds as required by these specifications. The Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond shall be not less than ten (10) percent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Proposals must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the attention of Mrs. Norma L. Smith, Secretary, with the words "Proposal for Ross Reservoir-Ross Line, Phase 2" clearly marked on the outside of the envelope.

Specifications may be obtained at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, the office of the District. The $25.00 deposit required for each set of specifications will be refunded when specifications are returned to the District. It is requested that those Contractors wishing a Water District representative to accompany them on their first visit to the site of the work, notify the District sufficiently in advance so that necessary arrangements may be made.

Progress payments will be made.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services for IMPROVEMENTS TO PARKING LOT #15 and the necessary appurtent work at the College of Marin, Marin County, Kentfield, California.

Each bid to be in accordance with the specifications and drawings now on file with the Office of Planning, College of Marin, Office Center Room 180, Kentfield, California 94904, where same may be examined and copies obtained at no cost.

Each bid shall be made on a form attached to said specifications, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten percent of the amount bid, made payable to the School District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 3rd day of August, 1971, at 2:00 PM and will be opened in public at or about 2:00 PM of that day in the Office of the Director of Planning, Office Center Room 180, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.

The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 100 percent of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100 percent of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California or local law thereto applicable, the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded to successful bidder to be as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 71-175
RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ORDERING A HEARING ON THE DESIGNATION OF A PORTION OF SIR FRANCIS DRAKE BOULEVARD AS AN UNDERGROUND UTILITY DISTRICT

BE IT RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors, pursuant to the provisions of Section 13.52.020 of the Marin County Code, hereby orders a hearing to ascertain whether the public necessity, health, safety and welfare require that the portion of said County road shown on Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof by reference, should be declared an Underground Utility District subject to the provisions of Chapter 13.52 of said Code. In order that all poles, overhead wires, appurtenances and structures on or adjacent to said road may be removed and placed underground;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors hereby orders a hearing to ascertain whether the existing Underground Utility District No. 2 established by Resolution No. 9742 approved on June 18, 1968 and shown on EXHIBIT "B" attached hereto and made a part hereof by reference should be dissolved and replaced by a portion of the proposed Underground Utility District shown on said EXHIBIT "A".

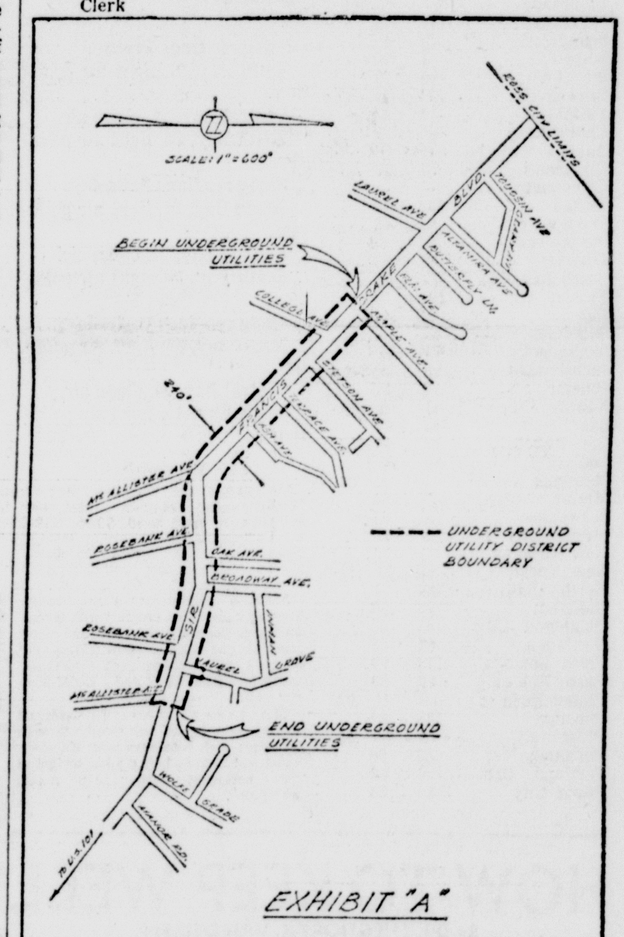

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Tuesday July 27, 1971, 1:45 P.M., at the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place for said hearings;

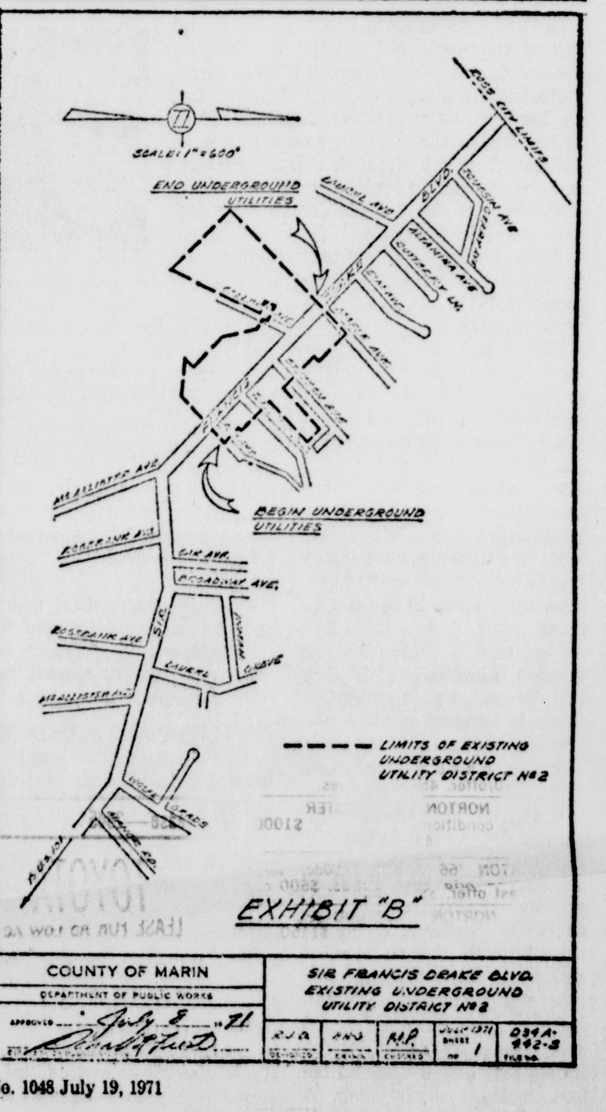

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Clerk of this Board be, and he is, hereby directed to give notice of said hearing by mailing a copy of said resolution to all affected property owners as shown on the last equalized assessment roll and utilities concerned, at least ten (10) days prior to the date of said hearing.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Clerk of this Board be, and he is, hereby directed to give notice to said hearing by publication of the within resolution once in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published within the County of Marin, at least seven (7) days prior to the date of said hearing.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, held on the 13th day of July 1971, by the following vote:

FORECAST: HOTTER THAN USUAL

The U.S. National Weather Service has forecast higher temperatures than normal for the 30-day period of mid-July to mid-August. The service, in its weather charts shown above, sees precipitation below normal for the period. That will be impossible in San Rafael's case, since last year at this time Marin was experiencing a months-long lack of precipitation that lasted from June through October. The forecast indicates temperatures throughout the West will be hotter than usual for mid-summer. Last year San Rafael weather observers noted lows of 53 and highs of 82 with an average of 67.8 in mid-July; lows of 51 and highs of 80 with an average of 65.9 degrees were recorded for the first half of August.

Travelers' Diarrhea Considered Illness Similar To Food Poisoning

TRAVELERS' diarrhea occurs in many part of the world but is most common in tropical climes and in remote places where hygiene and sanitation are poor. Anyone touring these areas should eat only peeled or cooked foods. Avoid local water unless it is boiled or chemically treated. This applies also to the water used in brushing teeth and in ice cubes. Beer is safe but soft drinks, including soda, may be contaminated. Doctors disagree as to the usefulness of antibacterial drugs to prevent the diarrhea. This is understandable because the cause is unknown.

FOR MANY YEARS, we have recommended a daily dose of sulfathalidine, a sulfa product that is poorly absorbed and remains in the intestine. To this regimen, we add an amebicide, such as Diodoquin or Entero-Vioform. Whether these prophlactics are effective is a moot question because many people not exposed to the infectious agents are likely to give them credit. And — those who do not take a preventive and develop diarrhea, wish they had. We do not push prophylaxis but if someone wants a preventive, moderately safe and effective products are available.

If diarrhea develops, paregoric and drugs, such as Lomotil, Kaomagma, or Polymagma are beneficial. When the condition persists, antibiotics may be necessary. Severe diarrhea (especially with the passage of blood) calls for a stool analysis.

Several years ago a woman traveling through Spain developed dysentery. She blamed turista and waited a month before seeing her physician. A thorough examination (including X-rays) revealed a cancer of the large intestine. It was a tragic coincidence.

Researchers have tried to pin down the cause of traveler's diarrhea. No specific microbe can be blamed and the causative agent probably varies from one locale to another. Turista should be regarded as a form of food poisoning which has many origins, even in hygienic communities.

THE LIVER AND JAUNDICE

R. P. writes: Is jaundice present in all forms of liver disease?

REPLY

No. Jaundice develops only when bile pigments accumulate in the blood and reach a level high enough to stain the tissues yellow, including the skin and whites of the eyes. This manifestation occurs rapidly in some forms of liver disease and slowly or not at all in other forms. It also develops in certain types of anemia due to blood destruction.

SECTION A
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Bid No. 329
(Advertisement)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the San Rafael School District of Marin County will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for the construction of a music building and Davidson Middle School.

Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with Richard C. Marshall, Chester Bowles, Jr., Architects, A.I.A., 1045 Sansome Street, San Francisco, California where the same may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars per set, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within five days after bids are opened.

Each bid shall be made on a form to be supplied by the Architect, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in the amount of 10% of the total contract price made payable to the order of the San Rafael Clerk of the Board whose address will be Third and E. Streets, San Rafael, California, prior to 4:00 P.M. July 26, 1971 at which time they will be publicly opened and declared.

The above mentioned check will be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be retained by the District as agreed and liquidated damages if the successful bidder fails or refuses to enter into said contract or to furnish the necessary bonds after being requested to do so by the Board of Education of the San Rafael School District.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price in accordance with the contract documents.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, the Board of Education of the San Rafael School District has ascertained the prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

Eight hours shall constitute a work day unless otherwise specified on the union scale. The hourly wage rate prescribed is the per diem rate divided by the aforementioned number of hours constituting a work day.

The wage scale referred to hereinabove is on file at the District office.

The Board of Education of the San Rafael School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids or any alternate or unit price and/or waive any informality or irregularity in any bid received.

There shall be no discrimination because of race, color, creed or political affiliation in the employment of persons for work under this contract.

WESTERN OPEN

Crampton Had The Feeling

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bruce Crampton "had the feeling all week"that it was his turn to win, so he was a relaxed victor in the $150,000 Western Open Sunday.

"Nobody wins," he said, "without some super super breaks, and when you start holing the long putts, chipping in from the fringe, and getting up and down out of the traps, you get the feeling it's your turn to win."

But with the breaks—and Crampton, scoring his first victory of the year, made his own at times—the 35-year-old Australian stood off the challenge of both Bobby Nichols and Dick Lotz to win the $30,000 top prize with a five under par 279.

He scored a par 71 on his last round and Nichols, who started the final round in a tie with him, slipped to a 73 for second money of $17,100 with a 281 total.

Jerry Heard and Tommy Aaron each had 282 to earn $8,850, and Lotz, though he was tied with both Nichols and Crampton for the lead with 17 holes to play, couldn't keep pace and bogeyed the final green to slip into fifth place at 283, earning $6,150.

Only these five players were able to better par of 284 for four rounds on the 6,749 yard Olympia Fields North course, which Carmpton declared was "of National Open caliber."

Crampton, who hit the fairway only once on the back nine, said that was further support of his theory that this was his week to win.

"I'm only lucky enough to win one tournament a year," he said, "so I take it when it comes. It was not the way I'd liked to have hit the ball. I didn't play too many holes out of the storybook."

But Crampton never was worse than five under par on the final round and he took only 31 putts. After seven holes, when he dropped a 5-foot birdie putt, he was six under par, after eight, with a 12 footer for a birdie, he was seven under, and when he hit his approach into a trap on the 9th hole to bogey, he still was six under and had a two shot lead on Lotz and four on Nichols.

From there on, they ran into trouble frequently while he posted only one bogey, whenhe hit into the woods on the 12th hole.

"I was very concerned," Crompton said. "I didn't relax until Nichols came up short on his second shot on the last hole."

Nicholas failure then gave Crampton the championship, which qualfied him for the fourth berth in the World Series of golf, with its $50,000 top prize, against U.S. Canadian and British Open champion Lee Trevino, PGA champion Jack Nicklaus, and Masters winner Charles Coody.

It was Crampton's first win in 13 tries at the Western Open, but the victory made him the third highest money winner from the tournament. His best previous finish was a tie for fifth in 1966.

The victory boosted Crampton's 1971 earnings to $85,106, moving him into the golf tour's top 10. Last year he finished third in earnings with more than $142,000.

DOBSON GOES TODAY

Slam Wipes Out Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Brooks Robinson would have been satisfied with a sacrifice fly but instead he hit a grand slam home run.

Robinson's smash off John Odom keyed a seven-run fifth inning Sunday that carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-3 win over the Oakland Athletics in a battle of the division leaders in the American League.

That left western division leader Oakland with a 4-3 edge in the series with the Orioles. But neither manager, Dick Williams of the A's or Earl Weaver of the Orioles, regard their games against each other as very important at this stage of the season.

"We haven't been able to use our entire starting lineup because of injuries," said Weaver, "so whatever victory we pick up is a bonus. However, Oakland is without Reggie Jackson so that may even things up."

Baltimore lost relief pitcher Ed Watt with a broken left hand and outfielder Frank Robinson with an injured left hip against the California Angels Saturday night. Righthander Orlando Pena was purchased from the Orioles farm at Rochester to replace Watt while Robinson, 36, missed Sunday's game but is expected back soon.

Williams said Jackson has been running off his charley horse and may return to action as early as this afternoon in the tinale of the two-game miniseries with the Orioles. Diego Segui (6-3) of Oakland goes against Pat Dobson (11-4) in the finale. Dobson has won eight in a row.

Noting that neither the Orioles or A's saved their top pitchers for the current series, Williams said thy were "just a couple of more games."

"It was a ballgame we tried to win," he said of Sunday's loss. "But it got out of hand in the fifth inning. I noticed Odom wasn't throwing as well in that inning as he did earlier but Robinson could have hit into a double play instead of hitting a homer."

Robinson, who got only a couple of hours of sleep Sunday morning because of a fever and nausea from something he ate, had tea and toast for breakfast and began feeling better. He told Weaver he'd give it a try.

Robinson came up in the fifth inning with the bases loaded and one out after Odom hit Marv Rettenmund to force in the tying run.

"I would have settled for a

Nicklaus' Mark Tied By Miller

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Allen Miller didn't think there was much chance to win his thrid straight Trans-Mississippi Golf Chamionship when he was four down with 12 holes left to play.

But the 22-year-old University of Georgia student struggled back Sunday to defeat Alan Tapie of Downey, Calif., 3 and 1 to become the first man since Jack Nicklaus to win more than two Trans-Miss titles in a row.

"This is like a dream come true —to win this tournament three years in a row," said Miller, of Pensacola, Fla., who plans to turn professional on his birthday Aug. 10.

Tapie, 22, co-captain of the University of Southern California golf team, had trouble with his tee shots on the rugged 6,795-yard par 72 Spyglass Hill course after building up a lead in the 36-hole finals match.

Will S.F. Lose The Warriors?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The question of whether the San Francisco Warriors will play half their home National Basketball Association games in San Diego can only be answered by Warriors owner Franklin Mieuli—and he isn't talking.

But Warriors general manager Bob Feerick Sunday dismissed a report by the San Diego Evening Tribune that the Warriors would split their home games between San Diego and Oakland as "speculation."

"I don't know, and if I did, I couldn't tell you," Feerick said.

According to a copyrighted story Saturday by Phil Norman, the Warriors have agreed to play 20 games in the San Diego International Sports Arena and the other home games in what was described as Oakland Pacific Auditorium.

Giants Win, Lose And Gain A Game

L.A. Drops Twin Bill To Pirates

ATLANTA (UPI) —The San Francisco Giants would have liked to have won both games of Sunday's doubleheader, but they're not complaining too loudly.

While the Giants lost the second game of a twinbill against Atlanta, 4-2, after taking the opener, 5-4, their closest competitor in the National League West — the Los Angeles Dodgers — dropped both ends of a two-game set with Pittsburgh.

The Dodger losses helped the Giants extend their NL West lead to seven games.

Riding on that comfortable margin, San Francisco ends a three- game series tonight against the Braves before continuing the road tour with three contests against the Pirates.

The Giants struggled to the first game win Sunday with Dick Dietz' 12th homer of the season with two outs in the 12th inning. Four Giant relievers—Rich Robertson, Steve Hamilton. Don McMahon and Jerry Johnson — retired the last 19 Braves in order. Johnson, now 9-4, got the win.

The Giants' only runs in the second game came in the sixth on a two-run homer by Willie Mays, his 15th of the season and 643rd of his career.

Donohue Is Out To Unseat Unser

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (UPI)—Mark Donohue, a relatively inactive driver on the U. S. Auto Club circuit thus far, says he's out to unseat defending USAC champ Al Unser, who is currently leading the pack.

The 34-year-old Media, Pa., driver issued the challenge Sunday following his second championship win in two weeks —an easy victory in the first half of a "doubleheader" at the Michigan International Speedway.

Honors in the second event of the Michigan Twin 200 —the stock car competition —went to Roger McCluskey, who also finished third in the championship round, and in so doing won almost as much money as Donohue.

Donohue easily outran his 26 challengers in his Sunoco-McLaren Special at an average speed of 144.898 miles per hour in a race slowed by mechanical failtures and minor accident.

Only 10 cars finished the 200-mile race, and of that number, only two — runnersup Billy Vuvovich and McCluskey — finished in the same lap as Donohue.

Pole position starter Bobby Unser was one of the first to drop out when his engine failed as he was running a tight second on the 36th lap. Al Unser, the No. 4 starter, left the field earlier with a broken turbocharger and No. 3 starter Mario Andretti lost five laps a short while later when he spun out of control in an oil slick created by one of the race's three minor accidents.

For Donohue, who has now won the last five races he has entered —three of them Trans-Americans—it was just a matter of keeping his car in running order. With only 10 miles to go he held a one-mile lead but "it kept going through my mind that something just had to go wrong and take the race away from me," he told newsmen afterwards.

Donohue has only entered three of the eight USAC races so far but won two of them to gain a No. 4 ranking in the pack with 1,520 points. He trails Vukovich, who has 1,530 points, Joe Leonard, who has 1,550 points, and Al Unser, who has 2,200.

Donohue earned $14,950 for his day's work Sunday, compared with McCluskey's total take of $11,200.

McCluskey, fastest qualifier for the stock car event with a speed of 160.178 miles per hour, grabbed the lead in his Plymouth Superbird on the first lap and thereafter lost it only on the two occasions he made pit stops for fuel.

Rosewall Victor In Star Net

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Veteran Ken Rosewall, who had complained it was hard to play a controlled game on the clay court here, mustered enough control to win the $50,000 Washington Star International tennis tournament Sunday.

The 36-year-old Aussie won three straight sets against Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-2, 7-5, 6-1, serving four aces in the third set.

The 5-foot-7-inch Rosewall advanced to the finals after upsetting No. 2 seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., on Saturday.

Following the match against Rosewall, Smith said, "He (Rosewall) makes a person work so hard that every time I hold my serve I feel like I've won the match."

Riessen had scored an upset himself Saturday when he defeated No. 1 seeded John Newcombe of Australia.

Before the final match, Riessen said, "I would rather play Smith. Rosewall's a clay court genius. He's hard to attack and he lobs very well."

Riessen added that he had two victories over Rosewall "in about eight or 10 career matches," but said Rosewall had never beaten him in a final.

That distinction came to an end Sunday when Rosewall kept Riessen on the run throughout the match and lived up to Riessen's expectations by always being where Riessen hit the ball.

SUNSHINE FOR EWBANK

Namath Reports On Time

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

A little bit of sunshine finally has burst into Weeb Ewbank's life.

Ewbank, the general manager and coach of the New York Jets, has had his problems this past winter with wide receiver George Sauer retiring prematurely at age 27 and defensive end Verlon Biggs playing out his option and signing with Washington.

But Ewbank had something to smile about Sunday when quarterback Joe Namath reported to camp on schedule for the first time in three years. Namath, out for the last 10 games of the 1970 season with a broken bone in his wrist, was late before the 1969 season because of a controversy surrounding his restaurant and came in late before last season after contemplating retiring for a movie career.

But he seemed anxious to go Sunday and even participated in a light 20-minute drill and pronounced his hand fit for duty. "It hurts at times, but I don't expect it to affect my throwing," said Namath. "The idea is to shut the pain out of my mind. When you're out there throwing in a game, there are so many things on your mind, you don't think of the pain. If it weren't so, I'd be thinking of my knees for the last six years."

Namath says his attitude is changed from last year's training camp. "Last year I didn't want to play and this year I do," he said. "I was away from a game I didn't want to be away from. When you dedicate yourself to a goal and it's taken away from you, you're going to miss it."

Namath said he doubted that Sauer, one of the league's top receivers would change his attitude about retiring but added that Richard Caster, a second-year man from Jackson State, might learn to be an adequate replacement with experience.

The Jets also announced the signing of two free agents, defensive lineman Doug Chatman of Jackson State and wide receiver Herman Carter of Eastern Kentucky.

Elsewhere in the training camps, Greg Jones rejoined the Buffalo Bills' camp after being hospialized for a day for observation of a head injury. The Bills dropped four players — Mike Bennett of Missouri, Terris Harris of Arkansas AM&N, Joe Whalen of St. Joseph's (Ind.) and Ralph Sontag of Maryland.

Paul Brown ran his Cincinnati Bengals through a rare Sunday double workout as the club's 44 veterans joined 16 rookies in camp. Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich ran his club through a mile run Sunday and Houston sent running back Roy Hopkins o Houston for a check-up on a knee injury that may require surgery.

The Pittsburgh Steelers dropped three players to reduce their roster to 57. Cut from the squad were Joe Spagnola, a quarterback who led Arizona State to an 11-0 season last year, Bill Glass of Memphis State and Ira Glass of Louisville.

RECEIVING A PASS? — New York Jet quarterback Joe Namath, instead of throwing (or making) this pass, is on the receiving end as he reaches to snare this toss during a workout session at Hofstra College in New York. Namath was forced to sit out a big part of last season with a fractured wrist. (UPI Telephoto)

Lightly Used Starter Pitches A One-Hitter

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mike Kekich calls his job the toughest on the team but he made it seem easy Sunday.

Kekich, a lightly-used starter, gave up one hit —a home run to Mike Andrews in the fifth inning —as the New York Yankees beat the Chicago White Sox 6-1 to complete a doubleheader sweep. The Yankees won the opener 3-2 on Ron Swoboda's two-out, run scoring single in the ninth.

"Being a fifth starter on a club is the toughest job on the team except maybe for the guy who pinch-hits," said Kekich, who failed to complete any of his 10 previous starts this season. "If you have a couple of rainouts, you miss your turn. I figure if I pitched regularly I might be like this all the time."

It was the second career one-hitter for Kekich, who had one with Los Angeles against the New York Mets in 1968. Oddly, Swoboda, who won the first game for the Yankees, ruined Kekich's no-hit bid that day.

Roy White had a two-run homer and a double to spark the Yankees in the second game.

Swoboda's hit in the first game capped a three-run rally. The White Sox led 2-0 entering the ninth when Horace Clarke and Felipe Alou singled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Bobby Murcer's single. Murcer stole second and scored the winning run on Swoboda's hit.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore beat Oakland 7-3, Milwaukee edged Boston 5-4, Kansas City swept Detroit 8-2 and 4-3, California downed Cleveland 3-1 and Washington shaded Minnesota 3-2.

Andy Kosco knocked in two runs with a sixth-inning homer and a ninth-inning single to lead Milwaukee over Boston and snap the Red Sox' four-game winning streak. Rico Petrocelli and George Scott had homers for the Red Sox.

Lou Piniella smashed a three-run homer and Fred Patek chipped in with an inside-the-park blast to spark Kansas City's first game victory and Gail Hopkins' 10th inning single gave the Royals a triumph in the second game.

Piniella's homer, his first of the season, capped a four-run first inning in the opener, which was protested by both managers. Detroit's Billy Martin said his pitcher wasn't given ample time to warm up after a long rain delay and the Royals' Bob Lemon accused Martin of stalling tactics.

Sohner Captures Tourney

A red-hot Sohner Tree Service softball team ran its winning streak to 15 yesterday, as the San Anselmo club captured the Petaluma Invitational Tournament with a perfect 4-0 record.

The Sohner team relied heavily on first inning rallies in all three of its weekend victories, especially in the championship game, where Sohner scored twice in the first frame on the way to a 3-2 win.

Suburban Auto pitcher Ron McChesney gave up only two hits, but one of them was a first-inning, game-winning home run which dealt Suburban a 1-0 loss and eliminated the local team.

Not Even A One-Hitter Can Convince Murtaugh

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Pittsburgh Pirates are going so well that even a one-hitter can't get Luke Walker back into their starting rotation.

Walker, who hadn't pitched since June 29th when he was shunted off to the bullpen and seemingly got lost, was given a chance to start Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader only because the Pirates are in a tough stretch of 13 games in 11 days.

Walker pitched a one-hitter to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-1, and complete a doubleheader sweep — that stretched the Pirates' winning streak to 11 games and their National League East margin to 11 1-2 games.

But don't think that one-hitter is going to get Walker back into the rotation. When your team is that far ahead, you can afford to be selective and Manager Danny Murtaugh isn't convinced Walker is sound. Maybe a no-hitter would have convinced him.

Murtaugh said, "Walker pitched a good game but he's still in limbo as far as I'm concerned. He was taken out of the rotation because I thought he had a sore arm. He denied it but I don't think he was telling the truth. Today he showed signs of throwing like he can but I'm still not completely convinced."

Regardless of whether or not he had a sore arm, Walker had a 3-7 mark when he was taken out of the rotation and no major league pitcher should have that kind of record with the Pirates hitting behind him. But Walker didn't need the hitting support Sunday because he didn't allow a hit until catcher Joe Ferguson led off the ninth with his first major league homer.

Walker, who admitted his arm "tightened up" in the last three innings, said, "I'd rather lose a no-hitter on a solid shot than on a fluke single someplace." Ferguson, who wears No. 13, said his number is "unlucky for the pitchers" and it proved unlucky for Walker.

The doubleheader attracted 48,230 fans, the largest crowd yet in the new Pittsburgh park, and it was encouraging for the Pirates since they haven't been drawing well despite their success. The fans would have seen the first no-hitter ever in Pittsburgh if Walker had done it.

In other games, San Francisco beat Atlanta, 5-4, in 12 innings but lost the second game, 4-2, St. Louis downed New York, 8-5, Cincinnati beat San Diego, 3-0, in the first game of a double-header that was rained out in the last of the sixth, Chicago topped Montreal, 8-4, and Philadelphia blanked Houston, 1-0, in the first game but lost the second game, 10-7.

Ross Grimsley pitched three-hit ball for six innings to give Cincinnati the victory over San Diego before the contest was curtailed by rain.

Joe Torre's three-run double climaxed a six-run seventh inning that carried the Cardinals past the slumping Mets. New York has now lost 14 of its last 16 games.

Rookie Ray Newman hurled five perfect innings of relief to gain his first major league triumph as Chicago downed Montreal. The Cubs had a 17-hit attack with Billy Williams, Jim Hickman and Brock Davis collecting three each.

Rookie Ken Reynolds pitched a three-hitter to hand Philadelphia the victory over Houston in the first game. But Doug Rader paced Houston to the second game victory as he started a four-run rally with a single in the second and capped a three-run spree with a two-run triple in the fourth.

On Base Any Way

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Pitcher Chris Short of the Phillies led the National League in an odd category in 1970. Short was awarded first base three different occasions during the season because of catcher interference. Tommy Helms and Pete Rose of the Reds got first base twice in the same way.

sacrifice fly," said the All Star third baseman and 1970 World Series hero. "But Odom's first pitch was a fastball right over the plate and I couldn't pass it up."

He drilled the ball some 425 yards into the leftfield seats for his first grand slam of the season and fifth of his career.

Eleven Orioles batted in the inning. Clay Dalrymple walked to start things and then pitcher Grant Jackson was safe on an error by first baseman Mike Epstein. That play opened the flood gates.

"The ball hit me in the ankle as I was trying to call off Odom," said Epstein.

THE END OF AN ERA

Pele, the world's greatest soccer player, held aloft his No. 10 jersey yesterday, and broke into the "Olympic Run" around the Stadium in Rio de Janeiro, after leaving the game between the Brazilian National team and the Yugoslav Nationals. The game ended in a 2-2 tie; more important, this was Pele's last appearance with the all-star team. At age 30, Pele is retiring from international competition.

Ali Goes Down; Was He Kidding?

HOUSTON (UPI) —Muhammad Ali went down three times in his final two rounds of sparring Sunday, but the question today was whether he was knocked down or was faking.

Angelo Dundee, who has trained Ali until he began preparing for this fight, said Ali was on the canvas 28 times during his training career, but only four were legitimate knockdowns. Two of the four were by Jimmy Ellis, whom he fights in a 12-rounder in the Astrodome next Monday night, and the other two were by Chip Johnson and Blue Lewis.

"When he was going to go down, he would switch from the Ali Shuffle to the Ali Swivel," Dundee said, putting one foot out to feel around the canvas and turning in a swivel motion. He was looking for a soft spot to fall."

Ali, who opened Sunday with eight rounds on the heavy and speed bags and sparred two rounds with Alonso Johnson, went down the first time this workout when Eddie Brooks hit him with an overhand right near the end of their first round.

Then, he went down again after Brooks hit him with a short right early in the second round. He was knocked down the third time by a solid left hook to the chin Midway through the second round.

Trainer Harry Wiley stopped the workout and the groggy Ali complained of a headache. Dundee said it was the first time Ali had ever ended a workout early.

"Brooks told me he hit him with a good right," Dundee said. "I don't know, I didn't see the workout. I don't feel I should watch him now that I am on the other side."

While Ali was waiting for aspirin for his headache, a young man selling pictures of Ali to the crowd of 977 at the workout, ran into the dressing room and said excitedly:

"They sure fell for it."

He didn't see the reporter in the room, and Ali's handlers hustled the young man out and talked to him before the reporter could question him.

'Magic' Sweeps In Twin Bill

Gary Nelson collected six hits and Mike Spezzi got four yesterday, as Holiday Magic of San Rafael swept a doubleheader from San Marin by 7-4 and 14-3 scores, highlighting Joe DiMaggio Baseball League action over the weekend.

In other games, Toby's Truckers pounded the Italian Club 8-1, and Drake rolled over Healdsburg 12-6.

Toby's Truckers got solid help at the plate from Kevin Keating, who got four hits, Tom Olson, who had two including a first inning triple, and Vince Bormolini, who collected a double and a single.

Olson went all the way on the mound for the Truckers, and only allowed three hits, while striking out 14.

John Loane blasted two home runs and Ken Zapponi added another as Drake blasted Healdsburg. Al Curtiss added a double and a single to add to Pirate scoring.

Ethiopian Distance Star In Courageous Comeback

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI)— Mius Ifter, a small Ethiopian soldier, is probably the only person to establish himself as a track star by losing an event.

But Ifter, a relative newcomer to international competition, proved Saturday that he could also win. And though the 34,000 spectators at the Pan Africa-United States International track meet here cheered Ifter Friday when he lost the 5,000 meter race because of a judgment error, they gave him a far more resounding ovation when he won the 10,000 meter race Saturday.

The young palace guard's couragous comeback by far overshadowed the fact that the American competitors won the meet in point standings and the U. S. women's mile relay team set a new world record with a 3:38.7, a tenth of a second faster than the previous mark, and made Ifter the unquestioned hero of the meet.

The story began Friday when Ifter had finished almost 11 laps of the 12 lap 5,000 meter race. Ifter, who speaks only Amharic, mistook the gun fired to signal the final lap as the signal for the end of the race, and passed American record holder Steve Prefontaine in a final burst of speed that took him over the finish line and off the field.

By the time he realized that he had miscounted the number of laps, Prefontaine had won the race.

Petty First At Trenton

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)— Richard Petty is $6,600 closer to becoming stock car racing's first million dollar driver.

The 34-year-old driver from Randleman, S.C., took the $6,600 first prize Sunday and boosted his career earnings to $994,558 by winning the Trenton 300.

Petty's 21-second victory over teammate Buddy Baker gave him a sweep of NASCAR's three-race Northern series. At the end, Petty and Baker, who drove a borrowed Dodge instead of a car for the Petty team, were the only drivers on the same lap.

Petty, who covered the 200 laps in two hours, 29 minutes, four seconds for an average speed of 123.47 m.p.h., has earned $164,250 and 13 races in his quest to become NASCAR's first million dollar winner.

SPORTS SHORTS

Stewart Nearer To World Championship

SILVERSTONE, England (UPI) — Scotsman Jackie Stewart, driving an eight-cylinder blue Tyrrell Ford, easily won the British Grand Prix Saturday to move closer to his second world drivers' championship.

The victory was worth nine points to the 32-year-old Stewart, giving him a total of 42, and one more success in the six remaining grand prix races can virtually wrap up the title.

Golf

BIARRITZ, France (UPI)— Formosan Lu Liang Huan, who receive international attention when he finished second to Lee Trevino in the British Open last week, shot a three-under-par 66 on the final round Sunday to win the French International Open golf tournament.

Vicente Fernandez and Roberto de Vicenzo, both of Argentina, shot 62 and 64 respectively over the final 18 holes to wind up in a second-place tie at 264, two strokes behind Huan.

Football

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy is improving, but still in serious condition following major abdominal surgery last week.

Leahy, 62, had been in critical condition Thursday after surgery.

Baseball

OAKLAND (UPI)—Veteran righthander Orlando Pena was scheduled to join the Baltimore Orioles today in time for an afternoon game against Oakland after being bought from Rochester of the International League.

Tennis

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico needed a victory in one of today's final two singles matches today to turn back Brazil in their American Zone Davis Cup final.

The Mexicans took a 2-1 lead as Joaquin Loyo Mayo and Vicente Zarazua beat Tomaz Koch and Edson Mandarino, 86, 7-5, 6-2, in the doubles Sunday. Today's singles paired Mandarino against Marcelo Lara and Loyo Mayo against Koch.

Haney Wins Publinks By Five

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)— Fred Haney hasn't been paid yet for his past year's work.

But the lankey young Oregonian took a long step toward his first paycheck when he won the 46th United States Golf Association National Public Links Championship Saturday.

Haney, 22, whose only job has been "working on his golf game" almost daily since graduating from the University of Oregon in 1970, toured the 6,956-yard Papago Golf Course in two-under par 70 in the final round and finished at two-over 290 for the amateur tourney, five strokes ahead of his nearest challenger.

Air pollution is a big problem. In fact it may seem to be too big a problem for the man on the street. But it's not. There are a lot of things all of us can do to clean up the air we breathe.

We can reduce automobile exhaust by maintaining our car's anti-pollution devices. Or by buying a car with just enough horse power to meet our driving needs. Or by having its engine tuned every 10,000 miles or every year.

We can keep gasoline-powered tools in top operating condition; we can support local, state, and national clean-air programs; and as employers we can initiate anti-pollution measures. There are a lot of things we can do. Let's.

People start pollution. People can stop it.

Dairy Firm Adjusts Plans For Plant

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Knudsen Corp. announced Friday reorganization plans for its dairy products processing facilities which are preliminary to establishing a new modern facility for Northern California.

The action will require closing of the company's plant at Potrero Street near Army Street in San Francisco and the reopening of facilities in Burlingame and San Leandro. The reorganization will be accomplished in stages beginning immediately.

"We will recognize our present personnel to the fullest capabilities of the individual and will try to relocate them in a way which will best serve their interests as well as the best interests of the company," said Jay Smith, assistant to the president, who is in charge of the reorganization.

"The Potrero Street plant was built in 1927 and obviously is inefficient under today's standards," Smith pointed out. "The land lends itself to a better use and will be developed as such in the near future," Smith added.

Filling and packaging equipment now in the San Francisco plant will be installed temporarily in Gustine, where the company presently processes cottage cheese and other dairy products.

Other Northern California properties will also be affected. Distribution in the Bay Area will be from the Burlingame and San Leandro properties.

The Marin County area will be served from the company's Santa Rosa branch.

Smith said the company plans to retain Stanford Research Institute to make a recommendation for the best site of the future plant. He pointed out that Borden Inc. purchased the San Leandro property in 1958 with the intention of relocating its main Bay Area plant there in future years, but the rapid growth of the surrounding area and the population shifts during the past 13 years required a re-study of the East Bay location.

Copper Firm Says Chile Should Pay

NEW YORK (BW) — The Chilean government has "an obligation under generally accepted principles of international law to make prompt and just compensation for expropriated property," Frank R. Milliken, president of Kennecott Copper Corp., said last week.

The Chilean constitutional reform bill expropriating large copper companies, including the Sociedad Minera El Teniente S.A., in which Kennecott holds a 49 per cent interest, became law Friday.

Under the terms of the bill, Kennecott would receive no compensation for its interest in mineral resources, and the amount of compensation for "related facilities" would be determined by the Chilean government. The value of Kennecott's interest in those facilities has been estimated at more than $150 million.

Kennecott also holds $92.9 million in El Teniente Notes, of which $80 million are the subject of a guaranty against expropriation by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, an agency of the U.S. government.

Kennecott officially notified Overseas Private Investment Corp. Friday that it will require full compensation from Overseas Private Investment Corp. for any expropriation loss sustained in respect of this guaranteed debt.

El Teniente has been a productive mine for more than 60 years. An expansion program, begun in 1967 and scheduled for completion this year, will increase its productive capacity from 180,000 tons to 280,000 tons of copper per year.

In 1967, under enabling legislation adopted by the Chilean Congress, a 51 per cent ownership interest in the El Teniente mine, then 100 per cent owned by Kennecott, was sold to the Chilean government, with 49 per cent retained by Kennecott.

In addition, Kennecott loaned $80 million to the new company.

The agreement also provided for "full stability" of tax rates and equitable financial treatment for 20 years. At that time, Milliken said, "The creation of the Sociedad Minera El Teniente was designed to meet the aspirations of the Chilean people to participate directly in developing their country's most important natural resource, copper."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What are the prospects for Cooper-Jarrett? I hold 100 shares bought several years ago at 13 ⅝. —J.S.

A. A good recovery in earnings is looked for this year. In the first quarter net moved from an 11 cents per share deficit to a 22 cents profit. In 1970 this trucker was plagued by the Teamsters strike, poor business climate and the General Motors strike. As a result revenue fell 14 per cent and earnings dipped sharply into the red. This was reflected in the directors' decision to omit the dividend. By year end retained earnings were $250,000 shy of the amount necessary for dividend resumption.

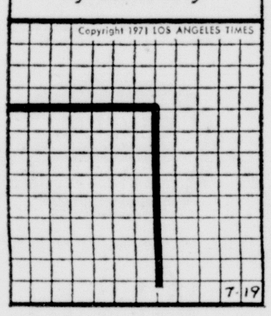

The outlook this year has been improved not only by the absence of strikes but by several operational changes instituted by management last year. A $2 million maintenance and break-bulk facility located on the new toll-free Interstate 80 in Pennsylvania was completed late in the year. This plant provides daily inspection of all tractors, a feat made possible by the new driver relay system. Some 40 local and satellite terminals are now part of the company's Line Haul Relay System. In addition to improving driver morale, the relay system will eliminate about $250,000 in motel and living expenses. A $4.9 million tractor replacement program was also inaugurated last year. Long-term potential for the shares appears to be above average.

Q. Should we sell St. Joe Minerals purchased in April 1970? If so what should we buy? —W.M.

A. I would sell, since the overall outlook for the company is not encouraging. The possible elimination of lead additives in gasoline could be a serious problem; the petroleum industry now absorbs 20 per cent of total lead output. As a replacement I like City Investing trading in about the same price range on the NYSE. Since 1966, earnings have moved up annually, and for the year ended April 30, 1971 operating earnings of $1.50 a share fully diluted appear probable. City Investing has interests in insurance, real estate development and heating and air conditioning.

Bank's Student Loan Default Rate Not High

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Wells Fargo Bank said Friday that its delinquency rate on student loans is not exorbitantly high and varies little from the default rate on regular customer personal loans.

"Although there reports that some institutions have a delinquency rate as high as 10 per cent, ours at present is running between 2 and 3 per cent," a bank spokesman said.

Wells Fargo is one of the largest lenders to students in California and presently has $29.7 million loaned to more than 30,000 students.

Prices Ease In Moderate Turnover

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were lower on moderate turnover after almost two hours of trading today.

Prices also eased in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were Canadian Homestead Oils fractionally higher on 55,000 shares, Heitman Mortgage down slightly on 37,000 shares, and Loews warrants also slightly lower on a volume of around 30,000.

On the Big Board, Bausch & Lomb was off 3 3-4 and Natomas 3 1-4. Down 2 or more were Burroughs, Walt Disney and Xerox.

Stocks off a point or so included Wrigley, Eastern Air Lines, General Electric, and IBM. Motors, chemicals, rails and aircrafts were fractionally irregular.

Among the most active issues were Rio Grande Industries preferred down 1-8, Plessy up 18, and Southern Co. 1-8 lower.
